NEW DEAL DRIVE WILL CONTINUE, SAYS PRESIDENT

Defends Policies in Carolina Speech.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard President Special En Route to Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—In his first formal address since the New Deal defeat in the November election President Roosevelt today voiced a militant defense of his administrations and his social reform objectives.

He spoke before the political union of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N. C., after he was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree. He paused in the college town on his way back to the White House after a two week vacation at Warm Springs, Ga.

"It is only the unthinking liberals in this world who see nothing but tragedy in the slowing up or temporary stopping of liberal progress," he asserted. "It is only the unthinking conservatives who rejoice when a social or economic reform fails to be 100 per cent successful."

Raps "Headline" Mentality.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that it is only the "headline" mentality which would exaggerate or distort his true objectives by which he is seeking to "guide change into the right channels to the greater glory of God and the greater good of mankind."

In his address the President barely mentioned the international situation which occupied much of his attention in his stay at Warm Springs. He said nothing of dictators or persecuted minorities but merely reasserted his declaration that the external policies of this country are exerted on the side of peace.

Mr. Roosevelt denied that he is the ogre his political enemies portray. He asserted that he is actually a mild mannered person—"a practitioner of peace, both domestic and foreign; a believer in the capitalistic system, and for my breakfast a devotee of scrambled eggs."

Refers to Election Defeat.

Referring specifically to November's defeat, the President declared that it was being said that liberal forces were on their way to the cemetery as a result of the election. He said that liberal forces have often been killed and buried, but inevitably come to life.

The degree awarding exercises were held in the university gymnasium. Plans had been made to hold them on the football field, but a dreary raw rain forced a change in plans.

The President was given his cap and gown as he stepped into the gymnasium and made his way to the speaking platform to the strains of "Hail to the Chief." Ten thousand persons sang the school hymn.

The President's citation for the degree was read by Frank P. Graham, president of the university. Mr. Roosevelt was hailed as "the leader of the people of America boldly groping for a way out of economic depressions."

Breakfasts with Johnston.

Mr. Roosevelt breakfasted at Columbia, S. C., with Gov. Olin D. Johnston on his way to Chapel Hill. He sat at a table in the state's executive mansion with the governor, six former governors, and Governor Elect Burnet Maybank.

After breakfast he spoke extemporaneously in a cold rain from his car in front of the steps of the state capitol.

In his remarks he bound himself to the state by reminding the crowd that he had a family tie in South Carolina—his great-great-grandfather, James Murray, who was royal lieutenant governor in the colonial days. He said that Murray was the only one of his ancestors to remain loyal to the crown and fled to Canada, where he is buried.

Cotton Ed Smith Absent.

Last summer in dedicating an international bridge at Kingston, Ont., Mr. Roosevelt employed great-great-grandfather Murray to claim Canadian kinship.

The breakfast was snubbed by the state's senior senator, Ellison D. [Cotton Ed] Smith, who had been marked for purging because of his opposition to the court packing bill. Mr. Roosevelt supported Johnston's unsuccessful candidacy for the senate. Smith insisted he had not been invited. However, Gov. Johnston in

PROBE RELIEF SPENDING SPREE, TOWNSEND TOLD

Fear Bankruptcy in Lake County, Ind.

BY WILL O'NEILL.

Two and one-half million dollars is the relief burden of Lake county, Ind., for the last year.

One Hammond doctor was paid $71,000 for relief calls in two years.

In two and a half years one coal company got $162,000 for relief coal.

These statements came out last night as members of the Lake county council demanded an investigation by Gov. Townsend's commission on unemployment relief. The "callous spending of relief funds" was publicly attacked.

The county council is an elected body. It passes on township and county tax rates, with the exception of those for relief. The majority of its members are Democratic, as are two of the heaviest spending overseers of the poor.

Fear Bankruptcy in Year.

Frank L. Hoess, president, summarized the council's reasons for demanding an investigation as follows:

1. The present rate of relief expenditure will bankrupt Lake county and use up its borrowing power within a year.
2. Township trustees, who are also relief administrators, spend relief money as they see fit without control by county or state officials.
3. Competition for relief business is not allowed by the trustees, who do all their buying with certain favored vendors.

"Lake county has just voted a bond issue of $1,400,000 to pay relief debts incurred this year," Hoess said. "That, with a bond issue for a million dollars which was sold last summer, puts the county within two and one-half million dollars of its bonding limit.

"If this reckless relief spending keeps up we'll be bankrupt in a year. The county can't run another $2,400,000 in the hole again next year."

Find Big Payments to Doctor.

Hoess announced that he and an accountant have examined part of the record of relief spending in the county auditor's office at Crown Point. The county auditor approves relief expenditures, but has no power to limit them.

"We found that Dr. Jacob Schlesinger of Hammond was paid $71,000 in relief fees from May, 1935, to March, 1937," Hoess said. "At that rate of pay, he would have to treat a patient every three minutes and work twelve hours a day."

Dr. Schlesinger last night said that he received $1 a visit for most relief cases. He said he thought Hoess' figure was "a little high," but that he wasn't sure. John Meehan, trustee of North township, selected and pays Dr. Schlesinger. The township includes Hammond, East Chicago, and Whiting.

"The Evans Fuel and Supply company of Gary received $162,000 in relief money in the two and one-half years ending last March," Hoess said.

Manager's Wife Is Trustee.

Mrs. Edward W. Schaaf, known politically as Mary Grace Wells, is the township trustee and overseer of the poor in Calumet township, which includes Gary. Mrs. Schaaf has complete control in spending the township relief funds. Her husband is the manager of the Evans company.

N. Y. Justice's Wife Indicted for Smuggling

New York, Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Elma Lauer, wife of Supreme Court Justice Edgar L. Lauer, was indicted today by the federal grand jury on charges of smuggling and a bench warrant was issued for her arrest.

Mrs. Elma Lauer.

The indictment contained three counts charging smuggling and one charging conspiracy to smuggle. The maximum penalty on each of the smuggling counts in the event of conviction is two years in prison and a $5,000 fine and on the conspiracy count two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Alien Also Indicted.

With Mrs. Lauer the grand jurors indicted Albert N. Chaperau. He was named in all the counts of the indictment against Mrs. Lauer and in two other indictments.

In one of these he was charged with smuggling, on three counts, and in the other with using a passport fraudulently and with declaring himself to be an American citizen when he was an alien.

The jury was continued for another month to investigate Chaperau further. Among witnesses who have been heard are George Burns and Jack Pearl, stage and radio comedians, and Wallace Ford, the actor.

There was no charge made against Justice Lauer in any of the indictments.

The action of the grand jury was a result of a raid by customs agents on the Lauer Park avenue apartment Oct. 27.

Smuggled from Paris.

During the raid the agents seized gowns, hats, jeweled slippers, birds of paradise, and other wearing apparel which they said had been smuggled in from Paris.

While the raid was in progress the agents arrested Chaperau. They said that he had brought the smuggled goods into the country for Mrs. Lauer by posing as a member of the staf of the Nicaraguan consul and having his baggage passed without examination.

One of the affidavits on which the agents secured the warant on the Lauer apartment was made by Rosa Weber, who had been employed as a maid by the Lauers.

A year before the raid Justice Lauer had paid customs authorities $10,400 in settlement of claims against him and his wife for failure to declare articles brought into the country.

DR. UREY, NOBEL WINNER, FINDS 'HEAVY' CARBON

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Harold C. Urey, 1934 winner of the Nobel prize in chemistry, announced here tonight he had perfected a process for isolating and producing "heavy" atoms of carbon.

In a lecture at the University of Buffalo the scientist told how three years of research had resulted in success.

Foremost expert on "heavy" atoms—those carrying more than the usual atomic weight—Dr. Urey won the Nobel prize for his discovery of heavy hydrogen and perfection of a method to produce it. Subsequently he found methods of producing heavy nitrogen and heavy oxygen.

Some People Have the Luck, Good and Bad

Strange mishaps of 1938, as reported yesterday by the National Safety council:

Fireman John Brixie set himself ablaze sliding down the brass pole to go to a fire at Sapulpa, Okla. Friction from the slide ignited the matches in his pocket.

Auto Falls on Train.

William De Lorenzo took his girl riding in New York. Driving over a bridge while a train passed below, he swerved to avoid a collision. His car skidded, plunged through a metal railing, and landed on top of one of the moving train coaches. But rubber bounces, and De Lorenzo's automobile bounded off with no one hurt.

Grover Barchley was driving in Berwyn when a tire came off a passing truck. It rolled against his car so hard it pushed two ignition wires together and set the auto afire.

Three oil refinery workers were left stranded on the top of a huge storage tank in Beaumont, Tex., when an explosion blew their ladder out of reach and surrounded them with flames. Just then another explosion blew the ladder back. They scurried to safety.

Orator Starts a Fire.

Connie Holmes was delivering a safety talk to his senior classmates at the Palestine, Tex., High school. He slapped his side to emphasize a point and the matches in his pocket were ignited.

Veterinarian Verne A. Scott was operating on a calf's eye at John Tarleton college, Stephenville, Tex. The calf remained calm but a 200 pound student watching the operation fainted. He fell against Dr. Scott, causing the veterinarian to cut himself.

The National Safety council is an organization which promotes traffic and industrial safety.

Liner to Sail with Crew of Warship Tars

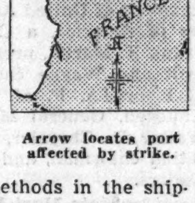
PARIS, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The government of Premier Edouard Daladier ignored labor overtures for peace tonight and ordered naval detachments to Le Havre to break the strike that has tied up the huge liner Normandie and other shipping.



Arrow locates port affected by strike.

The government determined to use the same stern methods in the shipping strike that it employed last week to crush the metal workers' walkout in northern France and the one day nation-wide strike against its economic decrees and suspension of the 40 hour week.

Three destroyers arrived at Le Havre tonight with 259 sailors from Cherbourg to man the liner Paris, which operates between Le Havre and New York.

Rule Bridge and Engine Room.

The sailors were assigned to man the bridge and engine rooms of the ship. Stewards were sent aboard during the night on a requisition order to perform their services.

French Line officials said the Paris would leave Le Havre tomorrow, a day ahead of schedule, and would proceed to Cherbourg to pick up her passengers on Wednesday.

Three naval lieutenants and 126 sailors were en route from Lorient to Le Havre to take the place of other strikers. Other detachments were sent to Le Havre from naval bases.

Rebuff Labor Delegates.

The merchant marine ministry refused to receive a delegation of Le Havre strikers who sought a compromise by dismissal of charges against four of their leaders and the rehiring of sixty of their number who took part in the unsuccessful Nov. 30 general strike.

Approximately 1,500 of the Normandie crew, 2,000 workers on the liners Paris and Ile de France, and 1,500 dock workers and port handlers on Saturday refused to work at Le Havre in sympathy with the sixty discharged employés.

The merchant marine ministry declared the liner Normandie, which missed her sailing Saturday as a result of the strike, would be returned to service on her next scheduled sailing date, Dec. 17.

Wave Begins to Subside.

Elsewhere the anti-government strike wave began to subside.

The national committee of the General Confederation of Labor began a series of conferences to seek an end to labor agitation, the leaders fearing prolonged unrest would impair labor's strength.

France's labor czar, Leon Jouhaux, who is secretary general of the labor confederation, told the national committeemen:

"We must not forget that new elements in the confederation are more easily deceived than the old. If we permitted continuance of agitation the confederation would enter a phase of impotence."

Jouhaux indicated, nevertheless,

SUPREME COURT CURBS MISRULE OF LABOR BOARD

Authority Abused to Favor C. I. O.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's National Labor Relations board, often called the judicial branch of the C. I. O., was severely rebuffed today by the United States Supreme court.

The court not only ruled that the board abused its authority in setting aside American Federation of Labor contracts in favor of the C. I. O. but comprehensively condemned the board's "arbitrary and unreasonable" methods of procedure.

Specifically, the court vacated an order of the board in so far as it required the Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc., and its affiliated companies to desist from giving effect to collective bargaining agreements with A. F. of L. local unions.

The court ruled the board has jurisdiction over utilities doing business with interstate commerce.

Board's First Defeat.

It was the labor board's first defeat in the Supreme court and the case is expected to have important repercussions affecting not only the senate fight against confirmation of Donald W. Smith for another term on the board, but also proposals to amend the Wagner labor relations act in the next session of congress.

Such proposals, supported by the A. F. of L. and by industry generally, would require mutual responsibility on the part of employers and employés, give employers the right to appeal for collective bargaining elections, or for the redress of grievances against unfair labor practices, and divest the board of its assumed authority to discriminate between rival unions in favor of the C. I. O.

Heretofore all attacks on the lopsidedness of the Wagner act and its prejudiced administration by the labor board have brought the response from Senator Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.] and other New Dealers that an uninterrupted succession of victories in the Supreme court refuted such charges. Defenders of the labor board have scoffed at the contention of its opponents that the Supreme court is concerned only with the powers of congress, and not with its wisdom.

Power Is Abused.

Now the court has ruled that the board abused the powers conferred by the act and that if the act undertook to confer power authorizing such actions by the board then the act would be unconstitutional.

This will give the board's opponents a powerful argument against confirmation of Donald Smith, whom President Roosevelt reappointed for another term during the present recess of congress after the A. F. of L. had made known its objections to the reappointment. The A. F. of L. is opposing Smith's confirmation with all its energy, and the nomination will produce a showdown fight in the senate on the labor board's policies and attitude.

Smith was sponsored for his position on the labor board by Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.], a political ally of John L. Lewis, dictator of the C. I. O. Guffey also supported the appointment of J. Warren Madden, chairman of the board, who is on leave from a law professorship at the University of Pittsburgh. The third member of the board, Edwin S. Smith, was sponsored by Senator Matthew M. Neely [D., W. Va.], another political friend of Lewis.

Victory for A. F. of L.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said the court's opinion was so sweeping that the board will have to reverse itself in all such cases in which it has illegally abrogated contracts entered into between employers and A. F. of L. unions.

There are about 12 cases in which the labor board has undertaken to set aside A. F. of L. contracts in favor of the C. I. O.

Green said the court had knocked the props from under the board's arbitrary, prejudicial and grossly unfair position toward the A. F. of L. with regard to union contracts. He called the decision a great victory for the A. F. of L. and a great boon to the nation, saying it would serve notice on the labor board that law and justice will not sanction its policy of perjudice against the A. F. of L. and favoritism to the C. I. O.

The Supreme court's opinion in the Edison case, delivered by Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes and concurred in by such liberals as Justices Louis D. Brandeis and Harlan F. Stone, served notice upon the labor board that its powers are remedial, not punitive.

Only Justices Hugo L. Black and Stanley F. Reed, President Roosevelt's appointees, dissented from that part of the opinion upholding the A. F. of L. contracts.

Utilities Held Interstate.

The court divided on the question of the labor board's authority to take jurisdiction in the Edison case, but a majority found its business was interstate. This majority opinion established the board's jurisdiction in the case of all large utilities which do business with interstate companies.

The case grew out of a complaint of the C. I. O. United Electrical workers, who charged that the Edison company and its affiliates were interfering with the right of employés to join unions of their choice. The complaint also charged the company was contributing financial support to the American Federation of Labor International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Three weeks after the complaint was filed in May, 1937, the company and its affiliates made contracts with the brotherhood, recognizing it as the bargaining agent for its members only. The contracts stipulated wages and hours and provided for arbitration of disputes.

Orders Contract Voided.

An examiner took testimony in New York and the case was transferred to the board in Washington. On Nov. 10, 1937, the board ordered the company to stop certain labor practices which the C. I. O. called unfair. The board also ordered the company to reinstate six discharged employés, give them back pay, and to invalidate contracts with the brotherhood.

It was in the board's order to break the A. F. of L. contracts that the court found the greatest abuse of authority and reminded the board that the Wagner act grants to it authority to remedy cases of unfair labor practice and no power to punish employers.

The court also assailed the board for its unreasonable and arbitrary conduct in the hearing. Mere rumor and hearsay evidence was accepted by the examiner from the C. I. O., while the company was not permitted to present important evidence concerning the discharge of an employé. The court recognized that the board has some discretionary power, but said in this case discretion was abused.

Must Support Conclusion.

The court also knocked out the board's contention that the findings of fact are binding upon any court if supported by any evidence. Here the court said evidence of fact must be substantial enough to support a conclusion in a reasonable mind.

Nothing was found in the evidence offered at the hearings to indicate the brotherhood unions were dominated by the company, the court said. Thirty thousand, or 80 per cent of the employés, belonged to the A. F. of L, and only 8,000 more were eligible to belong to any union. Contracts were held to be fair and reasonable, and to conform to the purpose for which the labor act was designed.

With these findings in mind, the court ruled the board lacks any power to inflict upon the employer any penalty it may choose in an attempt to force compliance with its orders.

MICHIGAN LABOR REFORM SOUGHT BY FITZGERALD

New Governor to Submit Legislative Proposal.

Grand Ledge, Mich., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Governor-elect Frank D. Fitzgerald revealed here today he is giving his major attention to preparation of a message to the 1939 legislature on a proposed labor relations act.

Fitzgerald, who has just returned from a post election vacation in Florida, said he regards adequate legislation to control labor controversies in the general public interest as the primary problem of the new Republican administration which will take office Jan. 1.

Will Confer with Murphy.

The governor-elect and Gov. Frank Murphy, New Deal Democrat whom he defeated in last month's election, will confer later this month on various state matters, Fitzgerald revealed. However, it is doubtful if labor policies will be discussed, he said.

Fitzgerald is endeavoring to schedule conferences with Homer Martin, president of United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate; Frank X. Martel, president of the Detroit and Wayne county federations of labor [A. F. of L.]; William S. Knudsen, General Motors president; Walter P. Chrysler, Chrysler corporation chairman, and other industrial leaders.

State Must Be Fair.

"The new administration must be absolutely fair, but stern relative to labor relations," said the governor-elect. "Labor will not run this state; the state will control labor organizations. But neither labor unions nor employers will dictate to the government. I want to see that working men are protected both from radical leadership and selfish exploitation by employers."

Notice of intention to strike may be incorporated in his proposed labor relations bill, Fitzgerald said. The measure also may prohibit picketing of strike bound plants by others than their own employés and outlaw forced collections of union dues or compulsory union membership, the "check-off," and the "closed shop."

WOMAN KILLED IN CRASH.

Dodges Bullets

PAULA RUYLE.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 5.—(AP)—A man identified as the slayer of a Denver tavern proprietor was critically wounded and his companion was killed in a gun battle with police shortly after a holdup last night.

Detective Captain James E. Childers said the wounded man was Harry Leopold, 30 years old. He identified the dead man as Robert Gwynne, 30.

The two men, Childers related, practice adn no power to punish em-Albrecht, 60, the owner. Childers said eyewitnesses named Leopold as the slayer.

The two men were traced to a west Denver apartment house. When police sought to enter the detective captain said Leopold pushed Paula Ruyle in front of him and fired a revolver, creasing another detective's overcoat.

The officers returend the fire, killing Gwynne, and wounding Leopold.

TELLS PAYMENT OF $750,000 TO NORMA SHEARER

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Norma Shearer was pledged $750,000 for five motion pictures, without being required to appear in any of them. Emil K. Ellis, counsel for minority stockholders in Loew's, Inc., made this charge today in the stockholders' 30 million dollar accounting suit against officers of the company.

Ellis said the arrangement was made with the actress after the death of her husband, Irving Thalberg, the director. Ellis charged that in addition the Thalberg estate was to receive 4 per cent of the net profits of Loew's, the holding company for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures, from the time of his death in 1936 to next Dec. 21. Ellis said this would total $900,000.

Charging nepotism in conduct of the company's affairs, Ellis said promotion advantages and even coat checking privileges were accorded to relatives of the officers.

EXPLODE PAROLE SYSTEM MYTH; IT DOESN'T REFORM!

Repeaters Cause Half of City's Crime.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

In December, 1936, the Illinois parole system had an excellent record—on paper. The record indicated that of each 100 convicts paroled from state prisons and reformatories, 88 readjusted themselves and became good citizens.

T. P. Sullivan.

It offered no proof that the 88 actually had made good. It showed merely that of each 100 convicts released, only about a dozen were sent back later to finish their sentences.

Meanwhile, records of the Chicago crime commission proved that half of the city's crime was being committed by parolees. On Christmas eve of 1936, therefore, Gov. Horner appointed a new acting superintendent for supervision of parolees. The new executive was to tighten up the entire system, enforce its regulations to the letter and stop the widespread parole scandals that had marked that year.

Go Back to Walls in Droves.

This man was T. P. Sullivan, former police chief of Springfield, Ill., and later head of the state department of identification and investigation. He had walked a beat, had risked his life in gun battles with criminals, and had been a keen and fearless detective.

He started sending criminals back to the walls in droves. The excellent parole record established through the years was wrecked and wiped out in a week—so far as concerned the figures on paper. But murderers and robbers and rapists and thugs were being removed from the society they terrorized. Some of these went out of circulation forever.

But let us try to understand how the record could show the parole system a success, while the crimes of parolees were growing in number and in viciousness hour by hour and year by year. Scrutiny of the facts—which did not show in the record—discloses that the elastic percentage system was the key to this puzzle.

Wholesale Releases Give Key.

By keeping the number of parole violators lower each year, in proportion to the number at large, the board was able to boast that more and more convicts were making good. But the board only lets the prisoners out. It is the duty of the superintendent of supervision to watch them and send them back if they violate the rules.

Thus, wholesale releases of convicts could lower the percentage of those who failed to make good. It could not, of course, lower the actual number of those who failed to make good.

For years the parole authorities proudly displayed figures to show that their charges were reforming under the paternal influence of the state. Each year, it seemed, the convicts were growing better and better.

The state department of public welfare even issued an eight year tabulation to show graphically this happy trend. The table included four years under Gov. L. L. Emmerson and four under Gov. Horner.

Brag on Horner's Successes.

| | Made good. | Failed. |
| EMMERSON. | | |
| 1929 | 82.36 | 17.64 |
| 1930 | 84.26 | 15.74 |
| 1931 | 84.38 | 15.62 |
| HORNER. | | |
| 1933 | 83.94 | 16.06 |
| 1934 | 87.28 | 12.72 |
| 1935 | 88.14 | 11.86 |
| 1936 | 88.50 | 11.50 |

The Horner parole board bragged that it had increased the percentage of successes from a low of 82.36 under Emmerson to a high of 88.50 under Horner.

Opponents of parole reform also were using the figures to prove that the system was the best yet; that fewer and fewer convicts were failing to make good.

When Mr. Sullivan went in as superintendent he was expected, naturally, to make the record look even better. He could do this by sending back fewer prisoners who had violated their paroles or had committed new crimes.

Policeman Spoils Showing.

But Sullivan was a policeman. He charted his course by strange, new compass readings. Under his heavy hand a steady stream of parole violators flowed back to the prisons. And because the board had been halted in its wholesale parole policy the old record was practically reversed.

The new figures would have come very near to showing that 88.50 per cent of the parolees had failed and that 11.50 per cent had made good. [Statewide figures for 1937 and 1938 have not been released.]

Cook county records, compiled by the crime commission, show that for 1937 Sullivan sent back more parolees than were freed. Aside from hundreds of parole failures found in other states and returned to prison in Illinois—a new Sullivan policy—the crime commission records show 256 Cook county violators sent back in 1937 against only 252 released. The 256 was in addition to 49 found guilty of new crimes.

The record for 10 months of 1938 shows 266 Cook county parolees released from prison and 169 returned as ordinary violators and 20 returned with new sentences. No matter how the parole board members figure, they can't show an "improvement" on the "made good" record for 1936, it was admitted.

"I don't know what my batting average is," Supt. Sullivan said yesterday. "There is no more coddling of convicts. I don't have anything to do with granting paroles. My job is to send back those who don't obey the rules and if I am making a record that way—well that's the way I do business."

MAYOR FRIENDLY TO LABOR'S PLEA THAT HE RUN IN '39

Campaign Taking Shape in Both Parties.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Four phases of the 1939 mayoralty outlook shared the attention of Democratic and Republican leaders yesterday. On both sides there were signs that important developments will occur soon. The day's developments were these:

1. Fifty labor union leaders evoked from Mayor Kelly the closest approach he has made to a statement that he will run again.
2. Leanings toward Dwight H. Green and Charles S. Dewey developed in the Republican city committee's subcommittee on mayoralty candidates.
3. State's Attorney Courtney postponed the announcement of his candidacy which had been scheduled as the big event of the day.
4. Secretary of the Interior Ickes sent new encouragement to his local supporters, although the one year's residence provision of the statutes bars him from the mayor's office.

New Delegation Sees Kelly.

When a delegation of more than 100 business and professional men, club women, and other citizens called on Mayor Kelly last week and urged him to seek renomination, he was noncommittal. His reply to yesterday's labor delegation led those visitors to believe they aroused the mayor to an expression that was at least slightly more favorable.

"I haven't anything to say at this time," said Kelly, "as to whether I shall be a candidate or not. There are several things I should like to iron out at home. I have been neglecting my family for six years. Of course, they must be considered.

"I am trying to work things around to a point where I can give a definite answer. I want to say that this delegation will have more might in making me decide to run than anything else.

Tells Desire to Serve.

"This is the reason: If I can be of benefit to my neighbor, if I can be of benefit to the man who really needs help, if I can be my brother's keeper, if I can leave this world with the respect of the ordinary man because he sees that I at least try to do the decent thing for the decent man raising his family here—that is the kind of a record I want to leave behind me. That is the best kind of a monument I could imagine.

"You will hear from me as soon as I can possibly arrange it. If I do agree to run, I shall let you know. And if it is the other way I'll let you know. You are going to have great weight with me in my making this decision."

The mayor knew most of the union men, called many of them by their first names as he shook hands with them. He told them early in his reply that he understood them and their problems because his youth and young manhood was spent among the working classes.

The speeches on behalf of the delegation were made by Earl J. McMahon, secretary of the Chicago Building Trades council, and Joseph J. Seppi, president of local 3, Allied Printing Trades council of Chicago. They cited facts from Kelly's record that they considered helpful to labor and commended him particularly for putting life into subway building.

Consider Dewey and Green.

The Republican subcommittee on candidates held a secret meeting, but after adjournment some of the members disclosed that the discussion during the session showed a favorable attitude toward Former District Attorney Green and Dewey, who ran a spectacular race for congress last fall. Green has been sounded out by leaders not connected with the city committee and will run if he can be shown guarantees of adequate organization and financial backing. Dewey has not been approached.

State's Attorney Courtney granted no interviews to reporters wanting to know why his announcement had been withheld. The delay was believed to have been induced by the prosecutor's talk with Secretary Ickes in Washington on Saturday. Apparently still believing that he can qualify as a candidate despite adverse legal opinions, Ickes sent word to Prof. Paul Douglas that he will make his decision soon.

Relief Quiz Asked

Dr. Jacob Schlesinger, 7251 Forest avenue, Hammond, who was paid $71,000 for treatment of Lake county relief clients in two years. He is allowed only $1 a call for relief patients.

Edward Schaaf, manager of the Evans Fuel and Supply company of Gary, and his wife. She is a township trustee and overseer of the poor in Calumet township, Lake county. In the two and a half years ending last March the Evans company was paid $162,000 in relief money for fuel. The Schaafs were married in October, 1936.

Frank L. Hoess, president of the Lake county council, which is demanding an investigation by Gov. Townsend's relief commission of the "callous spending" of relief funds in the county. The relief burden in Lake county last year reached 2½ million dollars.

TOWNSEND ASKED TO HALT RELIEF SPENDING SPREE

Lake County, Ind., Fears Bankruptcy.

got $203,573 in three years," Hoess continued. "Snyder's department store in Hammond and Goodman Brothers in Indiana Harbor also did large amounts of relief business.

"This is one of the things we think the governor's commission should look into. There doesn't appear to be any competition for relief business. Merchants who complain to us say that they aren't given a chance, even when they lower their prices.

"We are going to ask the legislature for some kind of curb on the way the township trustees spend relief money," Hoess said. "No one has any control over the way they spend money and run up relief bills.

Must Approve Bond Demands.

"When they get in the hole they come to us and demand a bond issue to meet the deficit. As far as I can find we have to approve the bond issue whether we want to or not."

Relief expenditures for all of the county's townships totaled $2,251,000 for the first nine months of this year, Hoess said. He estimated that expenditures for the last three months would amount to another million dollars. The total relief tax levy for 1938 was $1,555,000.

The levy plus the bond issues makes a total of more than $3,900,000. Hoess' estimate of the relief expenditures for the year totals only $3,250,000. Joseph Finerty, county auditor, indicated that the $3,900,000 estimate comes nearer hitting the mark when he said that all of the taxes collected and all of the bond issue money will be needed to clear up the relief debts.

All of the relief funds in Indiana are raised by tax levies in the various townships. There is no state relief money, as in Illinois, but Indiana does not have a sales tax.

Trustee's Control Is Absolute.

Each township trustee has absolute control of the relief spending in his or her township. Meehan and Mrs. Schaaf between them spend more than 90 per cent of all the relief money used in Lake county.

Cash relief, of the type used in Chicago, is not given in either of their townships. Reliefers are given orders for food. These are good at most local groceries, but the trustees will not allow them to be used in chain stores.

Such items as coal and clothing are purchased in large quantities by the trustees and distributed to the reliefers. The dealers are given relief orders, which they hold until money to pay them becomes available either from tax collections or from a bond issue.

Doctors, small grocers, landlords, and others also become creditors of the county in this way. Many of the grocers pass their orders to wholesalers in Chicago to hold pending payment. The orders do not carry interest.

THREE INDICTED IN NEW ALBANY, IND., SHORTAGE

$23,128 Missing from County Fund.

New Albany, Ind., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—A new chapter in the politically tangled affairs of Floyd county came today with the indictment of Frank Hoppenjon, former county treasurer and two field examiners for the state board of accounts. The county grand jury charged Hoppenjon with having failed to turn over $23,128 to his successor last Jan. 1.

Claude Gladden of Scottsburg and J. T. Cramball of New Albany, field examiners for the board of accounts, are charged by the grand jury with having been accessories to the fraudulent withholding of tax instalment payments.

Hoppenjon was arraigned this afternoon and released pending trial next month.

Embezzlement Concealed.

One indictment against the examiners charges that they concealed embezzlement of $27,765 by Robert A. Leist, deputy county treasurer who committed suicide shortly before the November election in which he was the Democratic nominee for county auditor. Leist, who preceded Hoppenjon as county treasurer and then served as his deputy, was supposed to have been one of the frequenters of numerous gambling establishments which have been operated in this vicinity.

Leist's suicide was followed by a grand jury investigation of vice and corruption here and divulged that a complete audit of the county treasurer's office had not been made since 1934.

Shortage Is $127,768.

A belated admission by the board of accounts now shows a combined shortage of $127,768 in the county treasury and a shortage of $1,248 in the treasury of the city of New Albany. Cramball and Gladden who were assigned to audit this county for several years also are charged by the grand jury with concealing a shortage of $3,474 as far back as 1934 when Leist was treasurer. The two examiners will appear in county court Tuesday.

A cash shortage of $648 was found in the city treasury plus $600 paid in 1934 in excess salary to the city treasurer despite the fact that the state legislature in 1933 had enacted a law which would prevent Leist as county treasurer drawing a big salary as city treasurer.

The city shortage is charged against Hoppenjon whose term began in January, 1936, and who resigned Sept. 30, 1938. Another revelation made following Leist's suicide was that the bond of the county treasurer had been reduced to $15,000.

NAZIS OUST JEWS FROM ECONOMIC LIFE IN GERMANY

Put Resources of Semites Under Their Thumbs.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—The systematic drive to make paupers of Jews before they are given a chance to flee from Germany is proceeding swiftly.

Decrees issued tonight by the ministry of economic affairs banned Jews from participating in the economic affairs of Germany and forbade the sale of their securities, whether stocks or bonds, real estate, jewelry, and art objects.

The decrees, furthermore, made possible the forced sale of their businesses to any one Nazi authorities might designate. Jews are to be paid off in government bonds instead of cash "to wipe out Jewish influence in German business affairs and all fields where it is publicly and economically a nuisance."

Nazis to Pick Buyers.

Nazi officials were empowered to force Jews to sell their businesses to picked Aryan buyers within a definite time limit. If the Jews do not follow orders and sell or if they fail to find buyers, officials will appoint trustees who will "take over the direction or sale of businesses for the time being." The Jewish owners must pay the trustees' fees and expenses.

Jews were forbidden to buy both real estate and options on real estate or to participate in compulsory auctions of property. They only can sell real estate with permission of the authorities.

The decree forbidding Jews to sell securities said: "All securities owned by Jews are to be deposited in a special depot of a foreign exchange bank. These depots are to be marked as Jewish. The deposit can be touched only with the permission of the authorities."

Nazis to Fix Prices.

Under the ban on the purchase, sale, and pawning of jewelry and art objects Jews only may dispose of such articles in special state sales offices and at fixed prices under official supervision.

The "Aryanization" of Jewish shops heretofore was "voluntary." Details of the methods used by Nazi officials in evaluating the property to be "Aryanized" were published by the Deutsche Bergwerks Zeitung.

"Evaluation is generally made on the basis of 50 per cent of the calculated selling value and the exclusion of good will or reputation," said the paper.

Nazi estimates of value are made on the supposition that "in the last three years the turnover of Jewish businesses has decreased on the average of one-third," and that "on the average half of the stocks in Jewish shops are not modern and must be sold at reduced prices."

The Deutsche Bergwerks Zeitung said a Jewish shop can be purchased only if "it can be proved that the continuation of the business under Aryan direction is in the interests of national economy."

He added that such a union would set an inspiring example to the remainder of the world.

Poland Angry as Ukrainians Call for Political Freedom

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Dec. 5.—Fierce opposition has been aroused in Polish government circles against the Ukrainian faction in the Polish parliament. Dr. Vassily Mudrys, Ukrainian leader, announced the group's intention of submitting a bill which would grant Ukrainians territorial independence.

Mudrys' speech before parliament caused disorders. Polish deputies attempted to pull him from the platform. Several times angry shouts by Poles drowned out the remarks of the Ukrainian leader who read a list of twelve Ukrainian cities and towns where riots occured recently. Mudrys condemned Polish civil and military authorities for repressing the Ukrainians.

15 Signatures Needed.

Under the constitution, signatures of fifteen deputies are required to submit a bill in parliament. The Poles said they erred when they permitted fifteen Ukrainian deputies to obtain seats in parliament. Efforts are being made, through promises of patronage, to keep certain deputies from signing the autonomy bill.

Polish deputies spoke against giving any privilege to Ukrainians while the Polish press attacked the demands of the Ukrainians.

[Poland has a population of 32,107,300. According to a 1931 census, 3,222,000 inhabitants, or 10.1 per cent, spoke Ukrainian.]

Plan to Restrict Jews.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Dec. 5.—Anti-Jewish legislation in the form of restrictions on Jews in trade, industry, and professions is being prepared by the Camp of National Unity. The organization obtained a majority of 70 per cent in the last parliamentary elections.

Gen. Stanlislas Skwarczynski, chief of the camp, announced that the "general principles of the camp's Jewish policy will guide us in our parliamentary and legislative work."

These "general principles" were laid down in the camp's first declaration as follows: Solution of the Jewish problem in Poland can be achieved only through a considerable reduction in the number of Jews in the Polish republic; Polish economic life must be freed of Jewish domination, and the high percentage of Jews in certain professions—particularly medical and legal—must be reduced. About 3,114,000 Jews live in Poland.

Plan Anti-Jewish Bill.

An anti-Jewish bill is expected to be introduced in parliament in the near future, probably before the December municipal elections. However, there will be no hurry in passing the bill, since the government is not likely to encourage it on anti-constitutional grounds.

The new constitution—a sacred document ratified by Marshal Josef Pilsudski a few weeks before his death—guarantees equal rights to all citizens of Poland regardless of faith or racial origin.

The issue apparently was raised for tactical reasons to warn the western powers Poland will have to resort to discriminative legislation unless her emigration claims are satisfied and an outlet is found for a considerable number of Jewish emigrants.

that his price for labor peace was a halt to discharges, arrests, and requisitions which Daladier ordered to fight the strikes.

"We are in the presence of a wave of repressions," the labor chief said. "The government and employers are trying openly to decapitate the labor movement to overcome it more quickly and more completely.

"In the face of this situation there can be only one attitude—to form a front. The defense of labor interests and defense of liberty remain our objectives. The labor element must remain an element of resistance against all ideas of dictatorship."

Jouhaux's speech, which was the first significant statement of labor's position since Daladier turned against the leftist popular Front, made plain labor's desire at least for a truce on the condition that Daladier come half way.

Strikes of metal workers which started on Nov. 21 at the beginning of a wave of walkouts in protest against Daladier's decrees were virtually liquidated with mass returns of strikers to their jobs today.

The major industrial plants of the nation were reopened, officials rehiring their workers under new contracts. The government's anxiety to get industry functioning normally led to its insistence that most of the rank and file be rehired.

This meant no relaxation, however, of the government's determination to punish strike leaders.

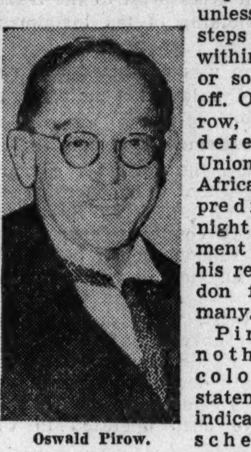
PREDICTS EUROPE WILL BE SWEPT BY WAR IN SPRING

England Told Tension Nears Breaking Point.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 5.—A general war will break out in Europe next spring unless effective steps are taken within a month or so to head it off. Oswald Pirow, minister of defense of the Union of South Africa, made this prediction tonight in a statement issued upon his return to London from Germany.



Oswald Pirow.

Pirow said nothing about colonies in the statement. It was indicated that his scheme of presenting Reichsfuehrer Hitler with a composite African colony made up of the Cameroons, Togoland, and Angola had been abandoned.

The gloomy picture painted by the South African after his talks with Hitler and Premier Mussolini of Italy contrasts sharply with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's policy of pacifying dictators. However, Pirow's prediction that tension would reach the breaking point next spring unless the outlook changed very soon confirmed diplomatic advices which have reached London from Germany the last few weeks, British sources said.

Hunts Colonies for Hitler.

Since leaving South Africa on Oct. 20 Pirow visited Portugal, Spain, Germany, Italy, Belgium, and the Netherlands to survey, with Chamberlain's approval, the prospects of satisfying Hitler's colonial appetite, mainly at the expense of Belgium and Portugal.

The South African's comment that big sacrifices are needed to stave off war and that no one is prepared to make them tended to show that the Belgians and Portuguese kicked on the colonies' proposals. Berlin, it was said, also rejected the plans.

Coincident with Pirow's arrival the German press demanded the return of all of Germany's former colonies and proclaimed that Berlin was not interested in any alternative solution.

Breaking the silence on his mysterious European tour for the first time, the defense minister said: "Europe is drifting into war, a war which no nation wants but against which every country is preparing. Unless there is a complete change in the outlook within the next month or two international tension will reach the breaking point in the spring of next year.

"The tragedy of the situation is that since the settlement of the Czecho-Slovak issue there is no principle at stake which would excuse a war, let alone make it inevitable. The drift to war is caused purely by psychological factors."

Pirow picked on the refugee problem to imply that the main concern of European governments is to pass the buck to each other and safeguard their own interests. Both money and land for settling Jewish refugees could be secured by concerted action, he said.

"What is absent, however, is a willingness both on the part of countries who wish to shed the refugees and those who profess to feel sorry for them to make any real sacrifice," Pirow added.

"The international attitude on the refugee question is not by itself the reason for war, but is symptomatic of the state of mind which is not prepared to make a substantial sacrifice for peace. As long as that state of mind persists the drift to war—a drift with increasing momentum—will continue."

HITLER STRIVES TO MAKE FRANCE STANCH FRIEND

Fuehrer Wants Free Hand in Eastern Europe.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and other officials of the foreign office will spare no effort to win the confidence of French politicians in negotiations starting in Paris tomorrow. These negotiations will precede and follow the signing of the new Franco-German anti-war and friendship accord which Germans declare is "a turning point in the history of the two countries."

For Germany, it is of vital importance to come to friendly terms with France even at the cost of making concessions and of displeasing her "only true friend"—as Reichsfuehrer Hitler has called Premier Mussolini of Italy.

Startling events in Rumania, where Nazi sympathizers are threatening to revolt and avenge the slaying of 17 members of the Fascist Iron Guard, precipitated developments which Germany expected but which she believed would be less swift.

Seeks to Calm France.

To have a free hand in southeastern Europe, where Germany is working on gigantic plans, it is imperative that Hitler enjoy a "friendly understanding with his western neighbor [France] and to feel there is no danger of a conflict on two fronts." Consequently, everything will be done to erase France's suspicions.

It is not that Germany believes France is strong. On the contrary, Nazis speak of her weakness. When Hitler wrote "My Struggle" matters were different. France then seemed to be a bulwark of strength directed against Germany and England appeared to be willing to coöperate with her.

Now the Nazis feel that French bourgeois elements are as susceptible to Nazi ideas as the German bourgeois were when the English were showing a stronger resistance to the German version of Fascism.

Hitler Swings to France.

Therefore, Hitler is swinging more towards France—the first time he has swerved from the line he prescribed for himself in his book.

To make it easier to reach an understanding with France, German diplomats told Italian diplomats that Mussolini could not count on Nazi help if the Italians indulged in new adventures in the Mediterranean against France.

Von Ribbentrop and his staf, who left for Paris tonight, were instructed by Hitler to inform Premier Edouard Daladier of France that Germany does not approve of any Italian plans that might be directed against French Tunisia or Corsica.

Worried About Rumania.

Nazi officials are becoming more agitated about developments in Rumania with which they sought an economic understanding because that country has oil, wheat and hogs. Germany needs Rumania's oil, grain, and hogs, and believes she could pay for them in finished goods.

Members of the outlawed Iron Guard who had fled to Poland and Czechoslovakia arrived in the eastern section of Germany. They are being cared for by Nazi welfare associations.

Many Nazi groups are agitating for an "open rupture of relations with Rumania," while those more experienced in propaganda methods are advising patience.

Wants Press Toned Down.

The Rumanian minister to Berlin, Radu T. Djuvara, called on Gottfried Aschmann, chief of the press section in the foreign office. He asked the Nazi official to tone down the press campaign against the Rumanian government. Djuvara, who represented his country in Washington, D. C., several years ago, is known for his pro-Nazi sympathies, but he also is a personal friend of King Carol.

Just as the Nazis used the "dissatisfaction of the minorities" to strengthen their foothold in Czechoslovakia and Austria now they are agitating about the "injustice of the Paris treaty which allowed Rumania to double her size, especially at the cost of Hungary."

The official Voelkischer Beobachter in making this statement mentioned minorities of 1,500,000 Hungarians, 800,000 Ukrainians and Russians, 400,000 Bulgarians, 200,000 Turks and 800,000 Germans.

A few minutes before the brick throwing Miss Carson waved to Policeman Lynch. He waved back, paying no further attention. The he heard the crash of breaking glass. Miss Carson refused to give her address. She was neatly dressed and her face was shielded by a heavy black veil.

SPANISH LOYALISTS DISCHARGE 442 MORE FOREIGN VOLUNTEERS

HENDAYE, France, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Spanish government proceeded today to discharge foreign volunteers while the battle fronts remained deadlocked.

Following the departure of 332 Americans on Friday, a detachment of 442 former recruits in the international brigades came to France on Sunday. They included Swedes, Belgians, Netherlanders, Frenchmen, and Finns. They were repatriated today on trains from the French border town of Gerbere.

There was a mass of rumors of troop concentrations and coming offensives, from both the government and rebel sides.

KEEP HANDS OFF COLONIES! PARIS TO ROME, BERLIN

Daladier Defies Hitler and Mussolini.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier today said France was resolved to demand respect for "the absolute integrity" of all French territory by "every means."

This was his answer to the Italian clamor over French Corsica and Tunisia. Political observers read into it an additional message to Germany—France intends to keep her colonies despite Adolf Hitler's demands.

Daladier's declaration as it affected Germany was held significant in view of the arrival here tomorrow of Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, to sign a no war pact and to discuss the political situation.

Stay Calm, Premier Pleads.

Daladier's remarks were contained in a formal statement announcing his intention to visit Corsica and Tunisia shortly after Jan. 1. He urged inhabitants there to remain calm. The plea followed yesterday's riotous demonstrations against Italy and professing loyalty to France.

Of the Italian press campaign and the clamor raised in the chamber of deputies regarding France and French possessions, Daladier said: "There is no need to state that these manifestations will meet strong opposition against the cession of any territory over which the national flag floats."

He said the loyalty demonstrations in Tunisia and Corsica were "the best response that could be made" to Italian cries for French territory. He noted that the Italian government had answered a French protest by stating the Fascist colonial claims were not formulated by the government.

Guard Italian Consulate.

Dispatches from Tunis, the Tunisian capital, said police guards were placed around the Italian consulate where angry crowds had shouted "down with Italy." At Ajaccio, Corsica, where 30,000 rioted, the mayor appealed to the people to remain calm.

In Alexandria, Egypt, Frederic Megret, French editor, formally complained to authorities over the stoning of his home by forty Italian youths shouting, "Down with France."

As French diplomats hastened preparations for tomorrow's signing of the good neighbor pact with Germany they allowed the Italian colonial claims to rest with Daladier's statement.

Italian Clamor Increases.

ROME, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Italian clamor over Tunisia increased today with the press accusing France of taking a "provocative attitude" in allowing yesterday's anti-Italian riots in the French North African protectorate and Corsica.

Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, at the same time indicated Italy would present her demands on France at some future date.

Writing in Il Giornale D'Italia, Gayda denied that Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, in last week's talks with the British and French envoys to Rome, had been forced to back down and then said: "He posed a problem. He will follow it up at the proper time, with that energy which is his, along the lines Il Duce has traced."

Fails to Specify Demands.

The writer failed, however, to say exactly what demands would be raised or when they would be presented.

[Ciano's talks with Andre Francois-Poncet, French ambassador, and the earl of Perth, British ambassador, followed Wednesday's demonstration in the chamber of deputies. Deputies shouted "Tunisia! Tunisia!" after a speech by the foreign minister, who referred to Italy's "interests and aspirations." Italians outside the chamber also demonstrated, crying the names of French possessions in which Italy is interested.]

Gayda, who often represents Premier Mussolini's views, ridiculed French suggestions that Germany withhold support from Italian demands because of the Greman-French peace declaration to be signed tomorrow in Paris.

"The French reactions are in vain," he said. "History is going forward toward its fatal epilogues. Italy and Germany, which have common problems and common destinies, are marching together with resolute will as well as an enlightened spirit of responsibility."

French Called "Rabble."

The press considered the Italian demonstrations last Wednesday mild compared to the French reaction. Besides accusing France of taking a "provocative attitude" they used for the demonstrators such epithets as "anti-Fascist canaille [rabble]."

Il Lavoro Fascista said that "Italian claims in the Mediterranean" were based on the cession of Nice to France in 1861. It added one only could marvel "that the Italian demonstrations after three years of acute tension with France were so moderate and limited themselves to the shouting of names which are graven in the hearts of all Italians and which no hard necessity of political equilibrium can force them to forget."

This paper also charged that French "agitation threatens to bring Franco-Italian relations to the extreme."

Italy Reassures Britain.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced today he had received assurances that the Italian government "did not associate" itself with the territorial demonstrations against France.

He said, therefore, he saw no reason to change arrangements for his visit to Rome next Jan. 11.

The prime minister told the house of commons that the earl of Perth, British ambassador to Rome, had told Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italy's foreign minister, that such incidents "must have a detrimental effect on the prospects of collaboration between the four Munich powers" unless "steps are taken to correct the impression created."

Chamberlain indicated French sovereignty over Tunisia, Corsica, and Nice was covered by an annex to the Anglo-Italian agreement of April 16. That agreement placed Britain and Italy on record as having no desire to modify the territorial situation in the Mediterranean. This accord came into force Nov. 16.

Ready to Back Up France.

He implied that Britain would back French resistance to Italian clamor for French territory by stating: "Nothing in the Anglo-Italian agreement of April 16 affects in any way our obligations to France."

The prime minister postponed answering a question whether any pact existed compelling Britain to defend France if France were attacked by Italy.

Conservative cheers rang out, however, when he declared: "If any other part of the British commonwealth were attacked we should without hesitation go to its aid."

He made that statement in answer to a question concerning the recent hint of Gen. J. B. M. Hertzog, premier of the Union of South Africa, that South Africa might not fight for Britain.

TRAFIC ACCIDENT DEATH TOLL CAN BE CUT BY POLICE

Urge Adequate Patroling System to Save Lives.

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago's mounting trafic toll in lives and accidents should be the cause of increasing concern, Carl A. Barrett, president of the Illinois Automobile club, said yesterday. After decreasing with the national trend, the automobile death rate is rising again, he said.

In November 65 persons were killed and 1,985 injured, compared with 56 killed and 1,836 injured in November of 1937. In October 83 were killed, compared with 68 in October of 1937.

Superhighway Needed.

"Elevated highway construction," said Mr. Barrett, "is the solution to this problem. But it will be years before a comprehensive system of safe super streets can be completed. In the meantime there is much that can be done.

"Intelligent and adequate policing has proved efficient in other cities. Chicago's policing of trafic can be modernized at moderate cost. The benefits would be worth any cost."

The Northwestern university trafic institute and its associate, the International Association of Chiefs of Police, have proved what scientific police work can do to abate motor deaths. Lieut. Franklin M. Kreml, director of these two institutions, estimated yesterday that the modernization of police activities can cut the auto toll one-third. He cited experience to substantiate the estimate.

Record of Other Cities.

"The adoption of our standardized prevention methods," he said, "reduced fatal accidents 60 per cent in Greenwich, Conn., population 40,000; 55 per cent in Columbus, O., population 350,000; and 51 per cent in Detroit, Mich., population 1,750,000. In all the twenty cities now following our recommendations the average reduction last year was 35 per cent, against a national average of 18 per cent."

The first step in the system is to establish adequate accident investigation and reporting. This determines the time, place and nature of those accidents causing the most deaths. Then patrolmen, on motorcycles, are concentrated at strategic locations at the strategic times to suppress those errors or violations that have been responsible for a large portion of the fatalities.

Most cities need a larger portion of their police departments assigned to accident prevention. Almost all police departments need a larger number of trained specialists in this work.

Causes of Accidents Shown.

The university's institute now has a full term course for trafic police training, attended this semester by twenty-three policemen from various parts of the country. In addition, about 100 will receive a short course in trafic training this winter.

A talking picture used in this training of trafic policemen, suggests four types of driving misdemeanors that are responsible for a large number of accidents and therefore should receive special attention from enforcement officers. They are failure to give the right of way to vehicle approaching an intersection from the right; riding astride a lane marker or crossing the center line of broad pavement; turning from the wrong lane—a right turn from a left lane, or a left turn from a right lane—and turning without previously giving a warning signal to following car.

JANE WYMAN WINS DIVORCE ON PLEA SHE WANTS CHILD

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Disagreements with her husband about flirting and rearing a family were related by Jane Wyman, film actress, as she obtained a divorce today from Myron Futterman, a wealthy Los Angeles dress manufacturer. She said she suggested to Futterman that they have children, but he did not approve. He accused her of "being on the make" when she talked to others at parties, made unfavorable comparisons between her and his first wife, and objected to the manner in which she spent money she earned, Miss Wyman testified. The couple was married in New Orleans on June 29, 1937, and separated last Oct. 1. Superior Judge Caryl M. Sheldon granted an interlocutory decree of divorce.

Boy, 17, Ends Life After Quarrel with His Mother

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Clarence Plichta, 17 years old, a high school student, killed himself tonight with a shotgun. Police said the suicide followed an argument with his mother.

Lincoln Park Death Trap

Looking northeast at intersection of Stockton drive and St. James place in Lincoln park where J. Don Kearins, loop florist, was killed when two autos collided. The car in which Kearins was riding was going north on Stockton drive. It was struck by a car driven by Miss Janet Mitchell, which was going south. They collided when Kearins' companion attempted to make a left turn into St. James place. A witness yesterday told the coroner's jury that he had complained twice to park officials of the danger in this section of drive. He pointed out that Stockton drive makes a rise to go over pedestrian and bridle path underpass, and that the rise obscures a driver's view.

BLAME OFFICIALS FOR DEATH TRAP ON PARK DRIVE

No Warning Signs, Inquest Told.

A coroner's jury yesterday heard charges that the Chicago park district is permitting the existence of a death trap on Stockton drive in Lincoln park at its intersection with St. James place.

The charge was made by Lucius Barnett, 922 Fullerton avenue, bailif in the Chicago avenue court. He was a witness to the automobile crash Sunday which killed J. Don Kearins, loop florist. Barnett said he had written twice to the park district warning of the dangers that beset motorists there.

Underpass Cuts Off View.

Just north of St. James place there is an underpass beneath Stockton drive. This causes a rise in the drive that obstructs the vision of drivers, Barnett said.

"They are conducting a slaughter house at that place," he said. "I have barely avoided accidents there twice. In spite of my written protests, the park district has done nothing. There isn't even a danger sign there."

Deputy Coroner Ted Luber continued the inquest until Dec. 9 to permit the jury to inspect the scene of the fatal crash and to enable representatives of the park district to attend the next session of the investigation.

Injuries Are Fatal.

Mr. Kearins, who operated florist shops in the Board of Trade building and at 27 North La Salle street, died Sunday night in Columbus hospital of a skull fracture. Cuts and bruises were incurred by Paul Jungnick, 24 years old, an employé of Kearins, who was driving the car.

This machine and one driven by Miss Janet Mitchell, 22 years old, 4910 Drexel boulevard, collided. She was not injured. Barnett and other witnesses told police neither Jungnick nor Miss Mitchell was to blame for the accident.

Funeral services for Kearins, who was 44 years old, will be held tomorrow from the residence, 632 Oakdale avenue, at 10 a. m., to Our Lady of Mount Carmel church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

DRINKERS LEAVE A BAR TO CATCH FLEEING BANDIT

Arthur Etchingham, 30 years old, was captured yesterday after he had held up a tavern at 22 South Kostner avenue. He took $16 from the cash register and fled, but was seized half a block away by tavern customers who followed. He was turned over to the Fillmore street police. In 1932 he was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell for automobile larceny. He gave his address as 4815 Adams street.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK IN HOME.
Edward Eckert, 56 years old, died of a heart attack yesterday in his home at 2231 North Kostner avenue.

GUILD MEMBERS AT TWO CHICAGO PAPERS STRIKE

Members of the American Newspaper guild, affiliated with the C. I. O., went on strike yesterday at the plants of the Chicago Evening American and the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Other employés remained at work and the usual editions were issued by both newspapers. Officials of the Chicago and Illinois Federations of Labor broadcast a statement last night, in which they said A. F. of L. unions represented the vast majority of workers in the Hearst plants and "would not permit themselves to be manipulated into any alleged strike against the Hearst papers," and that the strike "is basically a fight of the C. I. O. guild against the regular trade unions."

4 PEDESTRIANS FATALLY HURT BY MOTOR CARS

Hunt Two Witnesses of Hit-Run Accident.

Four pedestrians died yesterday of injuries suffered in automobile accidents.

Benjamin Hawk, 40 years old, of Dixmoor, was fatally hurt at 140th street and Western avenue, in the suburb. The driver of the automobile was Edwin Hall of 1319 West 80th street.

Roy McDonald, 38 years old, a truck farmer near Worth, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile as he was walking in Cicero avenue, near 104th street, Oak Lawn. The driver was Arthur Hermann, 40, a farmer, living at 158th street and Leclaire avenue, Oak Park. He said the accident was unavoidable.

William Brose, 78 years old, 1419 Whitcomb avenue, Des Plaines, died in the county hospital of injuries incurred Oct. 29 when he was struck by a hit and run automobile in the suburb.

An unidentified man, about 48 years old, believed to be a Mexican, died in the County hospital of injuries suffered Sunday at Ashland avenue and 45th street. As he stepped off a safety island he was struck by an automobile driven by C. M. Edwards, 34, of 429 Englewood avenue, and run over by another car driven by Matthew McMahon, 56, of 8003 Ada street.

Seek Witnesses of Accident.

Summerdale police sought two women who saw a pedestrian struck by a hit and run car on Saturday night at Western and Balmoral avenues. The victim was Robert Brooks, 80 years old, 4012 Sheridan road. He is in a serious condition. The two women took the number of the hit and run car, gave it to bystanders, and left. Police have arrested a suspect, but will be unable to prosecute unless the women witnesses can be found, Lieut. Michael Ahern said.

Relatives yesterday identified the body of a woman who was killed Sunday night in an auto crash in Burnham as that of Mrs. Ozella Chestnut, 51 years old, Hoxie, Ark., who has been visiting in the Chicago area.

The car in which she was riding, driven by Nick Carr of 1485 West 18th street, Gary, sidewiped another machine, then struck a culvert in Brainard street in Burnham. Carr and another woman passenger were injured.

Hit by Tailgate, Dies.

William K. Johnson, 77 years old, died yesterday in St. Anne's hospital of injuries suffered Dec. 2 when he was struck by the loosened tailgate of a truck in the alley at 5936 West Chicago avenue. Johnson, a retired bookbinder, lived at 5967 Rice street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 812 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 627 were killed in Chicago, where 19,016 were injured during the same period.

A TRUCK CRASH HASTENS DEATH OF FIVE HORSES

There were fourteen of them. Crowbait all; horses that had become too old and stiff and lame to work any more. They had been loaded on one truck at Decatur, Ill., and their destination was a fur farm at Janesville, where they were to be shot and fed to foxes.

As the truck rolled along in Algonquin road near Mannheim road, a motorist cut short in front of it. The truck driver, Elmer Mitchell, swung sharply and slipped into a ditch. The truck turned over and the fourteen old Dobbins all spilled out.

It didn't make a lot of difference in the equine book of fate. Nine were still able to walk and were reloaded on the truck. Deputy Sherif Albert Steiner shot the other five. Another truck was brought up and loaded with their carcasses. Then the fourteen went on to the foxes.

MYSTERY CLOAKS DEATHS OF 3 IN GAS FILLED HOME

Study Suicide Pact and Foul Play Theories.

Muncie, Ind., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Mystery tonight surrounded the deaths of three men, one reputed to be wealthy, whose bodies were found in a gas filled apartment earlier in the day. Authorities said that while there appeared to be no motive for murder or suicide, they were not satisfied with the coroner's theory of accidental death.

The victims were Walter Grady Johnson, 65 years old, an inventor and seller of an automobile carburetor heater; Joseph Connor, 47, a war veteran of Muncie, and Rollen Reid, 23, also of Muncie.

Johnson formerly had lived in Chicago and in Detroit. He had told friends here that he owned thousands of acres of land in Texas, but an abstract for eighty acres there was all that was found among his effects. However, he drove a sixteen cylinder car and was said to have spent money freely. The two other men were odd job workers.

Two Gas Jets Open.

The two room apartment was filled with gas that poured from two open gas jets, one under a heater in the bathroom and the other on the kitchen stove. The two openings, police said, indicated that the presence of the deadly fumes was not an accident.

Another mysterious element was the appearance of Johnson's nephew, Ralph Johnson, 25 years old, of Fort Wayne, Ind., at the apartment this morning and his disappearance in the confusion that followed after he had found the bodies. Police said he left after giving a few instructions regarding his uncle's body and that they had been unable to find him for questioning.

Whisky and beer bottles lying about the apartment and clothes strewn on the floor indicated there probably had been considerable drinking, authorities said.

Two Victims Fully Dressed.

Johnson's body, clothed in sleeping garments, was found in bed in one room. The other two men were fully dressed. Connor's body was in a chair in the living room and Reid lay on the bathroom floor.

Among Johnson's effects was found a bank check book which listed a balance of $27,248 in the Merchants National bank of Muncie. Officials of the bank said, however, that Johnson's balance was much less than that. They indicated it was a few hundred dollars.

KNOWN IN CHICAGO.

Walter G. Johnson, found dead with two other men in a Muncie, Ind., apartment, formerly lived in Chicago at 732 Bittersweet place. George Goldberg, manager of an apartment hotel at that address, said Johnson left last summer after having lived there for about a year and that he had lived there for about the same length of time three or four years ago. The manager said Johnson lived in a $70 a month apartment and that his nephew, Ralph Johnson, who was his chauffeur, lived in slightly cheaper quarters. Johnson, he said, appeared to be a man of means and made considerable money selling an automobile gas saving device.

Speed Trap Charged

(Story in adjoining column.)

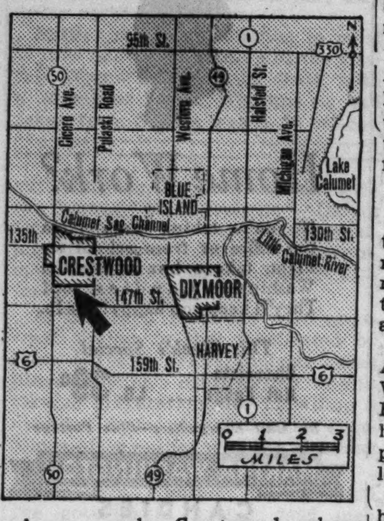
Leo Sender (left), Crestwood chief of police, who was arrested on complaints of a speed trap, and Police Magistrate Morton L. Baker, who is also under fire.



Arrow marks Crestwood, where speed trap is charged.

SUBURBAN POLICE CHIEF SEIZED IN SPEED TRAP QUIZ

Prosecutor Summons Two Crestwood Officials.

Police Chief Leo H. Sender of Crestwood was arrested last night on a warant signed by a motorist who complained of the treatment he received in a trafic case. The arrest followed opening of an investigation by the state's attorney's office into charges that a new speed trap has arisen in Crestwood to replace the notorious Dixmoor extortion racket.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin summoned Chief Sender and Police Magistrate Morton L. Baker to appear before him today with all their records in trafic violation cases for the last eighteen months.

Tells Story to Prosecutor.

The village of Crestwood lies between Cicero avenue and Pulaski road immediately south of the Calumet Sag channel. The series of speed trap complaints started several weeks ago.

They were climaxed Sunday when Alfred Holstrom, an oil dealer of Worth, went to Mr. Austin's home in Flossmoor on the advice of the state highway police to tell his story in person. Holstrom had just been released from the Crestwood jail.

He was arrested by Chief Sender, he said, and was charged with having fictitious license plates; then with having no license plates. Holstrom stated he had purchased a new car too late to buy 1938 plates and too early to get 1939 plates—which go on sale Dec. 10.

He, therefore, took the plates off his old car, which was of the same make as the new one, to use temporarily. Chief Sender refused to listen to explanations and locked up his prisoner, Holstrom said. Then the chief confiscated the offending tags and charged Holstrom with having no license plates.

Advised to Get Warant.

After two hours the prisoner was able to get word to his family. A son posted $25 bond, but he told Prosecutor Austin he had to argue heatedly with Magistrate Baker to get a receipt for the money.

Upon his release Holstrom went at once to Lieut. Morris Schwartz of the state highway police, who advised him to swear out a warant charging Chief Sender with the larceny of automobile license plates. The lieutenant then told Holstrom to visit Austin.

The assistant state's attorney also advised him to swear out a warant. Holstrom then went to the offices of Police Magistrate Frank Harnew, where he signed a complaint against Sender. Sender was seized by Constable Edward Hasman and locked up in the Oak Lawn jail until he posted a $1,000 bond. He is to appear before Magistrate Harnew on Dec. 14.

Immediately after summoning Sender and Baker yesterday Austin found in his morning mail a new complaint against the village. It was signed by Dr. J. A. Larsen, a dental surgeon with offices at 25 East Washington street. Dr. Larsen said that late last week he was driving through a sparsely settled section near 135th street and Pulaski road when Chief Sender appeared from a cornfield and arrested him.

Find $10 for Speeding.

The chief filed charges of speeding at seventy miles an hour. Dr. Larsen was fined $10.

After questioning Sender and Baker this morning Austin will confer with trustees of Dixmoor, whose citizens have been seeking a way to oust the convicted officials who operated the speed trap in that village. Mayor Charles Special and three policemen, who are under sentence to jail, have refused to resign.

Police Magistrate Charles Braun, who was convicted with them, resigned on Dec. 2 to avoid prosecution on a second indictment charging malfeasance of office.

25 Burglary Complaints Filed Against Two Bandits

Twenty-five complaints charging burglary were signed yesterday against Stanley Sand, 24 years old, 5908 North Hermitage avenue, and William Sargeant, 20, of 1540 North Shore avenue. They were arrested Saturday by the Albany Park police, who said the pair confessed robbing fifty garages and gasoline stations.

NEW DEAL DRIVE WILL CONTINUE, SAYS PRESIDENT

Defends His Policies in North Carolina Talk.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

Chapel Hill, N. C., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's address at the University of North Carolina here today follows:

"The late Justice Cardozo of the Supreme court wrote a few years ago:

"'We live in a world of change. If a body of law were in existence adequate for the civilization of today it could not meet the demands of tomorrow. Society is inconstant. So long as it is inconstant . . . there can be no constancy in law. . . . Law defines a relation not always between fixed points but often between points of varying position. . . . There is change whether we will it or not.'

"It is recognition of this philosophy that has made the University of North Carolina representative of liberal teaching. And it is my recognition of your recognition of that philosophy that brings me so willingly to Chapel Hill today.

Recalls Earlier Visit.

"It is a far cry from the days of my first visit to the university, nearly a quarter of a century ago. I came then because my old chief—that great North Carolina liberal, Josephus Daniels—told me I should see for myself a great institution of learning which was thinking and acting in terms of today and tomorrow and not in the tradition of yesterday.

"In those days the leadership of the nation was in the hands of a great President who was seeking to recover for our social system ground which had been lost under his conservative predecessor, and to restore something of the fighting liberal spirit which the nation had gained under Theodore Roosevelt.

"It seemed one of our national tragedies that just when Woodrow Wilson was beginning to accomplish definite improvements in the living standards of America the world war not only interrupted his course but laid the foundation for twelve years of retrogression.

Points to the 1920s.

"I say this advisedly because it is not progress but the reverse when a nation goes through the madness of the twenties, piling up paper profits, hatching all manner of speculations, and coming inevitably to the day when the bubble bursts.

"It is only the unthinking liberals in this world who see nothing but tragedy in the slowing up or temporary stopping of liberal progress.

"It is only the unthinking conservatives who rejoice when a social or economic reform fails to be 100 per cent successful.

"It is only the 'headline' mentality that exaggerates or distorts the true objectives of those in this nation, whether they be the president of the University of North Carolina or the President of the United States, who, with Mr. Justice Cardozo, admit the fact of change and seek to guide change into the right channels to the greater glory of God and the greater good of mankind.

Calls Self Mild Mannered.

"You undergraduates who see me for the first time have read in your newspapers and heard on the air that I am, at the very least, an ogre—a consorter with communists, a destroyer of the rich, a breaker of our ancient traditions. You think of me perhaps as the inventor of the economic royalist, of the wicked utilities, of the money changers of the temple. You have heard for six years that I was about to plunge the nation into war, that you and your little brothers would be sent to the bloody fields of battle in Europe, that I was driving the nation into bankruptcy, and that I breakfasted every morning on a dish of 'grilled millionaire.'

"Actually I am an exceedingly mild mannered person—a practitioner of peace, both domestic and foreign, a believer in the capitalistic system, and for my breakfast a devotee of scrambled eggs.

"You have read that as a result of balloting last November the liberal forces in the United States are on their way to the cemetery—yet I ask you to remember that liberal forces in the United States have often been killed and buried—with the inevitable result that in short order they have come to life again with more strength than they had before.

"It is also true that other men in public life have protested against certain forms of economic control and that epithets far stronger than any I have used have been employed even by Presidents of the United States. Those of us who knew Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt and Grover Cleveland could hardly call them mollycoddles.

"I was reading a letter of Theodore Roosevelt the other day, written to a friend in the spring of 1908, and it will, I think, interest and amuse you if I quote from it.

Quotes Theodore Roosevelt.

"He was writing to a man who was fighting for social and political decency on the Pacific coast. He said:

"'Now and then you must feel downhearted when you see men guilty of the most atrocious crimes who, from some cause or other, succeed in escaping punishment, and especially when you see . . . men of wealth, of high business, and in a sense of high social standing, banded together against you. My dear sir, I want you to feel that your experience is simply the experience of all of us who are engaged in this fight.

"'There is no form of slander and wicked falsehood in which the New York papers, not only those representing the lowest type of demagogy, but those representing the interests that call themselves preëminently conservative, preëminently cultured, have not indulged in as regards myself. From all I can gather, the feeling against me, not only in Wall street, not only in the business houses of the greatest financiers of New York, but also in most of the uptown clubs. . . . It is just in these places that the feeling against me has been most bitter.

"'As a matter of fact, I do not care a snap of my fingers about it. I do not care whether they think well of me or think ill of me. But I do care a very great deal to do this work without flinching, on the one hand, and on the other hand without becoming angered and irritated to a degree that will in any way cause me to lose my head.

"'Now, so it is with you and your associates. You must keep reasonably good natured; but above all things you must not lose heart; and you must battle on valiantly, no matter what the biggest business men may say, no matter what the mob may say, no matter what may be said by that element which chooses to regard itself as socially the highest element. You are in a fight for plain decency, for the plain democracy of the plain people who believe in honesty and in fair dealing between man and man. Do not get disheartened; and keep up the fight.'

Analyzes Letter's Points.

"Theodore Roosevelt, born of an old New York family, southern on his mother's side, trained as a young man on our western frontiers, was perhaps the first American President in modern times who knew the whole nation.

"In the letter which I have read, and with this national background, it seems to me what he said in effect was, first, that the American people have, and must have, a definite objective for the improvement of government, for the improvement of social and economic conditions; second, that these objectives must be carried out by definite action, and, third, that in the attaining of them the President and the government and the people as a whole must have two essential qualities—first, a sense of proportion and perspective, and, second, good will and a sense of humor.

"Almost every crisis of our history since 1789 has become a crisis because of a lack on the part of leaders or on the part of the people themselves, or both, of some of these essentials.

Traces History of Party.

"The very birth of the Democratic party, at a time when President Washington publicly expressed the hope that the nation could be run without parties, was due to the simple fact that the government itself was dominated by the great commercial and shipping interests of the seaboard, and failed to give recognition to the needs and the desires of the masses of the inhabitants of the original thirteen states who did not subscribe to the theory that birth, wealth, or political position could give to the possessors of these qualifications the sole right to govern. Hence the Democratic party.

"A generation later a government dominated by the other extreme—the plainer people from the back country, from the Piedmont and the slopes of the Alleghanies, paying scant attention to the ship owners of the seaboard, drove our nation into the second war against Great Britain. And here in the south it is worth remembering that the first suggestion of secession from the Union was proposed by delegates from the New England states in the Hartford convention in 1814.

Cites Lack of Tolerance.

"In both cases tolerance and the national point of view were absent. Another generation went by and it was the same lack of tolerance, the same lack of a national point of view which brought about a war which was not inevitable—the war between the states.

"The scene changed and the nation was confronted not by a sectional difference but by a struggle for economic and social control—a period which saw the control of our national government by groups of individuals, who, owning their government through owning vast financial power, used the plea of development of our national resources that they might feather their own nests.

"In the lifetime of people who are still with us there were men whom we must admit had courage and vision, who pushed railroads across the plains, opened mines, dammed rivers, created vast aggregations of capital, and left in their wake vast aggregations of national and state and local political power.

Glorious Days in Sense.

"In a sense those were glorious days because the wide open spaces were open to those native Americans and those who were flocking hither from the centers of Europe to find work in new fields.

"A current author emphasizes the perfection of life that surrounded our population half a century ago. He draws a picture of the complete lack of any restraints on any individual and infers that every American of those days, no matter what part of the country he or she lived in, lived in a Utopia of work and play to which we should seek an immediate return.

"A few weeks ago in Georgia I talked with an old friend whom I have known for ten years. He was what might be called an old-fashioned southern conservative. We got to 'reminiscing' about the old days when I first lived in Georgia.

"He reminded me of the days when cotton was selling at 5 cents a pound, and, while he admitted that the ramifications of our federal legislation, and especially of court decisions during the past six years, were somewhat beyond him, he allowed that some principle of crop control—cotton and tobacco—decided on by a majority of the farmers themselves, was the most democratic way to prevent the return of 5 cent cotton.

"He reminded me of two little banks in Warm Springs, Ga.—banks in which many thousands of dollars of local savings had been deposited—of the failure of both of these banks and the loss of the savings—and of the fact today that deposits in the banks of the United States are safe, and, he remarked, 'I hope that that type of liberal legislation will not be repealed.'

"He reminded me of the white men and Negroes who never saw, as the heads of families, $100 in cash the whole year round. He reminded me of the days in 1932 when the states of the Union were going broke and losing their credit because the whole burden of the relief of the starving was placed on their shoulders without the contribution of one dollar from the federal government.

"He reminded me of the complete lack of any social security program—of the days when a home builder was charged 15 and 20 per cent to borrow the money to build his house—of the days when slum clearance was a beautiful ideal on paper and nowhere else.

Looks to Nation's Youth.

"And when he left he said—'Young man, I don't know the United States the way you do, but I know this section of the nation pretty well. I don't understand the actual working out of all these new fangled things that the government has been starting in these last six years. But I know this section of the country and I want to tell you that there is a new spirit abroad in the land. I am not talking just about the fact that there is more buying power, that houses are painted that were never painted before, that our banks are safe, that our roads and schools are better. What I am talking about is that all of our young people in my section of the country think that we are 'going places.'

"Those two words, 'going places,' seem to be an essential in modern civilization.

"They represent the conviction on the part of the young people of America that life never remains static; that there are better days ahead than ever before; that an opportunity to find a way of life, to earn a living, to raise a family in comfort and security are better today and will be better tomorrow.

"There may be those in the world who believe that a regimented people, whose every thought and action is directed by one man, may give some people a type of security which is pleasing to them. But whatever convictions I have, none is stronger than my abiding belief that the security and well-being of the American people can best be served by the democratic processes which have made this country strong and great.

"The future, however, rests not on chance alone, not on mere conservatism, mere smugness, mere fatalism, but on the affirmative action which we take in America. What America does or fails to do in the next few years has a far greater bearing and influence on the history of the human race for centuries to come than most of us who are here today can ever conceive.

"We are not only the largest and most powerful democracy in the whole world, but many other democracies look to us for leadership that world democracy may survive.

"I am speaking not of the external policies of the United States. They are exerted on the side of peace and they are exerted more strongly than ever before toward the self-preservation of democracies through the assurance of peace.

"What I would emphasize is the maintenance of successful democracy at home. Necessarily democratic methods within a nation's life entail change—the kind of change through legal processes described by Mr. Justice Cardozo—the kind of change to meet new social and economic needs through recognized processes of government.

"Because we live in an era of acceleration, we can no longer trust to the evolution of future decades to meet these new problems. They rise before us today and they must be met today.

"That is why the younger generation means so much in our current affairs. They are part of the picture in their twenties without having to wait until they have passed middle age.

"That is why I myself associate myself so greatly with the younger generation.

"That is why I am happy and proud to become an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, typifying as it does American liberal thought through American action."

Assails La Follette

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Governor Elect Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin (left) and T. D. Webb, vice chairman of the home loan bank board with whom he conferred in Washington yesterday.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Governor Elect Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin departed for home tonight after a parting shot at Gov. Phil F. La Follette. He said it was his opinion La Follette wanted the state to "pay in some way" for overtime work by the governor's executive staf during the campaign and that is why La Follette ordered pay increases for about twenty members of his executive staf.

"I suppose he didn't pay them as campaign workers," Heil added.

Heil conferred at length today with Chairman John J. Fahey and other members of the Federal Home Loan bank board on an insurance program for state-chartered Wisconsin building and loan associations. The law requires insurance of deposits up to $5,000 in federally chartered institutions.

JUDGE'S BANK ACCOUNT AND 3 OTHERS TIED UP IN JOSEPH ESTATE SUIT

Under a garnishment order issued yesterday by the Municipal court, the bank accounts of Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher and three other persons were tied up. The others are Harry Joseph, former president of the west parks board; his brother, Samuel, and Mrs. Kate Joseph, widow of Morris Joseph, a third brother.

Morris Joseph died in 1928, leaving an estate estimated at $1,500,000. Mrs. Joseph, Judge Fisher, and Samuel Joseph were appointed co-executors. Much of the value of the estate was destroyed by the 1929 market crash, and the executors had no funds to pay a mortgage due the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company.

Judge Fisher said the four then signed a note for the amount due, expecting improvement in the market would make the estate solvent. However, the payment was not made and the company obtained a judgment for $27,062 in February, 1936. The garnishment order was based on this judgment. The banks are to report next Monday to Judge Thomas A. Green on the state of the accounts. A hearing is then to be held on the company's petition for an attachment of the funds.

DOG HELPS SAVE 30 COWS FROM BURNING BARN

Thirty-six cows were endangered yesterday when fire attacked a barn on the farm of De Goy B. Ellis near Huntley in McHenry county. The animals refused for a time to leave their stalls. Then a dog named Fritz, which herds the animals in the fields, went into action. He nipped heels and barked and forced all but six to leave the barn. Damage to the structure and contents was estimated at $20,000.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach often pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in no time and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

NAZI INFLUENCE GOADS BALKANS TO WAR ON JEWS

Anti-Semitism Sold Along with German Goods.

(Here is the first of a series of three dispatches by The Tribune's chief correspondent in Paris. He has been making a tour of the Balkan nations to study the penetration of Hitlerism.)

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE FRANCO-SWISS FRONTIER, Dec. 5.—Looking over his scattered impressions the traveler returns from the lands to the south and southeast of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's Germany and discovers with some surprise that they fall pretty much into the same pattern.

For instance there is obsessive frequency with which the anti-Semitic issue crops up in every conversation whether it is in Belgrade, Budapest, Rome, or Zurich. In Budapest, the press official in one of the Hungarian ministries greeted me, when I called, with the unexpected question:

"Is it because President Roosevelt is in the hands of Jewish bankers that he is so anti-German?"

Genesis of Nazi Influence.

In Belgrade, Jugo-Slavia, another official suddenly interrupted a technical exposé of German economic penetration in the Balkans to explain why he thought England had betrayed European civilization by setting up a Jewish state in Palestine.

Other persons, including officials with whom I talked in Hungary and Jugo-Slavia, said on the contrary there was no popular anti-Semitism in these countries and that the anti-Jewish legislation of the government of Premier Bela Imredi in Hungary and the beginning of anti-Jewish agitation in Jugo-Slavia were due entirely to Nazi influence.

In a leading newspaper of one capital, which I had better not name, I saw an interesting example of how anti-Semitic propaganda works. The business manager of the paper came into the office of one of the editors while I was talking with him and requested him to run a certain piece of copy which he handed him.

Propaganda in Business.

When he had gone my friend showed me the copy. It was the translation of an anti-Semitic article from a German paper which had been sent by one of the numerous disguised German propaganda services which exists for that purpose.

The paper's business manager doubtless had found business reasons for publishing it. As the paper happened to be the official organ of the government in that country, it carried particular weight. Later, I learned that German houses when placing orders abroad frequently intimate that evidence of anti-Semitic feeling on the part of the prospective clients may help to close the deal.

Thanks to these methods, anti-Semitism is appearing in parts of Europe where it never existed before and growing stronger where it did exist, as in Hungary.

Disapprove of Nazi Method.

Most intelligent Hungarians with whom I talked, unless they were Jews themselves, spoke somewhat contemptuously of the Jewish race, but expressed violent disapproval of the German brand of anti-Semitism.

Some, horrified by the latest outbursts in Germany, disapproved on moral grounds; others on purely business grounds, saying that even the relatively mild anti-Jewish legislation of the Imredi government was going to wreck Hungary financially because of the importance of the Jews in Hungarian business life.

In Rome where I flew from Budapest on the news that Pope Pius was critically ill, I found the Semitic question being hotly discussed.

Turn Blasts on Americans.

Official sentiment as reflected in the press was even more strongly anti-Semitic than I had imagined. The popularity of Americans in Rome had reached a record low—because of the stand of the American government on this question—the night I arrived in Rome and attended the traditional farewell dinner given by American correspondents for one of their colleagues who was leaving Italy in the morning by official request.

Well informed foreigners in Rome agreed that there was considerable opposition to anti-Semitism in Italy coming from strongly Catholic and middle class elements. This seemed to be confirmed by no less an authority than Roberto Farinacci, member of the Fascist grand council, himself, because the day I arrived he had published in the Régime Fascista a denunciation of "pietisimo"—usually translated as passion—as an un-Fascist virtue.

Many Italians seemed to associate anti-Semitism in their minds with the famous "passo Romano"—Italian for goosestep—the compulsory wearing of military uniforms in government offices and other unpopular Teutonic importations.

In this their reactions were somewhat similar to that manifested by many Serbs at Prime Minister Milan Stoyadinovitch's cautious but unmistakable preparations for installing a modified form of Fascism in Jugo-Slavia after he has won the elections of Dec. 11.

The Serbs, I gather, did not mind the government having dead men vote in elections and occasionally making dead men out of those who voted the wrong way—that's just the Balkan idea of politics—but they were attached to the idea of elections because they loved politics even on the receiving end. Maybe they would even reconcile themselves to an avowed dictatorship and for more elections if only it could be done without shirts.

Vodja—a New Fuehrer.

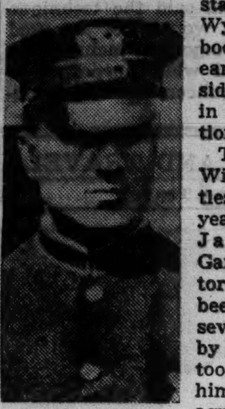
But Stoyadinovitch has started dressing up his followers in green shirts—another group wears blue ones—and they give the Fascist salute and address him as Vodja, which is the Slavic equivalent for Fuehrer. The Serbs loathe these frills with the made-in-Germany label obviously sticking on them and I am told that the most damaging electoral argument of the opposition is simply to publish all available pictures of Stoyadinovitch's militia in their green shirts.

I encountered this sentiment among Serbs who have a great admiration for Stoyadinovitch, think he is absolutely right in his major policies, and who picture him as a kind of Balkan Hoover, only lucky, but still can't swallow those shirts and the foreign influences they symbolize.

SUSPECT HELD IN RIDE KILLING OF GARY PEACE OFFICER: DENIES GUILT



Andrew Wytow.

Gary's police yesterday arrested a man suspected of the slaying of Constable Andrew Wytow, whose body was found early Sunday beside a lonely road in the dunes section of Gary.

The suspect is William H. Suttles, colored, 44 years old, of 1641 Jackson street, Gary. Investigators said he had been arrested several days ago by Wytow, who took a pistol from him. Wytow later agreed to return the weapon and was to have met Suttles in Gary Saturday night.

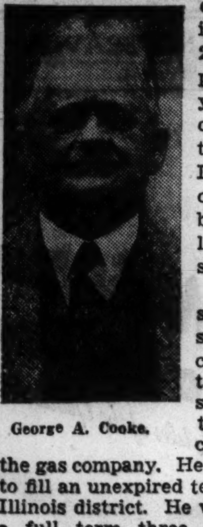
Suttles said he had failed to meet Wytow and knew nothing of the slaying. Wytow was shot to death with a .45 caliber pistol. The one he had taken from Suttles was a .32 caliber.

HUNT ROOMMATE TO RIP VEIL FROM DEATH MYSTERY

Investigators for the coroner's office yesterday continued their efforts to dispel the mystery about the death of Mrs. Jacqueline Kinder. She died last Tuesday in her apartment at 10 West Elm street, supposedly of an overdose of sleeping medicine.

Still being sought was Miss Judith Delman, who shared the apartment. Investigators said they wanted to question her about furs, said to be worth nearly $5,000, that were taken from the place; also about a quarrel which Mrs. Kinder is believed to have had with a man a short time before her death. Miss Delman disappeared after displaying a note which ordered that the dead woman's property all be turned over to her.

GEORGE A. COOKE, EX-CHIEF JUSTICE OF ILLINOIS, DIES



George A. Cooke.

George Anderson Cooke, former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme court, died suddenly early today in his home at 233 East Walton place. He was 69 years old. He was chief counsel for the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. He had been practicing law in Chicago since 1918.

Judge Cooke served on the state Supreme court from 1909 to 1918. He resigned in the latter year to become counsel for the gas company. He was first elected to fill an unexpired term from the 4th Illinois district. He was reëlected for a full term three years later. He served as chief justice in 1913 and 1914.

He was born in New Athens, O., but moved to Illinois in his youth. He practiced law in Aledo, Ill., for a number of years. In 1902 he was elected to the Illinois house of representatives from the 33d district. He served two terms. His wife, the former Sarah Blee, was from Aledo. She died in 1932. Judge Cooke is survived by two sons, George B. and Thomas B. Cooke, and two daughters, Mrs. Robert P. McBride and Mrs. Claude E. Canning.

SEIZE PAROLEE AS HE SETS OUT TO SHOOT FORMER GIRL FRIEND

John Goryl.

John Goryl, 23 years old, a paroled convict, who was arrested early yesterday as he sat heavily armed in a stolen automobile at 93d street and Ashland avenue, will be arraigned in the detective bureau showup tonight. Following his arrest he told police he was waiting to kill Miss Stella Marszalek, 21 years old, 2524 West 45th place, because she had refused to see him since his release on parole.

Miss Marszalek, a maid in the home of Dr. Frank Fraider, a physician, at 9301 Throop street, caused Goryl's arrest last May on a charge of annoying her.

When the police seized him yesterday he was wearing a woman's wig. He said he bought the wig in order to follow Miss Marszalek without detection. Goryl was sent to Pontiac in May, 1935, for auto thefts, and was paroled in July, 1937. He lives at 5214 South Troy street.

Reports of Quiz on Police Eligibility List Denied

Reports of an investigation of the recent posting of the police eligibility list were denied yesterday by First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley, officials of the civil service commission, and Commissioner Allman.

PEN IN HAND

By CALEB

IN MANY a family circle there is at least one member who always writes good letters. Chatty, amiable, leavened with happenings of the day, grave with perplexity or gay with banter—reading them aloud at dinner you exclaim: "It's just as if Betty, or Tom, were sitting here talking to us, isn't it?"

And in that exclamation lies the secret of it all. Betty—or Tom—has taken pen in hand, not as you or I, self-conscious, stagestruck, wondering what to say, but just dashing off headlong with the first thought to hand. And lo!—at the end, a Letter as alive as the person who inscribed it.

If you want to know how letters can make a man or woman live again beyond the powers of any biographer, however brilliant, glance among the city library shelves for the correspondence of our great writers. Madame de Stael, Mark Twain, Byron, Stevenson, Meredith, Lord Chesterfield, Charles Lamb, Kipling, Conrad—so vividly do they reveal their real selves in these private missives, that rereading them makes us as much their friends as those to whom they were originally addressed.

Love letters? Discover how beautifully the tender passion can be interpreted, by spending an evening with Hawthorne's epistles to Sophia Peabody; or the glowing interchanges between Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett. Friendship letters? Scan the rare and remarkable pages that record the attachment of Emerson and Carlyle over several decades.

"But there are no letters like these today!" you say. And of course you are right. The leisure, the occasions, the interests, that produced the master letters of yesterday no longer exist. For every Tom or Betty whose close-packed sheets are equivalent to their actual presence at our table, there are a thousand Neds and Helens whom one is fortunate to hear from by postcard twice a year. And then only to read: "Everybody well. Busy. Hope you are all O. K. Write. Yours."

Well, perhaps that's as it should be. Long-distance, a telegraph blank, are always in elbow-reach. And for emergencies, a plane reaches any bedside overnight. But for the more thoughtful of our readers who would really like to take pen in hand oftener, and do themselves justice as living correspondents—"if I only knew what to write"—there's a recipe for any sort of personal missive that to my mind is unbeatable. It's simply the formula I once heard expressed as the Frenchman's idea of a good love-letter. "Begin without knowing what you're going to say, and end without knowing what you have said."

ELECTION VICTORS TAKE OFFICE IN FLORAL SETTINGS

New Sherif and Treasurer Appoint Aids.

County officials and municipal judges chosen at the last election were inducted into office yesterday with colorful ceremonies in flower banked courtrooms and offices. Most of them had been reëlected and had no staf changes to make.

The new sherif, Thomas J. O'Brien, announced that he would retain Lester J. Laird as chief of the county highway police. He also named James C. Denvir as assistant sherif and State Senator John M. Lee [11th] chief deputy.

Toman Names Attorney.

John Toman, who retired as sherif to become county treasurer, appointed Arthur A. Sullivan as attorney. The new treasurer confirmed reports that he would appoint Andrew J. Kolar Jr. as assistant treasurer. He named his former assistant sherif, William Milota, as administrative assistant.

Toman retained his predecessor's auditor, George Hagenauer, and chief clerk, William J. Lake. Miss Olive Flannigan remains Toman's secretary.

Gets 32 Million Check.

The retiring treasurer, Horace G. Lindheimer, turned over to Toman $31,634,371 in county funds.

President Clayton F. Smith and fourteen members of the county board took office. There were three new faces among them—George F. Nixon, Peter Fosco, and Edward Sneed.

Among the others who took office in the county building are Assessor John S. Clark, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, and Clerk Mitchell C. Robin of the Probate court, all of whom succeeded themselves. Emmett Whealan and Paul Drymalski succeeded themselves as members of the board of tax appeals.

Mayor Kelly, Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, and George M. Cohan were among those present when Thomas J. Bowler began another term as clerk of the Criminal court. Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley administered the oath.

Predicts Kelly Reëlection.

Bowler lauded Mayor Kelly as the best mayor Chicago ever had and predicted his reëlection.

In the city hall, Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby administered the oath of office to five new municipal court judges: Edward P. Luczak, William V. Daly, Frank E. Donoghue, Victor A. Kula, and Mason S. Sullivan.

Three of those reëlected chose to begin their new terms without formal ceremonies. They were John F. O'Connell, judge of the Probate court; Sheldon W. Govier, clerk of the Appellate court, and Judge Lambert K. Hayes of the Municipal court.

COURT IMPOUNDS VOTES CAST FOR IOWA SENATOR

Vinton, Ia., Dec. 5.—(AP)—L. J. Dickinson, unsuccessful Republican candidate for the United States senate, obtained a temporary injunction in District court today directing the Beton county auditor "not to unlock voting machines" and "to preserve all other records of the election pending an investigation to determine whether errors have been made."

J. H. Milroy, Republican state chairman, who filed the petition for Dickinson, said similar actions will be started in twenty-three other counties.

Milroy said the Dickinson action does not necessarily mean he would contest the victory of Senator Guy M. Gillette, a Democrat, who was declared elected by 2,800 votes.

Dickinson's petition said, however, that if his investigation warants he will "commence and prosecute before the United States senate a contest for the office of senator from Iowa."

FATHER ARRIVES BUT SON d'ORSAY DOESN'T SEE HIM

Sarasota, Fla., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Potter d'Orsay Palmer's bride of three days, the former Pulma Louise Lowery Abatiello, who worked as a waitress before their marriage, said today her husband had not seen his father, Honore Palmer, who arrived here Saturday. Young Palmer's wife said he did not wish to comment further on the possibility that he might be disinherited. He declined to come to the telephone.

Attorneys here said young Palmer cannot be disinherited under terms of the will of his late grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Palmer. Mrs. Bertha Palmer, wealthy Chicago social leader, willed the majority of her estate to her two sons, Honore and Potter. The will provided that upon the death of the sons half their portion of the estate should go to the widows and the remaining half to the surviving sons. D'Orsay is the only surviving son of Honore. Thus d'Orsay eventually will inherit one-fourth of his grandmother's fortune, said to total upwards of $40,000,000.

Circus Hippopotamus Dies in His Tank of Pneumonia

Peru, Ind., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Victor, a hippopotamus, owned by the Ringling Brothers circus and valued at $7,000, was found dead in his tank today. A veterinarian said pneumonia was the cause of death. Victor was 25 years old.

JAPS HALT FUEL; HANKOW WITHOUT POWER AND HEAT

Hospitals Forced to Put Off Operations.

HANKOW, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Hankow became a city without electric lights and heat, and even its emergency water service was restricted tonight as the coal supplies of the British Electricity company were exhausted. The shutting down of the power plant forced hospitals to postpone operations.

Hankow fell to the Japanese invaders on Oct. 25 and a month later the British sought their aid to replenish the plant's fuel supply.

The supply ran out tonight. There are ample fuel reserves in bunkers and vessels on the Yangtze, but the British failed to overcome Japanese obstacles and a derth of labor prevented them from getting sufficient coal to keep generators working. Hankow has a population of more than 400,000 persons.

10,000 Homeless After Raid.

KWEILIN, Kwangsi Province, China, Dec. 4 [Delayed.].—(AP)—This southern province was offered a share in "the peace of East Asia" today by Japanese propoganda leaflets dropped from the air after a Japanese air raid Saturday destroyed a section of Kweilin a half mile square.

An estimated 10,000 persons were homeless as the result of the devastating raid. The propaganda leaflets said Kweilin, a city of 150,000 in northeast Kwangsi, was being punished because the province continued to aid Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in resisting the Japanese. Invasion of Kwangsi was threatened unless support was withdrawn from Chiang.

Fires raged after the Japanese air raid. Kweilin residents clustered on surrounding hilltops to watch and seek refuge. Kweilin is surrounded by extensive natural caves, one of them a half mile long, which could provide shelter for 60,000 persons.

Report Port Is Shelled.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Chinese reports today declared Japanese warships massed in the Gulf of Tongking were shelling Pakhoi, seventy miles east of the French Indo-China border, possibly presaging a new Japanese landing in South China. Chinese authorities ordered the evacuation of Pakhoi and nearby Luaichow.

Invasion of Kwangsi province, lying between Canton and the French colony, is expected by Chinese military authorities who believe the Japanese thus will attempt to outflank China's defense forces. Pakhoi is 125 miles south of Nanning, the capital of Kwangsi, and is that province's rail outlet to the sea.

Severe fighting occurred today in the West river region [west of Canton], which is expected to be the route of an overland attack on Kwangsi. The first important city along that route is Wuchow, just within the Kwangsi border.

Coal supplies were exhausted yesterday and Hankow (1) was deprived of electric power and heat. Kweilin (2) surveyed the damage of a Japanese air raid with 10,000 homeless. Japanese forces fought westward from Canton (3) and Japanese warships were reported shelling the port of Pakhoi (4).

NEW TREASURER OF WILL COUNTY CHARGES DEFICITS

James C. Bell, who took office as Will county treasurer yesterday, refused to give a receipt for $80,000 held by his predecessor, Conrad J. Wirth. Bell said there was a technical deficit of $39,075 in the general fund and one of $15,658 in the blind pension fund.

Lake county's government at Waukegan became 100 per cent Republican again when Jay B. Morse succeeded Clerk Russ Alford, the only Democrat ever to hold county office there. Others inducted were Thomas E. Kennedy, sherif; Perry L. Persons, county judge; Martin C. Decker, Probate judge; Garfield R. Leaf, treasurer; Allen J. Nelson, clerk of the Probate court, and William C. Petty, superintendent of schools.

Inductions were held meanwhile in all other counties of the state. Ninety-nine Republicans displaced Democrats, while Democrats displaced only twenty Republicans.

U. S. COMMISSION DROPS ACTION ON MARS BROADCAST

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—(AP)—The communications commission has decided to take no action on complaints that the Orson Welles broadcast of Oct. 30 caused many radio listeners to believe that men from Mars were invading the United States.

The commission said today that it believed steps already taken by the Columbia Broadcasting company are sufficient to protect the public interest.

"While it is regrettable that the broadcast alarmed a substantial number of people," the commission said, "there appeared to be no likelihood of a repetition of the incident and no occasion for action by the commission."

W. B. Lewis, vice president of Columbia, had expressed regret for the incident and said the technique employed in it would not be used again. His arrangement included the interpolation of what purported to be "news announcements" in a musical program.

URGES A SHOWER BATH FOR SMOKE TO CUT OUT SOOT

Chambers Describes Simple Cleansing Method.

Frank Chambers, head of the city department of smoke inspection and abatement, yesterday described a simple method for removing soot and cinders from smoke stack gases. It has been used successfully in Chicago in several large heating and power plants.

The device consists of a water shower in the stack which washes the gases as they rise to the top. Soot and cinders are drained off at the bottom with the water.

This will not eliminate a smoke nuisance caused by cheap coal. Nor will it correct the basic faults in the plant. But it will prevent a discharge of dirt when the engineer cleans the fire and flues, Chambers said.

Pipe Is Only Expense.

The only expense is the pipe for the shower and its connections with the main water line, and the cost of building an effective drain. A few holes for the water jets must be bored and a shower installed inside the stack about 5 feet above the connection with the main gas flue from the boilers.

The shower can be ordinary pipe bent into a circle with the holes in the inside surface, Chambers said. Or it can be a sprinkler outlet similar to that used for lawns.

Drained Into Basin.

The water laden dirt is drained off into a settling basin. Then the water is drawn off and the dirt kept in the basin until it can be disposed of.

Engineers use the shower only for a few minutes at a time. They keep it going while they blow the soot out of the flues with steam or clean the clinkers out of the firebox.

Heretofore this operation always caused a discharge from the stack. Chambers explained that it was considered one of the necessary evils of fuel burning on a large scale. Such nuisances are not covered in the smoke ordinance because there seemed to be no way to cope with them.

A Wheelbarrow a Day.

But in hotels or large industrial plants an amazing amount of dirt is thrown off into the atmosphere. At the Chicago Beach hotel, 1660 Hyde Park boulevard, a wheelbarrow of dirt is taken each day out of the settling basin.

Plants where showers have been installed include the Illinois Malleable Iron company, 1801 Diversey avenue; the Olson Rug company, 2800 North Pulaski road; the North Side Laundry, 4723 North Western avenue, and the Central Steam Laundry, 315 Grand avenue.

Chambers said Anthony A. Fette, chief engineer of the Cincinnati General hospital, developed this method. Fette tried other ways to reduce air pollution from soot before hitting on the simple shower device. It has been recommended to plant operators here because it is economical and easy to install.

PECORA PUTS OFF SENTENCING 3 IN HINES' GANG CASE

Tammany Judge Keeps Key to Fixer's Second Trial.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Tammany Judge Ferdinand Pecora today postponed the sentencing of three gangsters who pleaded guilty to conspiracy charges in connection with the policy game racket. They had named Tammany Leader James J. [Jimmy] Hines as their political godfather and protector. Today had been set for imposing their sentences.

The fate of the three gang conspirators, including J. Richard [Dixie] Davis, young lawyer known as the "kid mouthpiece" for the Dutch Schultz gang, will be made known on Feb. 27, Judge Pecora announced.

Since the second trial of Hines is scheduled to open on Jan. 9 before General Sessions Judge Charles C. Nott Jr., Pecora will exercise remote control over the Tammany boss' destinies. It is believed the gangster witnesses would be more enthusiastic about telling their stories before Judge Nott if they knew he would observe their performances first hand and pronounce sentences accordingly.

First Case Thrown Out.

Judge Pecora threw out the first trial of Hines on a technicality after the gang trio had told graphic stories of paying the Tammany leader more than $100,000 in underworld profits from the policy game racket in return for the political protection he could guarantee them.

These stories were corroborated at various points by more than forty witnesses, but Pecora declared a mistrial soon after the defense began its case on the ground that District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey had asked a witness a prejudicial question. Such a question could have been ruled upon by a higher court, veteran attorneys pointed out.

Pecora, who had been a Tammany official as an assistant district attorney and an original member of the federal Securities and Exchange commission as an appointee of President Roosevelt, chose to end the trial and criticize the popular young prosecutor.

Politics Enters Trial.

At the time it was widely known that Dewey was planning to run for governor of New York state as the Republican nominee. He was beaten by a narrow margin, which still is in controversy, by the incumbent, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

An echo of the debates during the first Hines trial came today when the three confessed racketeers appeared before Judge Pecora. Besides Davis, these are George Weinberg, payoff man for the Schultz gang, and "Big" Harry Schoenhaus, bookkeeper for the policy racket.

The three confessed racketeers are kept in a secret place on Long Island, in the custody of Dewey's men, for their own protection.

"The court is not in accord with the district attorney's fear for the safety of these prisoners," asserted Pecora. "I think the municipal authorities are fully capable of keeping these men in safety."

Later Pecora said he would "accede" to the wishes of the district attorney.

Outside of court, Sol Gelb, who is handling the case while Dewey is vacationing in Bermuda, was optimistic over the outcome.

"Our case is much stronger and I don't think we will take so long to present it as we did the first time," he told newspaper men. "There's no doubt of a conviction."

GIRL, 11, TELLS JUDGE HER MOTHER'S GREAT; IT WINS DIVORCE SUIT

Mrs. Veronica Harnett received her daughter's enthusiastic approval as a mother yesterday, along with a divorce from Earl E. Harnett. Asked by Judge Philip J. Finnegan if her mother had been a good mother, the daughter, Elaine, 11 years old, replied "And how!"

Elaine lived for 8 years with her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mae Kirkpatrick of 115 Garrison street, Wilmette. When her mother was able to support her, she took Elaine back. The grandmother began a court battle for Elaine. The little girl renounced the offer of a trust fund if she would return to her grandmother, and since has lived with her mother at 7708 Union avenue.

The mother's attorney, Harry X. Cole, told Judge Finnegan yesterday that Harnett had deserted her. The judge ordered Harnett's attorney, Edward Pree, to dismiss a divorce bill Harnett brought at Springfield. Mrs. Harnett was awarded $12 a week support money for Elaine and another child, Robert, five years old.

MUSEUM HEAD DENIES CHARGE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Mrs. Marian V. Gregg of 1104 South Washington street, Park Ridge, has filed suit in the Superior court for divorce from Clifford C. Gregg, director of the Field Museum of Natural History, charging desertion. Mr. Gregg, who resides at the Quadrangle club, 1155 East 57th street, yesterday filed an answer denying the charge.

Mrs. Gregg asked that she be given custody of three sons, Frank, 19 years old; John, 16, and Clifford Jr., 8. Her attorney, Homer V. Johannsen, said a hearing probably would be held in a few days. He indicated there would be no contest and that a property settlement had been arranged.

Mr. Gregg, who is 44 years old, has been a member of the museum staf since 1926. He was appointed director in May, 1937, to succeed Stephen C. Simms, who died. Mrs. Gregg is 41 years old. The couple were married May 18, 1918, and separated July 6, 1937.

SOUTH SIDE HOME LOOTED.

Gerald Klemsmith, 6146 Kenwood avenue, notified Woodlawn police last night that thieves entered his apartment and stole a fur coat, a fur piece, and a radio, totally valued at $395.

A GOOD FELLOW TOTES HIS OWN LOAD OF CHEER

There's a Note Addressed to You at Tribune.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Throughout the far reaches of Chicago the symbolism of Christmas is spreading. The tall light standards of State street have become great holiday candle sticks, wreathed in evergreen. Jolly shoppers throng the loop.

And for the 30th time, the Good Fellow spirit is pervading the city, rekindling the flame in hearts grown cold since last Christmas. It is offering once again the chance to prove that there is a Santa Claus.

Recall First Good Fellow.

It was in 1909 that the first Good Fellow walked into the old editorial rooms of THE TRIBUNE at 1 South Dearborn street. He appeared to be an ordinary man; an unsentimental, practical lawyer. But the spirit of 1,909 Christmases must have walked in with him that December day.

His creed was simple. He wanted to spread good cheer and brotherly love at Christmas time. He wanted to save needy children from the bitter disappointment of the empty stocking on Christmas morning. He wanted to do it anonymously and he believed there were many others like him.

This first Good Fellow wanted to see and know the people he helped. He realized that a cheering smile and a hearty word mean just as much as a basket of good things. It was not until after his death, many years later, that THE TRIBUNE published the name of Edward C. Fitch. Now he has become the symbol of the Good Fellows whose number has doubled and redoubled many times since 1909.

How to Become One.

Here is how you may become a Good Fellow. Write a letter to the Good Fellow Editor, in care of THE TRIBUNE, telling him how many families you can visit on Christmas eve. By return mail you will receive the names and addresses of needy families whose circumstances have been investigated by recognized social workers. You will know these families are worthy.

You will learn a great deal about these people before you ever see them. You will have the names of the children, what they need and what they hope for in the way of toys. Some simple clothing needs may also be listed. And there will be suggestions for making up Christmas baskets of various costs and sizes. You can buy just what you want to buy, spend just what you want to spend, and you will know that it goes to the people you want to have it—because you will take it there yourself on Christmas eve.

Good Fellows Only Need Apply.

And the reward? In the words of the first Good Fellow:

"Neither you nor I get anything out of this except the feeling that we have saved some child from sorrow on Christmas morning. If that is not enough for you, then you have wasted your time in reading this—it is not intended for you, but for the Good Fellows of Chicago."

That was the spirit of the first Good Fellow and it is the spirit of all the Good Fellows that have followed him. Each year THE TRIBUNE musters a vast organization—of which more will be told later—that makes it easy for you to be a Good Fellow. That organization is ready now to receive your letter.

STRIKE SETTLED IN FLINT PLANT OF FISHER BODY

Flint, Mich., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Striking C. I. O. employés of the Fisher Body plant No. 1 tonight approved a settlement announced yesterday by their international officers and voted to return to work tomorrow. Negotiations will be conducted in Detroit concerning a piece work wage dispute that caused the trouble.

The strike, called Friday by the United Automobile Workers, today forced more than 26,000 automobile workers into idleness. A shortage of automobile bodies closed the Buick factory, which has 14,000 employés, and the Pontiac plant, which has some 6,000 workers. The Fisher plant has 6,400 men.

International representatives announced in Detroit Sunday, after a twelve hour conference with General Motors corporation officials, that the strike was settled and the men would return to work today. However, the strikers refused to go back to their jobs until terms of the settlement had been presented to them and they had voted in a body on the terms.

Trading in live stock was resumed yesterday in the Chicago stockyards, shut down since Nov. 21 by a strike of C. I. O. union stock handlers. Although farmers had short notice of the reopening, supplies were ample.

MONOPOLY INQUIRY BEGINS.

The United States commissioner of labor statistics is the official whose function it is to direct the compilation of reports dealing with conditions relating to labor. Appearing last week before the federal commission investigating monopolies, the present commissioner, Dr. Isidor Lubin, presented many figures and graphs. In a full day on the stand Dr. Lubin developed the idea that it was quite a depression we have been having. He found that if the good times we used to have hadn't been interrupted the American people would be richer by 120 billions. He brought out that more than half the families have incomes of $1,200 a year or less.

This is interesting statistical information. It is a sad state of affairs, but what has this to do with the work of the committee, before which Lubin appeared? The committee was supposed to be investigating industrial monopolies.

Maybe other witnesses who are to appear before the committee will clear up the mystery. We suspect that the commissioner's testimony is part of a plan to blame the monopolies for the depression and all the resultant loss of national income.

Lubin's proposal to increase incomes by more public spending bears the mark of the same kind of reasoning. It was the same alibi for the business collapse offered recently by several persons on the committee conducting the investigation.

The New Dealers are not going to get away with this, for the truth is not in their allegation. Several well respected economists whose impartiality is not open to question have reported findings directly to the contrary. For example, Dr. Sumner Slichter of Harvard university reported to the American Academy of Political Science that in the interval between May 1936 and April 1937 the prices paid by consumers advanced only 5.4 per cent. While this small increase was taking place nonagricultural labor income rose by 16 per cent and farm income by 25 per cent.

With incomes rising 3 to 5 times as much as prices in 1936 and 1937, it cannot be successfully maintained that the decline following the middle of 1937 came because incomes lagged. The decline of 1937 came because people did not use their incomes fast enough to keep inventories from piling up. The fears which led people to save extraordinary portions of their incomes may have been due to an unhealthy use of economic power, not by business, but by the Washington burocracy, which is now apparently trying in this investigation to shift the blame to others.

JIMMIE'S IN THE MOVIES.

The many friends of Jimmie Roosevelt will be glad to learn that this hustling young man has made good again. Jimmie went from insurance, in which his success was remarkable, to become one of his father's secretaries, giving up a lucrative and promising career in Boston to serve in the White House. His illness interrupted his staf work for his father and his participation in the White House manipulation of primaries and elections. Upon his recovery he took leave, supposed to be temporary, of the secretarial job and went west.

It is now announced that James has entered the moving picture business as vice president of Sam Goldwyn, Inc. This business is in trouble with the government again. Mr. Jackson and Mr. Arnold of the department of justice are after it and it has a top place on the list of monopolies to be liquidated or brought under New Deal burocratic control.

Hollywood has primitive instincts. Long ago, when it was more afraid of censorship than it is now, it hired Will Hays, former Republican postmaster general and head of the Republican national organization, to square it with authorities who otherwise might get rough. Mr. Hays was supposed to be a well qualified trouble shooter and also endowed with a recognized reputability as a family man to lead the timid movie producers through any witch wood of political frightfulness.

The new troubles may prove to be a bit out of Mr. Hays' line. He can defend the purity of the movies, but when the New Deal department of justice gets after them as corporations controled by the cold blooded few he is passé. Elliott Roosevelt went into radio, which also is exposed to governmental interference, and Jimmie goes into the movies. The simple minded people of Hollywood would naturally think that in trouble the thing to do was to hire somebody who had influence where it counts most. They no doubt believe that in signing Jimmie up they have bought a piece of the New Deal and will have an advocate who can talk in the White House.

Apparently it isn't the simplest thing in the world to be a member of the White House family. A scrupulous regard for the finest political proprieties would restrain the members from any appearance which possibly could carry a suspicion of undue influence through family connections. It might be hard to make decisions based upon such sensitiveness, but a Spartan regard for ethics would accept the sacrifices. No self-denying ordinance has been given much consideration for the last four or five years. The members of the President's family have gravitated to lucrative positions where the inference would be that the value of the services would be in part political. That inference in the case of James and the movie business is unescapable.

The family has never denied itself any opportunity to use the byproducts of public life. If Jimmie doesn't know why he is in the movies Hollywood does.

PAROLE: THEORY AND FACT.

The parole system is supposed to be a means of mitigating the harshness and rigidity of criminal laws and providing for the salvaging of offenders disposed to reform. Its advocacy bears down heavily on the humane need for giving the young first offender a new start under more favorable conditions. A page of portraits of thirty-two beneficiaries of Illinois parole just returned to prison throws some light upon the actual operation of the system from this point of view.

The youngest parolees in the group are 26 years old, one is 27, three are 28, three are 29, six are 30, two are 32, one is 33, two are 34, two are 35, two are 37, one is 38, one is 40, one is 41, one is 42, one is 44, one is 45, one is 48, and one is 63.

So much for youth. As to first offenses, all had been paroled at least once before, six had been paroled twice before. The offenses of which these parolees have been convicted include larceny, robbery, burglary, and murder. The criminal records go back as far as 1918. Not one is a first offender. All are repeaters.

If parole is supposed to be granted upon a scientific estimate of the probability of reform, the predictions are shown strikingly faulty in these specimens, and the news of the day repeatedly records failures worse than any in this list. Parolees commit some of the most atrocious crimes. According to the crime commission estimate over half our crimes are committed by paroled convicts. As Mr. Loesch says: "Criminals are not reformed by parole. We know the gunman will return to his gun and the burglar to his breaking and entering of our homes." Parole has favored the worst type of criminal, the habitual criminal with a pull. It is the great resource of the alliance of organized criminality and corrupt politics, and the people of Illinois have tolerated it too long. The professional humanitarian, the lawyer criminal, the crooked politician have opposed every effort to deal competently with this public menace. It is time to get rid of it.

NEVER FREE.

Whatever may be chargeable against Herr Hitler in the democratic indictment, it must be allowed that he does not conceal from the Germans the chief implication of the totalitarian philosophy or pretend that his measures are merely for emergency. He has just told them that they will never be free, and his previous declarations upon political liberty have prepared them to take this declaration at full value.

Whether they will like it, as he predicts, remains to be seen, but he and his collaborators have certainly organized the most efficient means a planned society could devise to insure that the Germans will never be free. This is true of all the chief new tyrannies and it is an interesting development in modern despotism. They all have seized upon youth and put it in an intensive process of what they call education but is in fact forcing the young mind into a groove and shutting off all knowledge or thinking not acceptable to the dictatorship. There was never anything comparable to this system before the soviet and the example was not lost upon Fascism. It is a crime against humanity and human progress more serious than physical violence.

The freedom of the mind will assert itself against these new repressions, however well organized and powerfully applied. It has struggled toward the light throughout the ages and will outlast every tyranny. But the price the people of the latest despotisms will pay for their compliance will be heavy, and the pity is that even free peoples will have to share its consequences in some measure.

Hitler's assurance that the German people will like their chains has a good deal of probability, but only if Naziism brings substantial compensations in material things. If men love liberty it is also true that they will sell it for a price. It is not too apparent that Naziism can make the bargain seem worth while in the long run.

ITALIAN WHOOPLA.

The vivacious Italian Fascists have been thrown the fresh meat of a row with France. Full of vigor, they have whooped the responsive French into cries of havoc and an international oratorical unpleasantness is going strong with French demonstrations against Italians in Tunis and Corsica.

Dictators must watch the fever chart. If it shows a subsidence the temperature must be raised. No bouncing autocrat can rule with a normal pulse and gentle respiration. The populace must be kept always running to a fire. If it ever had time to brush down its hair and stop gesticulating it might relapse into its natural inertia, tiring of spasms and ferocious accents.

The dictator must have his program of provocations and frenzies. He has his catalog of prejudices, emotions, and hysterias. His stage directors arrange the mob scenes. He appears with the fiery eye and rasping voice. This is Europe's age of hate.

FROM MISSOURI—AND ELSEWHERE.

[Illinois State Journal.]

When Illinois' highway pavements were new, and for many years following the introduction of hard-surfaced roads in this state, we were under the impression that all road hogs came from Missouri. They swarmed to the new roads, straddled the dividing line and took control.

Gradually, the Missouri road hog has disappeared from the picture. Multiplying surfaced roads in Missouri have taught him better manners and we no longer dread the appearance of a Missouri license plate in Illinois. There is now in our minds thorough disassociation of the Missouri auto driver and the Missouri mast-fed razorback.

However, the national road hog is still with us—so much so that folks attending the New York auto show voted him the highways' No. 1 menace. His selfish domination of trafic, it was decided, gives him a nuisance rating above all others. He outranks careless drivers and jaywalking pedestrians, pestiferous horn honkers, and confusion making back seat drivers. He is tops in all that is evil and threatening.

Tagging the road hog, however, doesn't solve the problem he offers. Voting him into company with public enemy No. 1, is simply another form of "cussing him out." We have had plenty of that, in every language and in innumerable dialects. How are we to reform him?

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

EARLY AMERICAN HUMOR.

Dere Readers: I promissed to print the so-called valve handle wheeze if a lot of youse guys voted in favor of it, and 3 or 4 of you said yes, let's here it and try to make us laff. But I can't find the gol-durned thing and I'm in a turrible state of mind. It got snowed under a lot of Xmas pomes and gags about the Jefferson nickel and clippings of comic death notices from rube newspapers on my desk, and although I been digging and digging I just can't find it, that's all. Am I on a spot! I donna what to do. I'm the kind of a guy as always keeps his promisses, but that old valve handle wheeze has gone and walked out on me. I know you're going to be good and sore, but I done my best. The Linemaster.

P. S. I've found it! The old codger had got mixed up in an argument between Duke Bakrak and Snowshoe Al, and one of their wild swings must have put him to sleep. Here it is! This is the valve handle wheeze! You've been reading it all the time I been talking.

Professor Valve Handle Explains.

The above skit is not the true Old English wheeze, jape, or quiddity so much admired by our grandsires, but merely an illustration of its form and method. The primordial provocative of cachinnation, which caused the American pioneers to kick the slats out of their cradles for pure joy, actually dealt with a valve and its handle. But facts are not important; theory and the eternal spirit of humor is what we are searching for in this lecture.

You will note, gentlemen, that here we have a letter, foully misspelled, which cancels its own purpose in a postscript. An article is lost and the writer complains at great length; then he adds a few lines saying that it has been found and his woes are at an end. There is no reason at all for mailing this letter, but the writer does so, thereby betraying himself as a numbskull beyond compare.

Valve handle wheezes are a constant source of amusement to mail clerks in business houses. They come upon letters of this type; the unconscious humor of the incident fills them with high glee and, seeking to share the joke with the world, they mail them to columnists.

The class is dismissed. Our next assignment will be a study of racial backgrounds in standard anecdotes beginning: "There once were two Irishmen, Pat and Mike."

"I'm making the thing that you call Life,"
He whispered with chilling breath.
"And what is the stuff you make it from?"
"The stuff," he said, "is Death."

Haunted Bridges.

There are three covered bridges in Rush county, Ind. One of them, on Indiana 44, recalls this story:

In the 1880s my father had a farm hand named Perry. Once a month he would go to town and return, late at night, somewhat tight. He had to walk over that bridge, which was as black as the Pit and close to a graveyard. The wind howled through it in a ghostly way. Then Perry would pick up a rock and hurl it into the bridge, yelling:

"Get out of there, you blankety-blank so-and-so! I'm coming through!" John M. Shawhan.

CHILDREN WITH RUNNING EARS.

A DISCHARGING ear is always a menace. But what we see is the aftermath of an acute infection, like the waves that lap the shore after the steamboat has passed a bend in the river. At some earlier time—perhaps several months ago—a severe cold, tonsilitis, measles, or scarlet fever set up inflammation which extended to the middle ear. The organisms may have traveled via the Eustachian tubes which lead directly from the throat to this region. Not only is the youngster's resistance lowered by the initial malady but when bacteria reach the delicate structures inside the drum they may find a favorable site for growth.

In the beginning the child complains bitterly of earache. As pus is produced inside the bony chamber [middle ear] it has but two means of escape: by breaking through the barrier or by pushing its way backward down the Eustachian tube. Unfortunately, this latter avenue is usually swollen tightly shut. This means that the drum should be looked at without delay. By means of special instruments the physician can detect bulging if present. Frequently he will feel called upon to make a small incision through this membrane—avoiding injury to the delicate hearing bones—thus allowing the accumulation to flow out. This plan is far safer than to permit the drum to tear because of pressure behind it.

Before the doctor comes pain may be eased by placing a drop of laudanum on a pledget of cotton and inserting it within the canal. Even though it does not penetrate deeply, sufficient absorption will take place to alleviate the distress.

If the temperature falls and drainage is free all will be well and, in many instances, the episode will last but a week or so when all oozing will cease. Much will depend upon the care given during this period. The outer channel must be kept clean and it is often necessary to swab the area every two or three hours. In skilled hands syringing is effective, although careless use of an irrigating solution can spread germs.

At this stage, unless drainage to the outside is provided, bacteria may be crowded into the mastoid cells and we may then be faced with the necessity of cutting through the mastoid portion of the skull to remove diseased tissue within the honeycomb-like cells.

As soon as feasible the original illness should receive attention. If there is a history of repeated attacks of tonsilitis these glands may be taken out when all signs of inflammation have disappeared. In addition, catarrah must be relieved. Careful nasal douching should be directed toward keeping the orifices of the sinuses free and open so that the inflammation within them will subside. Occasionally bacteria are harbored in adenoids.

More important than all, however, is an attempt to raise the child's physical reserve. This must be accomplished by furnishing an outdoor life with sunshine and fresh air, nourishing food, more hours of sleep, and possibly a tonic designed to aid appetite. Anemia must be combated inasmuch as the patient's storage of iron is small. This material will need to be supplied—by foods rich in the metal or through the use of a drug.

Now and then the ear will "run" with every fresh cold or new infection. All of which means that a nest of bacteria has apparently remained in the vicinity, springing into renewed activity whenever the resistance drops. Not only will the exudate be foul smelling but every now and then one of these victims will be in danger of developing meningitis or a brain abscess. It behooves us then—for safety's sake—to secure skilled treatment for every such condition.

In many instances the iodine boracic powder plan will be effective. The aural cavity is first cleaned thoroughly, dried out with alcohol, and the powder blown through the opening in the drum. When in contact with the mucous membrane iodine will be liberated and exert an antiseptic action. There is no danger of clogging the outer canal.

TUBERCULOSIS SYMPTOMS.

R. C. writes: Please let me know the symptoms of tuberculosis.

REPLY.

Early tuberculosis of the lungs may exhibit no symptoms whatsoever. In fact, the disease may be reasonably advanced before a hemorrhage, for example, draws attention to the malady. The first observable signs may include weakness, afternoon temperature, cough with expectoration, easy fatigability, night sweats, nervousness, loss of weight, indigestion, and rapid heart beat. Only a few of these symptoms may be present at the same time and all may arise from causes having no relationship to tuberculosis. No one presenting any of these symptoms should jump to the conclusion that he has tuberculosis unless the diagnosis is verified by a competent physician.

FEET IN BAD CONDITION.

T. R. writes: I believe I win some kind of a championship because of the number of things wrong with my feet—corns, calluses, burning, ingrown nails, etc. What can I do to get relief?

REPLY.

If wearing well fitting shoes and consulting a chiropodist regularly do not bring about sufficient improvement, it may be necessary to consult an orthopedic specialist. We have a leaflet on corns, calluses, and bunions which is distributed on receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope.

STRUCTURALLY SAFE, BUT NEEDS REPAIRS.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—[Friend of the People.]—I think some one should investigate a very dilapidated building on our corner. This building is partly torn down and there are people living in the rest of it. This place is not only a fire hazard to the neighborhood but a very unsafe place for people to live. I trust this will be referred to the proper authorities for investigation. E. H.

Our inspector reports that this building is in a dilapidated condition, but structurally safe. The owner has been notified to make all repairs necessary to maintain building continuously in a good and safe condition, or wreck and remove said building. If the work is not done at the expiration of time alotted we will proceed according to law.

Commissioner of Buildings.

TREES IN LINCOLN PARK.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—In this column on Nov. 20 Mr. H. L. Engles regretted an abundance of elm trees and a lack of maples, birch, walnut, hickory, butternut, buckeye, wild cherry, and mulberry in the new Lincoln park extension now under construction.

We, too, believe an entire elm plantation would be an unfortunate mistake. We would never recommend such a planting in a great natural park area.

While driving by this park one now sees a partly completed area. Our Chicago planting seasons, both spring and fall, are relatively short. Therefore, the great size of this park compels us to use at least four planting seasons for completion.

However, we are pleased to report to the many interested in this development that our plans indicate a total of 1,897 elms, all of which are planted; 1,896 poplars, in variety, 1,122 of which are planted; 1,900 maples, in variety, 657 of which are planted; 2,450 cherries, 1,041 of which are planted; 12,995 plums, in variety, 10,000 of which are planted. Other trees valuable to our landscape for which our plans call are buckeyes, lindens, walnuts, hawthorns, birch, and crabapples.

We have experimented with evergreens for several years and find some varieties satisfactory for Chicago parks, provided they are thoroughly washed with a garden hose three to four times a week, because of the soot, smoke, and gas. Nevertheless, our plans indicate arborvitæ and junipers in the eastern section of Lincoln park, which is farthest from the soot and gas of Chicago streets.

Fruit trees suggested, as apple, pear, and cherry, would be novel in Chicago parks, but this type of crop tree requires special fertilizing, spraying several times a year, and to encourage the crop, rather heavy pruning, which makes them ineffective for landscape purposes. Furthermore, you could not blame all the little boys and girls from damaging the trees when the blossoms and fruit are so attractive.

ROBERT E. MOORE JR.,
Landscape Architect, Chicago Park District.

DID CONGRESS ABDICATE?

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Congressman Elect Frank O. Horton of Sheridan, Wyo., recently declared that our trade treaties with Canada and the United Kingdom were unconstitutional. Mr. Horton is right. That power belongs to congress.

I quote section VIII., article 3, of that sacred document which has so often been ignored by the incumbent administration:

"The congress shall have the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes."

Awaken, America, before it is too late.

W. B. FREEMAN.

NOT WORRIED; ONLY ENVIOUS.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—I am consumed with envy of the people who have so little to worry about these days that it is a matter of prime importance to them whether the duchess of Windsor is invited to visit the White House or not. Truly that must be a wonderful state of mind.

PEARL BAER.

ANOTHER COUNTY HEARD FROM.

Villa Park, Ill., Nov. 28.—It will not be necessary to go seventy-five miles from Chicago [to Iroquois county, as one of your correspondents said] to find a Republican landslide in the last election. Du Page county, on the outskirts of Chicago, entirely forgot the New Deal.

RAY COLLICOTT.

NOT A WAR "BETWEEN THE STATES."

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 2.—Philip Kinsley slipped a cog when he used the term "War Between the States" in his article on the Virginia Military institute in today's TRIBUNE, for your editorial May 17, 1937, says the term is "plainly untrue," and advocates the name "civil war" as bearing "no reproach to either side."

The ignorant use of the term "War Between the States," as urged by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, signifies that the Confederate States of America was a separate, legally established government which was attacked and forced into war by the United States. Yet our government never recognized the confederacy as a separate nation, nor did any other government. Lincoln was sedulous that no act or word of his should recognize the confederates as other than rebels, and as rebels they surrendered.

The National G. A. R. has adopted strong resolutions against the term "War Between the States," and its use reflects on them, on Lincoln, and on all adherents to the Union cause in the civil war.

The Virginia Military institute furnished 1,791 graduates to the confederacy and fifteen to the Union, and also maintained a munitions factory, so it was well destroyed by Hunter in the interest of national preservation.

LUCY S. STEWART,
Secretary, Society for Correct Civil War Information.

HANDIWORK OF THE BLIND.

Berwyn, Ill., Dec. 3.—During a chance visit to the Home for the Blind, 1900 Marshall boulevard, I happened to get a preview peek at the annual exhibit of blind handiwork to be displayed there Dec. 8, 9, and 10 during afternoon and evening hours. Looking over the gay assortment of basket work and other craft by our blind in this institution somehow left an altogether cheering effect. Might I urge TRIBUNE readers to drop in on this interesting event?

J. C. S.

WHAT ARE COLLEGES FOR?

Chicago, Dec. 2.—After all, what does this controversy about football amount to? In the first place, universities and colleges were founded as institutions of learning, but of late years they have developed into a mad scramble to make the sport page headlines. To me the whole thing is a headache, which has been relieved somewhat by Dr. Hutchins.

H. C. HESS.

WOULD SAVE LIVES.

Chicago, Dec. 3. — The taxpayers are paying for airports and beacons, for highways and upkeep, for waterways and maintenance.

Why not spend some of the taxes on grade crossing elimination? It would save lives and help the railroads as well.

F. L. BARBER.

SLOT MACHINES IN COUNTY.

Calumet City, Ill., Dec. 2.—Every one knows that the hundreds of "one-armed bandit" types of slot machines, which are openly cheating the gullible public throughout the county, are Capone syndicate property and more flagrant violation of the law than bookies ever will be.

JOHN QUINN.

NO GRAFT IN SALES.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Having spent many years as a sales person I cannot allow the letter signed "Disgusted" in THE TRIBUNE this morning to go unchallenged.

I have been selling steel for the last twenty years and in all of that time I have never come in contact with one purchasing agent who led me to believe that in any way he expected or would accept any present in any form from me. Of course I have given to these men the same sort of treatment I would have expected had our positions been reversed and I certainly would not expect any man or woman to offer me "graft" in return for any business I might give to him.

I have heard purchasing men talk of this very thing and to the last man they were agreed that it was an insult to their intelligence and could not be condemned enough.

If "Disgusted" would try to sell his products on merit and not go in with the idea in his mind of "how much will it cost me to get this order" I feel sure both he and the purchasing agent would have a greater mutual respect for each other.

Being a woman and selling in a world that is entirely peopled with men I have found that the application of doing unto others as I want to be done by is just about the best all around method of selling—it has worked in every case.

JEAN O'HAVER SHASSERE.

WHY ALL THE HATING?

Chicago, Dec. 2.—For Americans: Would you please tell me what the "haters" get out of their hating? What these disturbers of peace get out of it?

If one of these people would say to him or herself: "Why am I hating Jews? Why am I hating Protestants? Why am I hating any one?" I really believe they could not answer. We may dislike an individual for a certain reason, but it isn't reasonable to dislike every one because they happen to be of a different creed or race.

That is something I cannot quite understand in Father Coughlin. A minister of a church is supposed to preach love. What is he getting out of his talk on the radio? Who cares about the Russian revolution of 1917—or is he trying for one here? That's what hating does. It gets you all worked up about what?

This world needs kindness, not hate. Let's forget whether we are Republicans, New Dealers, Al Smith Democrats, Catholics, Jews, or what not and pull together. Let's be good friends, make the most of our freedom and blessings, and I'll bet 10 to 1 we will all be much happier.

MRS. JULIAN TEISER.

AN EARNEST PARTY WORKER.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—There is one Republican ward committeeman who deserves not a little credit for work in Cook county. I refer to Frank M. Kalteux, 38th ward committeeman, who worked untiringly in behalf of his party.

Almost 8,000 more Republican votes were cast in the 38th ward than were cast in 1936. We need more men of Frank Kalteux's caliber in the Republican party for leaders.

A YOUNG '38ER.

VISITING NURSES ANGELS IN BLUE TO AILING POOR

Feeble Voices Ask Aid; Charity Answers.

> "Hope deferred maketh the heart sick; but when the desire cometh, it is a tree of life." Proverbs 13:12.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Half a century ago a group of Chicago women, seeking to bring hope and new life into the sickness-ridden homes of Chicago's poor, conceived the idea of the visiting nurse.

Today the visiting nurse, in her soft blue uniform and dark blue cloak, has become a familiar figure, a symbol of hope, helpfulness, and scientific skill, in the slums of Chicago. And her slogan, as engraved on the medallion of the Visiting Nurse Association of Chicago, has become the latter half of the quotation from the Proverbs, ". . . when desire cometh, it is a tree of life."

Back in 1889, when the V. N. A. was organized, it had one nurse, who trudged into the homes of the poor to care for the sick. Today it has 138, all registered, graduate nurses.

Back in 1889 its office was one room in the loop. Today it has eleven branches scattered over the city, as well as a loop office.

Spread Comfort and Cheer.

Back in 1889 the single visiting nurse could do little except pile cooling pads on a fevered brow, change soiled linen on an invalid's bed, or place a fresh, antiseptic bandage on a wound. But she brought comfort and cheer and cleanliness.

Today the nurses' work knows few bounds. They bathe the aged. They help the young mother with her newborn child. They visit the cancer patient and the cardiac patient, with fresh dressings for one and ice packs for the other. They tend the man ill with influenza and the woman delirious with pneumonia.

They go into quarantined homes where a whole family may be in bed with scarlet fever, unable to be nursed in the crowded hospital for contagious diseases. They visit the handicapped, making an ingenious head and neck brace for the boy of 7 stricken with infantile paralysis, or assisting an older victim into a hot "tank" bath, where he may learn to reëducate twisted, withered muscles. A fractured leg, a stiff knee, arthritis, a harelip—they work with all, to prevent or cure deformities.

Visit 417,694 Homes in Year.

The nurses have to be strong, for their task is no light one. They visited 417,694 homes last year, averaging eleven homes a day per nurse. They have to be skillful, for they meet with strange, difficult situations, calling for ingenuity as well as science. Their cancer dressings and home made splints and braces for paralytics are copied by nurses as far away as China. They have to be teachers as well as nurses.

All of this they are; which is perhaps one reason why they are known to many as the "angels in blue."

This is a service, remember, for the poor. Most of it is free. Some patients, those who are able, pay from 25 cents to $1 a visit. The Chicago Relief administration pays 75 cents for a visit to a sick member of a relief family. Several insurance companies and industrial corporations pay similar fees for visits to sick policyholders or employés. The bulk of the work, however, is paid for by subscriptions secured by the V. N. A.'s directors and income from endowment. This amounts to 66 per cent of the total.

Just Telephone; They Come!

All a sick person has to do to get a visiting nurse in her home is telephone. And the nurse is there, often within an hour. On the first visit she has simple, standing orders to make the sick person comfortable. On later visits no nursing care can be given unless the patient is under a physician's care. The nurses, the association stresses, are nurses; not doctors.

Often the call for a nurse comes from a hospital or dispensary, such as a tuberculosis clinic or the Chicago Maternity center, reporting that a man with tuberculosis needs home aid, or that a Mexican mother on Cabrini street was delivered of twins at 11 a. m. Or the attending physician calls.

Last year alone the nurses cared for 48,074 persons, only 4,421 of whom had been carried over from 1936. The largest group was made up of newborn babies and their mothers, who are given both pre-natal and post-natal care. As tribute to the care given them by the Visiting Nurses, 37,288 recovered and improved and were dismissed before the year was out.

Comfort Fund a Blessing.

Nursing is not all of the work, although it constitutes the major part. The nurses distribute toys, magazines, layettes, and scrapbooks, collected or made by women of the V. N. A's auxiliary committee. From a special "comfort fund," too, come such things as wheel chairs and ice cream, morphine for cancer patients, or milk and special diets for convalescents.

Like the other established Chicago charities, the V. N. A. is finding the demand for its service increasing rapidly, Miss Mary E. Westphal, superintendent, reported. Those 417,694 home visits which its 138 nurses made last year already are up 12,000. From twenty to thirty additional nurses are needed.

The V. N. A. gives no benefit affairs and participates in no tag days. It exists wholly on the generosity of voluntary subscribers. But $1, Miss Westphal points out, pays the entire cost of a nursing visit; $2 covers the cost of a demonstration bath and a second visit; $8 sees a mother and baby safely through the first ten days; $50 sends a visiting nurse weekly to a shut-in for a year; $100 gives three months of intensive muscular reëducation to a paralytic.

Mrs. Jennie Maloney, 81 years old, was fatally injured last evening when she fell from a second floor window at her home, 5218 Drexel avenue. She was taken to the Chicago Osteopathic hospital, where she died. She suffered brain concussion, skull fracture, and internal injuries. Mrs. Maloney said she fell out while opening a window.

KANKAKEE DIVORCEE GOES ON TRIAL FOR SLAYING HER LOVER

Kankakee, Ill., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Rena Beland, a divorcée, went on trial here today charged with the murder of her lover, Clemon Cooley, following a drinking bout on Aug. 27. She was in court with a bullet in her head, lodged there in an unsuccessful suicide attempt. By the end of the day seven jurors had been accepted.

Mrs. Rena Beland.

Mrs. Beland was married when 16 years old and has a son, 14. She had lived with Cooley for two years before the killing.

On the evening of the shooting, they had made a round of Kankakee taverns. Mrs. Beland accused Cooley of seeking the company of other women and then shot him.

Mrs. Beland drove Cooley to a hospital here, where he died on the operating table as police were taking a statement from him. While the questioning was going on, she left the room on the pretext that she wanted a drink of water, and shot herself.

Three Seized as Robbers and 1 as Window Smasher

Albany Park police last night held three men as alleged robbers and a fourth as an alleged window smasher. They are Ernest Mondt, 20 years old, 3725 West 57th place; James Lynch, 26, of 5640 South Damen avenue, and Carl Huebner, 18, of 3619 West 57th place, who police say admit some fifty holdups, and George Lowe, 18, of 3949 North Whipple street, who reputedly admits a window smashing theft. They were rounded up after ten days of intensive police work by Capt. Thomas Connolly, Sergt. Harry Larson, and Detectives Sid Levinson and Frank Pape.

"Ladies and Gentlemen: the one way to make aluminum cheaper is to continue to spend for research and for more efficient plants!"

● They are our 8,000 stockholders — the partners in this business of making aluminum available to everyone.

They like to watch the price of aluminum come down, because cheap aluminum means more users and a bigger business. There is little profit in making a metal which few can afford.

So, right from the beginning, they have backed those who manage this company in a policy of spending money for anything that might reduce the cost of getting aluminum out of its ore.

In this quest for cheapness, millions have been spent in scientific research. More millions have been invested to improve plants, equipment and manufacturing processes.

Again and again our stockholders have said in effect, "Spend whatever it costs to make aluminum cheaper. It is a great metal of untold usefulness. Make it cheap so that it can be used more widely."

Over and over they have restated this belief: "The mere fact that no one else in this country has chosen to go into the business of producing raw aluminum can never make our company successful. Our success depends on customers, and an ever widening circle of customers: The way to get more and better customers is to make aluminum cheap to buy and cheap to use."

That has been and is our policy.

COSTA RICA PUTS NEW ENERGY INTO BUILDING ROADS

Meets Needs of Increased Number of Cars.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Dec. 2.—[By Air Mail.]—Costa Rica is showing new interest in the construction of roads to meet the needs of the recently increasing number of motor trucks and cars.

In 1937 the country had only about 150 miles of improved motor roads in use. At present considerable effort is being expended in highway building and street improvements. Mainly on account of road improvements, the public debt has increased since 1930.

The nation's principal revenues are from customs, fixed export taxes, railway receipts and the liquor monopoly. San Jose is quite proud of its national liquor plant.

Japan Seeking Trade

Principal exports are coffee, bananas and cocoa. Costa Rica also derives a considerable sum from gold and silver bullion. Some scrap iron is exported to Japan, but a spokesman said it cannot be classed as a major export.

The principal imports are cotton, iron and steel products, flour, oil, cars and trucks and silk goods. Japan has been underselling other traders in Central American markets in an effort to raise war cash and establish trade relations, but a local dealer said the quality of Japan's merchandise has been about equal to the price.

Until this year, about 42 per cent of Costa Rica's imports were from the United States and 25 per cent from Germany. About 42 per cent of exports went to the United States, 24 per cent to Great Britain and 21 per cent to Germany.

Visited by Columbus.

There are many different nationalities here, including Americans, but most of the aliens are old residents and take no interest in spreading political propaganda. There are about 18,000 colored British West Indians living on the banana farms of the Caribbean lowlands.

Columbus on his fourth and last voyage to the new world, discovered Costa Rica on Sept. 18, 1502. He landed near the present site of Limon, Costa Rica's chief banana port. Shortly afterward he sailed on to the south.

At the time of Columbus' visit there were about 27,000 Indians in Costa Rica. They had developed a primitive civilization, using wooden and stone tools, and managed to cultivate a few crops. Although these Indians were friendly to Columbus, they strongly resisted later Spanish invasions. In the incessant warfare the native population steadily decreased and today there are less than 4,000 Indians of pure stock.

Wide Range of Climate.

The Indians never mixed to any large extent with European colonists and the political and social strife which characterized many other Latin American countries played no important part in Costa Rica's history.

Costa Rica has a population of about 591,000 and an area of 23,000 square miles and lies between Nicaragua and Panama. The climate varies from the Atlantic [Caribbean] and Pacific lowlands with temperatures ranging from 77 to 95 degrees to the central tablelands with temperatures of 60 to 75 and the cool mountain districts with temperatures of 40 to 60 degrees. The Caribbean lowlands get as much as 140 inches of rainfall a year.

The mountain country has many waterfalls and springs. The uplands are fertile with soil produced by volcanic ash. The forest wild life includes jaguars, tapirs, deer, turkeys, rabbits, wild pigs, and monkeys.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Hands that are competent in the kitchen are expected to be just as attractive as helpless hands when the cards are dealt. Faithful use of a lotion that soothes and whitens will solve the usual winter hand-skin problem.

We pause in our frantic listing of Christmas suggestions to take up the usual December business listed in our calendar as "Hands—How to Keep the Skin Soft." The weather man has been extremely kind, but some of our readers have already put in their requests for information about soothing the hand skin when cold winds make it rough and red.

Our own idea of the ideal solution of the winter problem most of us have is to get the jump on it by prevention. Once the hands are definitly chapped yo uhave an oiling job to contend with that is awkward, to say the least. You've simply got to soak them in emollients.

We've been experimenting with one lotion lately. It's one of the best insurance measures against chapping that we've ever found. One woman we know, who always suffers distress in winter because she is thoroughly ashamed of her rough skinned, red hands, has been using this regularly and for the first time in her experience is not afraid to face cold weather. Her hands are smooth and white and the skin has not taken on that wrinkled, parched look it usually assumes by the end of October. She feels sure, and so do we, that she could literally wave extreme cold aside.

This lotion, a creamy white one with a delicate scent, is a tonic and a lubricant for the skin of the hands. It has oiling tricks, but is not sticky. You use just a few drops after each hand washing. If your hands are subjected to much drying treatment use it liberally at night, massaging it in well. It dries quickly, but doesn't film the skin and its softening effects are close to being magical.

Critic Swamped by 2 Terrific Music Events

BY EDWARD BARRY.

This is really living life too fast—crowding into a single evening two such terrific experiences as a Kipnis recital and a Jepson-Masini "Bohême." Either one would be enough to serve as centerpiece for a week or even a month of highly satisfactory existence.

For the sake of the record, and in deference to the principle that every review should have at least one coherent paragraph, here is exactly what happened in Chicago music last night. Alexander Kipnis, Russian basso, sang a benefit recital at Orchestra hall for the Needy Musicians' fund of the Bohemians. Helen Jepson and Galliano Masini, American soprano and Italian tenor, respectively, enacted the rôles of Mimi and Rudolfo in a Chicago City Opera company mounting of Puccini's "La Bohême" at the Civic Opera house.

In trying to sort out impressions which have nothing in common except overwhelming strength, one is likely to be trapped into making some lame observation about the artistry and the integrity of all three of the evening's principals. Better a nice incoherent rave than anything like this.

One of the most majestic of living singers stood on the great bare stage of Orchestra hall, and with no help [except from Charles Lurvey at the piano] succeeded in standing his hearers on their heads. Mr. Kipnis takes an unassuming song like "The Red Sarafan" and makes it so immensely important that a listener is ready to swear that this discouraged little lay of a Russian mother to her adolescent daughter is the very capsule which holds the whole of experience inside its walls [this metaphor will soon become too hot to hold].

A minute later the listener changes his mind, for some other trifle is undergoing treatment in the furnace of the Kipnis imagination. Each song is personalized in the most amazing way, each is launched toward the listener on the crest of a tremendous communicative urge, each reaches its goal because of the utter perfection of the technical machinery by which the basso speaks [this one has become too hot to hold].

One could run on for half the night about Mr. Kipnis' technical devices—his variety of tone, for instance—powerful and almost brutal one moment, full of a tenorlike radiance the next. However, Helen Jepson and Galliano Masini are waiting.

These two fit together as perfectly as ham and eggs or Guelph and Ghibelline. It was royal sport listening to singers who have so much power to spare making light of all the technical difficulties of "La Bohême's" first act. Each excessively beautiful tonal effect could be reveled in safely, for there was little danger that a gauche compromise with expediency would bring a listener down to earth with a bang.

The principal disadvantage of becoming hysterical during Masini's phrasing of the Narrative was the certainty that any one carried out at this particular point would miss not only Mimi's air but also the duo which follows. So we braced ourselves heroically and stuck it out.

Lunt-Fontanne Show Lives Up to a Reputation

"AMPHITRYON 38."

Comedy in a prolog and three acts by Jean Giraudoux, translated and adapted by S. N. Behrman. Directed by Bretaigne Windust. Settings by Lee Simonson. Costumes by Valentina. Incidental music composed and conducted by Samuel L. M. Barlow. Presented by the Theater Guild in the Erlanger theater, Monday evening, Dec. 5, 1938.

THE CAST.

| Jupiter | Alfred Lunt |

| Sosie | George Meader |

BY CECIL SMITH.

Thirty-six hours ago the opening of "Amphitryon 38," scheduled for last night, was problematical because of an error in the dispatch of scenery. The wandering baggage car was located and arrived in Chicago in the nick of time, and "Amphitryon 38" did open at the Erlanger theater with enormous éclat and brilliance. It is dangerous for a comedy to come to Chicago preceded by ecstatic reports over a period of a year from all who have already seen it in the east. From time to time the prize plums of the preceding season have a way of losing some of their luster before they finally get here.

Not "Amphitryon," however. It ranks as one of the completest, most fully rounded successes of the whole long coöperation of Alfred Lunt, Lynn Fontanne, and the Theater Guild. The play itself, to begin with, profits by an immensely amusing situation, even if it has been told thirty-seven times before, by Jean Giraudoux's own admission. Jupiter, wearied by purely divine pleasures, is fired by a desire to make purely earthly conquest of the lovely Alkmena, who is known for her immovable love for and loyalty to her husband, Amphitryon.

If he were to fail he would be less than a god. So of course he succeeds, but in the end he finds himself outwitted utterly by Alkmena's inability even to imagine for a moment that the love of Jupiter could be as attractive as the undisturbed continuation of her connubial love for Amphitryon.

The sparring characters of the god and the mortal woman are precisely what Mr. Lunt and Miss Fontanne need, and the sort of thing they capitalize with the brittle, saucy bravado in which they are unequaled on the stage. Mr. Giraudoux and S. N. Behrman together, to be sure, have provided a play of such knife-edged wit and such neatly averted philosophic overtones that they have only to let loose their wonderfully calculated inflections and their exquisitely planned teamwork of movement and stage business to turn it into a hilarious lark. The highest tribute, and the most exact one, I can play "Amphitryon 38" is to call it completely amusing.

The cast is a collection of jewels. Richard Whorf's beautifully conceived Mercury is almost choreographis in its pictorial values. Sydney Greenstreet contributes a rich characterization of the fat trumpeter whose trumpet sounds only one note, but, ah, what a note! George Meader brings his fine musical gift to the singing rôle of Sosie, Amphitryon's servant. The remaining players form an ensemble of the sort the Theater guild is pledged to perpetuate.

From the prolog in the clouds to the succeeding neo-classic scenes, Lee Simonson strikes an even finer imaginative note in his décors than he has discovered before. The one weak feature of the production is the nondescript score of incidental music by Samuel Barlow.

LIFE

tells our Christmas Story for us . . .

In the current issue for December 5th. If you'll study pages 28-29 you'l see the kind of ties that make men shudder—as well as the kind they really like.

You'll see handsome, extravagant robes for which most men have very little use—and in which they fee vaguely ridiculous. And you'll see the light, "easy-to-pack" dressing gowns they buy for themselves.

Then if you'll come to this store you'll see, we think, as tasteful a selection of the kind of things LIFE recommends as is to be found in Chicago—with the "Don'ts" conspicuous by their absence.

Yet you won't have to pay any more here—and you'll have the further assurance that your gifts will continue to give pleasure long after Christmas itself has been forgotten.

"I don't know why I have lunch with her. She never remembers what she's talking about and asks me, 'What was I saying?' and I never half listen to her, so that I can't really answer her!"

Rostislav Jr.

The royal baby boy born at the Presbyterian hospital last Saturday to Prince and Princess Rostislav, latest addition to the thinning ranks of the royal Romanoffs, has been named Rostislav Jr. No title of prince—despite the fact that he's a grandnephew of the last czar and is related to several royal families of Europe—because he's an American citizen.

Incidental Info.

If you hear some one talking about the new Charles Laughton movie, The Beachcomber, adapted by Bartlett Cormack from Somerset Maugham's The Vessel of Wrath, he'll pronounce it "wroth" if he's British. "Wrath" is pronounced to rime with "froth" by the English. Or did you know it all the time?

Violinist's Nerves.

Any one who saw and heard Jascha Heifetz at the Civic Opera house Sunday must have remarked his cold, aloof demeanor, which is his customary concert attitude. That and his brilliant performance would give no indication of what the great violinist suffers from nerves. However, in his dressing room immediately afterward Harry Zelzer saw with his own eyes that Heifetz autographed a picture "1908" instead of 1938.

Potter Palmer Mansion to Be Setting for Tea

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE old Potter Palmer mansion on Lake Shore drive is to be opened on Jan. 9 for an exhibition and sale of fine color reproductions of paintings under the auspices of the Chicago Public School Art society. This will be the first time the old castle-like house has been used since Miss Pauline Palmer, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer Jr., elected to make her debut there at a ball in 1935. The Palmers have not lived there for some years.

The reproductions of the works of old and modern masters will be exhibited in the ballroom, where the famous Palmer collection of paintings used to hang on its wine red velvet walls. Admission to the show, which will be open from 9 until 7 o'clock, will be 50 cents; tea will be served after 3 o'clock for an additional 50 cents. Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill II., on whose own living room walls hang two Gauguin reproductions, is acting president of the society in the absence of the president, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, who is vacationing in Honolulu with Mr. Brewster.

The board of the society feels greatly indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Palmer for the use of the ballroom. Mrs. Palmer has been a director for many years of the society, which for 44 years has been placing prints of masterpieces in the public schools. Among those active in assisting with plans for the benefit are Mrs. Clay Judson, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. William A. Nitze, Miss Florence Bartlett, Mrs. Edward L. Hasler, Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, Mrs. Dallas B. Phemister, Mrs. John C. Murphy, and Miss Margaret Fisher.

In addition to the well framed prints there will be a small exhibit of the talented works of some of the public school students.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Alma Mater.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 5.—For some time I've been convinced that college football had reached such a stage of professional ballyhoo that it had outgrown its purpose. It seemed that the game had been taken from the kids to such an extent that all that remained was a billion dollars' worth of over-emphasis. At the Los Angeles Coliseum, as late as Saturday afternoon, the thought struck home again. . . . Then on Saturday night we had dinner with five of the Notre Dame youngsters who had played in the game, and my conclusion is that if college football produces boys of the type of Capt. Jim McGoldrick, Joe Thesing, Paul Kell, Tad Harvey and John Kelly it certainly is worth its salt. If this type of boy is typical of college football, the national roots are anchored deep and securely and the viewers-with-alarm can relax, because the country is in excellent hands.

Dejected? Undoubtedly. McGoldrick and Kell had just played their last game. But their dejection was not a personal thing. "At Kansas City we passed through at 1 o'clock in the morning," said McGoldrick, "and five thousand people were at the station to cheer us. We would have liked to win for them and people like them who never went to our school and yet have adopted Notre Dame as an alma mater." . . . They didn't dwell overlong on a reason that was closer to their hearts. They had wanted desperately to win for Elmer Layden, because this year's club was really Layden's own team. His last year's club had contained left overs from Hunk Anderson's régime, but this year's team was all of Layden's kids, and they would have given everything they possessed to close out the season for him without a break in the victory parade. So they had reason for dejection, when they met us for dinner, but what amazed all of us is the manner in which they concealed it.

We had gone to the Cocoanut Grove for dinner. Rudy Vallee directed attention to them with a very graceful reference, and immediately hundreds of diners gravitated to the table. It was amazing to witness the audible affection of those who called to them, or slapped them on the back. "You can lose every game and you're still tops with us," Alice Faye told them. . . . It was nice to see the manner in which the kids handled themselves. They answered questions about the game quickly and clearly to Southern California rooters, offered no alibis, indulged in no post mortems. If they were asked about teammates' blunders they sidestepped the question. If they were asked about Trojan players, they praised them wholeheartedly. The questioning went on for hours, yet not once did these Irish players let any of their interrogators know that they were thinking of the Kansas City crowds that had cheered them at 1 a. m., or that they were thinking of Layden, or that McGoldrick and Kell were thinking that they had played their last game. That, I think, is the definition of a good loser, and these kids dramatized it as I've never seen it dramatized before.

They got a great kick out of meeting Joe E. Brown, Alice Faye, Tony Martin, Wendy Barrie, Ben Oakland, and Rudy. Brown, who is going to South Bend for the N. D. rally, listened to the football fans who were attempting to console them by picturing future seasons and future games. "I know just how you guys feel," said Joe E. "There's nothing that anybody can tell you that will make you forget today's game." They looked at him and nodded.

Vallee told them about the drunk who had heckled him into a page I row. "I'm nuts about this particular number," explained Rudy. "Jackie Osterman wrote it and on this particular night I had some people there from the agency who didn't like the number. I was going to convince them that the number was great. In the middle of it he started roaring and bellowing. What was to have been a big moment was ruined. In the middle of it there is a line which I shout 'O-Ho, so it's a drunk.' The real drunk thought imemdiately I was referring to him, and when I went into the imitation of a drunk he became more infuriated than ever. 'Making fun of me, huh?' he qelled. I never had an experience like that in my life. The lines of the song seemed to have been penned especially to make things worse. It was horrible."

"Rosie" Rosenberg, an All-American from Southern California, stopped at the table. "They were hot today, and you guys were just a bit past your peak," he said. They nodded: This was a fellow talking their own language about the game. "Their second team gave them the edge," said "Rosie."

We sat there for perhaps five hours, and not once during that time did the Notre Dame kids let out a whimper or voice a might-have-been. So I say that if college football turns out kids like this it is accomplishing a great thing in the pattern of American life, because in this life it is of importance to dish it out, but it is of greater importance to prove you can take it.

Her Second Choice

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright, 1938. By Elizabeth York Miller.]

SYNOPSIS.

Nora Stacy refuses to follow the advice of her aunt, Mrs. Dorothy Callender, and encourage Bob Matherson, rich young bachelor, recent owner of Fairways, an estate near to the modest English cottage where Nora lives with her aunt until Nora's fiancé, irresponsible Jim Murdock, whose family live next door, writes from Calcutta breaking the engagement. Heartbroken Nora writes Jim that she'll marry the first man who asks her. She hears Jim is returning home for Christmas, with a wife. At a dinner party at his home Bob takes Nora up to his Tower room and proposes. Nora agrees to marry him before Christmas—in spite of designing Mrs. Pearl Almy, who has rented a cottage on Bob's estate. Three days before the wedding Jim returns, without a wife, and demands that Nora run away with him. Mrs. Almy interrupts their meeting. Nora feels she is morally pledged to Bob, who has settled an income on her aunt.

INSTALMENT VIII.

THE KITTEN'S CLAWS.

Bob clasped the string of pearls about Nora's throat and stood her off a little to admire her.

"You are so beautiful that sometimes you make me gasp," he said, "but, of course, I shall get used to it. I am told one does if one lives with a woman long enough."

"Please take care of me," Nora said, in a shaky whisper. "Please hold me very close to you—always."

His arms closed around her and he gave her a warm hug.

"I won't let you down," he said huskily. "I'll play the game your way, little Nora."

"And Bob, I don't know how to thank you for your kindness to Aunt Dorothy."

"You don't need to. Say good-night to her for me, will you? I've got to cut off now. And, by the way, I have to be in town for the next two days, so I'll be seeing you at the altar."

An expression of dismay flickered across Nora's face.

"Must you?"

"I am afraid so. I've got no end of things to do. Are you going to miss me?"

"Dreadfully."

"Good lor', I believe the girl loves me!"

Nora pressed her hands to her face, but when he took them gently away, she was smiling, although her cheeks were wet.

It was a tortured smile, and it sent Robert Matherson away in a state of awe and bewilderment.

Well, why shouldn't she be in love with him, he argued angrily with himself.

Need he imagine that every woman who appeared to be fond of him was only after his money?

Hadn't he picked on Nora Stacy just because, somehow, she seemed to be different than the others?

. . . . . . . . . . .

At the edge of the common nearest to Fairways stood the cottage Bob had let to Pearl Almy. Bob had to pass it to reach his own house, and as he drew near and saw the lights gleaming behind the drawn curtains he made a wry face.

Mrs. Almy had rung him up before dinner and asked him to come in to see her this evening if he could possibly manage. He had said he would come, but that it might not be very early. It was something about the pump for the cistern, she had said.

She was at the door before he had time to use the knocker, and from her cheerful expression he was relieved to feel that he would have no need to bring out any reserves of compassion he may have possessed over the ruthless way he was supposed to have treated her.

Bob looked about with interest. She had got the place fixed up nicely. He had not been inside before. She had good taste when it came to houses and had helped him with Fairways, but of course he had paid her well for that. He had paid her well for everything she had ever done for him and their accounts were settled. He had all the receipts, so to speak.

Pearl was too smart to make a conventional vamp setting for herself. And that, thought Bob, was because she knew he was too smart to be taken in by anything of that description. She was wearing a green cardigan with a tweed skirt and a pull-on hat. The dog's leash was cast carelessly on a table, and Bonzo was dozing by the fire. Pearl's ginger mop rather needed a comb and her lips were not so red as usual. Pity she was such a little rat. Pity she was so ready to chuck a decent husband who was very fond of her, through sheer, monstrous greed. Well, by now she knew the answer to that one.

"Have a drink, Bob?"

"Thanks, I'd like it."

"There's the sideboard—help yourself."

"What about you?"

"Well, a little one. It's cold this evening. I think I got a chill after the sun went down. Bonzo and I did above five miles this afternoon—or, at least, I did. His score was more like twenty. Look at him, he's dead, poor lamb."

Bob leaned down and patted him. Bonzo had been one of his gifts to Pearl Almy a year ago.

"I expect you're frightfully busy, Bob."

"Busy enough."

"Well, Bob, what does it feel like to be getting married?"

"You ought to know, Pearl, you've been through it twice."

"Don't be brutal, my dear."

"I thought I was being funny."

Pearl Almy had not asked Bob to sit down, and both of them were standing at opposite ends of the mantelpiece, with their drinks and a cigaret each—all pleasantly informal and nothing to get excited about except that Robert Matherson was wondering why Pearl had brought him here and how she would lead up to the subject.

"Where did you go for your walk this afternoon?" he asked.

"As far as Yalding. It's all flooded around there again. I didn't see a living soul until I was nearly back, and then I met Nora."

"O? I've just looked in to see her. She didn't mention seeing you."

"It was only a moment. She was with Jim Murdock. I was surprised to find he was back. It must be a little awkward for poor Nora—his coming home just at this time."

Now they were getting to it. So this was what he had been asked to come in for. The faulty cistern was only make-weight, as he had guessed.

"Why is it awkward for Nora? Who is this Jim Murdock, anyway?"

"Good heavens, don't you know?"

"Well, I suppose he must be that son of the colonel's who got shipped out to India."

"Yes, that's who he is. But I thought everybody knew that he and Nora were once engaged."

"Count me out," said Bob.

It should have been left at that, but it wasn't.

"I felt so sorry for the poor boy," Pearl said in a musing tone. "I think I must have interrupted a dramatic little scene. Nora was terribly upset, and simply flew off, and Jim came back with me afterward and poured out his soul."

"How very boring for you, my dear. What does his fluid soul look like?"

Something snapped in the ginger kitten's composure. Up till now she had been behaving beautifully, and with hardly any effort, but those steely gray eyes broke her. Like a fool she flung herself at what was metaphorically speaking a solid stone wall.

"That's just like you. You don't give a damn so long as you get what you want yourself. You think your blasted money can do anything—pay one woman off when you have finished with her and buy another if she happens to take your fancy.

"But you may not feel quite so satisfied with yourself when I tell you that those two—the girl you are planning to marry and her former lover—were in each other's arms when I walked up on them this evening. He says he is going to get her back—she still loves him, only she thought he was getting married or something. . . . Well, haven't you got anything to say at all, playboy?"

Bob finished the rest of his drink before he answered.

Then he said: "There isn't much left for me to remark on, is there? If I were you I would take an aspirin or two and climb into the hay. You'll feel a lot better in the morning."

Good Morning!

KIND: B grade drama that fools its title by having no "secrets."

ACTING: Miss Francis, Gloria Dickson, and Messrs. Brent and Hunter contribute distinguished service to a tawdry cause. . . . Isabel Jeans tries to be funny, is anything BUT, and wears you down with her accent, mannerisms, and clatter.

DIRECTION: Not bad.

STORY: Trite affair about a charming woman loved by two fine men. One nobly gives her up to the other—and that is that.

PHOTOGRAPHY, SETS, COSTUMES, ETC.: Excellent.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Fails to ring the bell. It seems to me that Warner Brothers are cutting off their noses for "disciplinary reasons" by giving so fine an actress as Miss Francis punk vehicles in which to strut her stuff.

The lecture has been arranged by a committee, headed by Mrs. Wirt Morton, as a benefit for the Peacock Camp for Crippled Children. The countess is visiting the Mortons who will give a reception for her at their home after the lecture tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds, the Morrills, and the H. ### Durie Malcolm to Become Bride at Palm Beach Jan. 2.

Miss Durie Malcolm left yesterday for Palm Beach, Fla., where on Jan. 2 in the new villa of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Malcolm, she will become the bride of Firmin Desloge IV. of St. Louis. Mr. Desloge will spend Christmas in St. Louis and then will go to Florida to see the new year in with his fiancée.

The wedding is to be a small one at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, with just the families present. A few friends will drop in afterward for a toast to the bride and bridegroom. After a honeymoon in the West Indies Mr. Desloge and his bride will be at home in St. Louis.

Marshall-Browning Nuptials Dec. 26.

Mrs. Granville Williams Browning has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Elizabeth Marshall, to Fielding Lewis Marshall Jr., on Monday afternoon, Dec. 26. The wedding will be a small one in the chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church with the Rev. Theodore C. Hume officiating. Dr. Hume and the bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. Fielding L. Marshall, were at the Hill school and at Yale together.

A small reception at the Browning home will follow the wedding. Granville W. Browning Jr., will give his sister in marriage. She will have no attendants; Mr. Marshall will have his brother, J. Waller Marshall, as best man, and two brothers-in-law, C. Durand Allen and Joseph M. Barton, will usher. John Burton Foley and Anthony Lee Michel also will usher. Mr. Marshall and his bride will be at home after the middle of January at 2205 Cleveland avenue.

Mme. Suzanne Noble and Dr. Herman Chor will be married at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Maher in Lake Bluff. It will be a small wedding. Dr. Chor and his bride will take a short wedding trip. They plan to go to France next summer.

Lincoln S. Harrises Parents of Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Small Harris [Jean Hyman] became the parents of a daughter, their first child, on Sunday night at the Passavant hospital. The baby is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hyman and of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden B. Harris. She is a great-granddaughter of the late Norman W. Harris, pioneer banker, and of the late Dr. Albion W. Small, who was a professor of romance languages at the University of Chicago.

Mrs. Allen E. Whitman and her two little boys are arriving Dec. 15 to visit her parents, the Charles Edward Browns. Mr. Whitman will join his family at Christmas time and take them back to Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Keith have returned to Chicago and will be at the Seneca hotel for several months. Their son, Frederick Jr., will come from Yale for the Christmas holidays.

A number of luncheon parties will follow the Russian Trio's recital at the Arts club this morning. The hostesses include Mrs. Walter J. Cummings, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. James O. Hinkley, Miss Mary West, Mrs. Albert Wolf, and Mrs. Daniel Taylor.

Yuletide Decorations Topic of Junior League.

The Chicago Junior league will hear Mrs. Ford Carter speak on Christmas decorations at 11:30 o'clock this morning in the Tower room at the Drake hotel. More than seventy reservations have been made for luncheon following the lecture.

The arts committee, headed by Mrs. Marshall G. Sampsell, is in charge of the lecture. The committee is a busy one, for it runs classes at Emerson house in arts and group games; it provides twenty children's concert tickets for various agencies, and it pays for five scholarships at the Art institute for deserving children. One student now enjoying a scholarship is a boy of 15 who was taught by Mrs. George M. Silverthorne Jr. and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer last summer at the Arden Shore camp.

Emerson Settlement house is holding open house in its new building at Wood and Erie streets from 2 until 6 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. William M. Collins Jr., president of the board, and Frank J. Linn, head resident, will receive board members, those connected with other settlements, and all who have contributed funds for the new building.

Members of the junior board of Northwestern University settlement will meet at the home of Miss Elizabeth Buchen in Winnetka at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to welcome new members. Mrs. Robert Scott Jr. of Evanston, president of the board, will head the receiving line. Miss Harriett Vittum will talk about the House in the Woods, the settlement camp. Absent from the meeting will be Mrs. Stewart Dawson, one of the board members, to whom a son was born on Nov. 29.

Toys for the Youngsters

CHILDREN'S TOYS.

Our three patterns today concern themselves with the leisure hours of the very youngest set. We present them with the suggestion that these toys make wonderful Christmas gifts, and with the admonition that you order the patterns immediately. The order will be filled promptly and allow you a few days in which to create the articles for your favorite youngsters.

None of these items is expensive to make. What's more, none of them is difficult to fashion. The directions will help you over any hazards your unaccustomed fingers may encounter.

Pattern No. E-702 creates a girl and a boy doll and their clothes. The pattern envelope will give you yardage requirements and explicit directions.

No. E-854 fashions a cuddly lamb, and a mother duck and her cunning ducklings. The lamb is created inexpensively from Turkish toweling or eiderdown.

The third pattern, No. E-850, makes a cuddly dog, a duck, a horse, and a goat. Every one of these items utilizes the contents of the scrapbag, since plain and printed materials make up equally well.

Dress Colors Are Reflected in Face and Guide Makeup

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

We're going to have to get more and more used to color harmony, for that's the trend!

Notice, the next time you try on a maroon colored dress, how it reflects on your skin tones. Because it casts a warm, blue red reflection on your face, you need to wear lipstick and rouge that are blue red. Other colors, blue, purple, violet, orchid, or that ravishing new shade of fuchsia, have a bluish glow in them and require the same makeup tints.

If, on the other hand, you want to wear brown, brownish blue, bluish yellow, henna red, and mustard, the rouge and lipstick choice should be golden red, for the predominating color mixture in your costume will be yellow or gold, and will be reflected on your skin.

Green is a fascinating, scintillating color, but, because of its many tricky reflections, you'll have to use great care in deciding which color is reflected on your face, and make your choice between the blue red and the golden red rouges and lipsticks.

Because of this new "reflection" movement and so many, many different dress tones, it is virtually impossible to give you a chart to be guided by. It's up to you to chart yourselves, keeping in mind whether the color reflected on your face from the dress you're wearing is blue or yellow, and then apply either the blue red or the golden red makeup.

◆

If you wear gray or black, more makeup than you ordinarily wear is advisable, for there is no warmth to be reflected in your face from these colors, and your face needs that warmth to be truly lovely. The new trend in makeup for these colors is to wear one color of rouge and lipstick—a deep shade of red red!

Get Youngster Toys That Are Solidly Built

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Thinking about Christmas giving and the children? There are so many things you delight in giving that you're tempted. But you should restrain yourself in one direction—and that is in the buying of useless things. And by that I mean articles or toys or "gimcracks" of only momentary interest.

Every child wants certain playthings or other possessions that he has a right to want. I mean by that that they fill a need, a legitimate desire. By watching your boy or girl at play or at work, or in his or her leisure time you can easily discover what each needs or would like, and so make your expenditure of time and money at Christmas a worth while investment.

Play is a child's business in life and for it he must have playthings, materials, the tools for play, or call them what you will.

Your child's play is not only business; it is an earnest business. For it he needs playthings that are sturdy and well built. The flimsy toy that falls apart is a disappointment—like, for instance, the little two wheeled cart with a long handle that small children love and which, if cheap, can't stand wear.

Then, there's the toy that's supposed to do something and doesn't; the locomotive that's too narrow and topples over; the wagon with wheels that stick and jam instead of rolling. Watch out for these faults. The stores are full of well constructed playthings with better and better prices each year. All you need to do not to let yourself get rushed or confused, and look before you leap into buying.

◆

Another suggestion has to do with your child's age. The chief mistake parents and friends make is to select things that are too old—too advanced, that is, for the child's manual skill. Children either lose interest with such a plaything, or they struggle with it and become irritated and even nervous. The salespeople are informed and can help you if you're entirely at sea. We can help you, too, if you will write us.

Playthings, according to age, are listed in our "Toy ant Plaything" Booklet. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

League of Mercy.

The Salvation Army's League of Mercy will begin its program of bringing Christmas cheer to unfortunates today, when its members will visit the aged and sick at the Oak Forest infirmary.

The Housewife

There is on view a brand new display of quilted materials for the home which will bring a great deal of pleasure to any woman interested in fine needlework and in interior decoration. The articles: Made to order bedspreads, dressing table sets, draperies, blanket covers, cushions, bags, lingerie envelopes, and chair and chaise covers are all the work of Kentucky women who are real artists as well as seamstresses.

Any combination of colors and materials is possible in these home furnishings, and simple or elaborate designs can be made to suit your individual wishes. For instance, for the man whose hobby is hunting there is a stunning bedspread the design of which is a group of hunters in their pink jackets mounted on sorrel horses. For the French provincial and Swedish peasant type of bedroom there are other appropriate patterns and colors. Any one of these hand quilted items would make a gorgeous Christmas gift. EDITH WEIGLE.

You are East, on defense. Your hand and dummy are:

DUMMY [North]
♠ 4

♠ A K 5
♥ J 10 4 3
♣ A K 6

West, your partner, opened the club jack. Dummy played the three, you played the six and declarer ruffed. Declarer now leads the queen of spades [trumps]. If you win, what card do you lead back?

LAST TUESDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 46: You are West, declarer at three no trump. [Opponents did not bid.] Dummy and your hand are:

| YOU [West] | DUMMY [East] |
|---|---|
| ♠ J 10 8 | ♠ A K Q |
| ♥ A K J | ♥ Q 6 5 |
| ♦ A 9 8 7 | ♦ Q 10 3 2 |
| ♣ K J 9 | ♣ 8 4 3 |

North opened the spade seven. What card do you lead from dummy at trick two? In a few words state your future plan of play.

[Answer at end of this article.]

TODAY'S HAND.

West, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

♠ 7 6 5 4

WEST
♠ J 10 8
♥ A K J

♥ Q 6 5

SOUTH
♠ 9 3 2
♣ 7 6 5 2

The bidding:

| West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 no trump | Pass | 3 no trump | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

This hand is based on Question 46, answered below.

North opened the seven of spades, obviously the top card of his holding. Winning in dummy, declarer [West] had to consider the best line of play for nine tricks. In sight were three top spades and three hearts. Obviously, the diamond suit offered the best opportunity for further tricks, inasmuch as it would be dangerous to try for two tricks in clubs. The only problem, then, was to play the diamond suit to the best advantage. Many players with this particular diamond holding lay down the ace and then lead toward the queen-ten. This is rarely the best method, however.

The real danger in this hand is that South may hold both the king and jack of diamonds with one or more guards. If he has, and the A Q 10 of clubs lay very badly for declarer [as they did], it will be fatal to cash the diamond ace and lead toward the Q 10. South would win and return a club to dummy's weakness.

The correct line of play combines an excellent chance to hold the defenders to one diamond trick with a maximum of safety. It must be noted that if declarer finds either the king or the jack of diamonds in the South hand [a three-to-one chance] two successive finesses through south are bound to fulfill the contract.

Having reached the correct solution by the above analysis, declarer played the ten of diamonds from dummy and after that his contract was safe, South could win only one diamond trick and could make only one lead through declarer's club holdings.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

North, dealer.

♣ K Q 8 6

SOUTH
♠ 10 6
♥ A 9 6
♣ J 7 4 3

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

ANSWER TO LAST TUESDAY'S QUESTION.

Q. No. 46: You should lead the ten or queen of diamonds. You have three sure tricks in spades and three in hearts. If you can make three diamond tricks you will not require any club tricks for your contract's fulfillment. The best chance to establish three diamonds [and at the same time to guard against South twice gaining the lead for a club return through your vulnerable club holding] is to play the diamond ten or queen through South and later [if the led honor is not covered] to finesse again. For full explanation see Today's Hand, above. [If you played the ace of diamonds at trick two take 15 points demerit.]

Wise Girl Has Opinions, but Conceals Them

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

She is 22 and the light of her life is 26. He has been visiting at her home and taking her about for nearly a year now. The other week a discussion arose and he went off in a terrible huff. The girl cannot understand why her remarks hit him so. She had no intention of wounding his feelings. It wasn't a personal matter that they were arguing about, anyway.

"Can't a girl have an opinion of her own?" asks Miss 22. "Do you have to agree with everything that a man thinks, says, does?

◆

"Anyway, almost two weeks have passed and not a word from him. I miss his company. I can't bear the thought of losing him. Once before we had an argument over which he became incensed and pouted until I had to take the first step toward reconciliation. He is probably waiting for me to do it again. Would you? Won't I spoil him further if I do the making up again?"

The question boils down, Miss 22, to whether you'd rather not have him a bit spoiled than not have him at all. Which most appeals to you?

It isn't much fun sitting home evenings and grousing about the injustices of a stubborn minded man. It is still less fun sitting there with no one to whom to direct your conversation. Maybe you will spoil him further by again making the move toward reconciliation, but there are ways of handling the man of unmovable opinions without threat of a broken friendship.

◆

Yes, a woman can have an opinion of her own, and most of the sex have opinions of their own, but the smart girls operate them quietly.

They don't hit a man between the eyes with them. They wait their time and spring theirs at a moment when the gentleman is in the mood to accept them gracefully.

The important thing, however, is that they permit the gentleman the privilege of his opinions, too.

That's what you must remember, Miss 22. The gentleman is just as much entitled to his opinions as you are to yours.

So, altogether, we would suggest that you give the chap a ring.

Most amateur candy makers occasionally aspire to lend a professional touch to their efforts by dipping their candies in chocolate. Dipping isn't as simple an operation as it might seem. The hand dipped candies we buy have been prepared by skilled candy makers under exact conditions which can't always be duplicated in the home. But the amateur who doesn't mind her chocolates looking just the least bit irregular will find fun and satisfaction in dipping.

A regular dipping chocolate gives best results. Chocolate is sensitive to heat and moisture and the environment must be right. There must be no draft in the room. The room temperature should be from 60 to 70 degrees, and there shouldn't be too much moisture in the air. Never try to dip chocolates on a damp day.

Almost anything goes for centers, whole nuts, strips of candied peel, fondant balls, divinity, marshmallows. A double boiler, a fairly large two-tined fork, a pound of dipping chocolate, and a wooden spoon are necessary. Also a candy thermometer and wax paper or oilcloth on which to cool the dipped sweets.

STEPS IN CHOCOLATE DIPPING.

1. Grate a pound of dipping chocolate or cut it into fine pieces. [Less than a pound usually is hard to handle. So is more than two pounds.]

2. Put the grated chocolate in the top of a double boiler. Melt over hot water. Never allow the water to boil, or the cocoa butter in the chocolate will separate. A good idea is to bring the water to the boiling point, remove from heat, and place the top of the double boiler immediately over it. Stir chocolate constantly while it is melting.

3. Fasten candy thermometer into the top of the double boiler and stir chocolate rapidly with a circular motion until its temperature registers 130 degrees. Change hot water for cold in the bottom compartment.

4. Stir chocolate rapidly again until it cools to 83 degrees. It is then ready for dipping. This stirring is important in developing the right texture for the candy coating.

5. Remove top of double boiler, quickly transfer the thermometer to the lower compartment, and add warm water until the temperature of the water reaches 85 degrees. Remove thermometer and replace the top of the double boiler. Having the surrounding water at this temperature keeps the chocolate at the right dipping temperature for a longer period than would otherwise be possible.

6. Drop centers into chocolate one at a time, stirring to coat all sides. Slip the fork underneath and lift the piece out quickly. Rap the fork against the pan rim several times to shake off excess chocolate. Invert the dipped candy on wax paper or oilcloth.

7. Work as rapidly as possible. If chocolate cools and becomes too thick for satisfactory results, remelt it, following the procedure given.

8. Toward the end of the dipping, when chocolate is nearly used, peanut or other nut clusters may be made. Put the nuts into the chocolate, stir to coat thoroughly, and drop by spoonfuls onto wax paper or oilcloth.

In the booklet, "Simple Homemade Candies" [5 cents by mail], there are many excellent recipes for confections which would take to a dipping in chocolate. Address orders to Mary Meade, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Hose One Gift That Is Sure to Please Her

BY RHEA SEEGER.

No woman can resist the gift of hosiery. No woman has ever been known to complain about owning too many pairs of stockings, so it's small wonder that hosiery showings are the most complete in town. Special prices on dozen and half dozen combines make some very interesting Christmas specials. A princely gift is a dozen, four pairs of party chiffons, four pairs for afternoon and four pairs for sturdy daytime or street wear.

◆

This is also the time of year when you can find the special hosiery—lace clox that assure great slenderness, the ombre shaded stockings that are the best slenderizing magic known to any ankleline and the decorative wisps of color agleam with tiny twinkling beads outlining side clox or a fanciful tracery down the center of the instep.

Ribrow heels and black heels as contrasted to filmy daytime shades or equally effective against the cob web sheer blacks or flesh shades for evening are finds. A few pairs of the siren stuff are still available, those naughty French type stockings with insets of lace about nine inches long and two inches wide going up over the instep.

The sheerest dancing stockings to be found are the beautiful one thread chiffons, a mere matter of a colored film or mist, superflattering with every gown they are worn with, scarcely a shadow over the skin. One brand new shade that goes with everything is called caddy. It's a slick mixture of beige, gunmetal gray and Peter Pan.

◆

Our pioneer grandmothers must be tossing restively, for we're a bunch of sissies since all records have been smashed in selling bed socks. Delightfully fuzzy angora, in shell pink and the boottee effects in pale pastels and whites are sold in amazingly large numbers for women afflicted with cold feet.

It was Putnam's third marriage and his wife's second. She was divorced in 1936 from William Comer Covington, High Point, S. C., hosiery manufacturer.

Putnam's first wife was Margaret James of Tucson, Ariz. They were divorced two years ago. A short time later Putnam and Miss Jacquelin Abbott of Boston were married in the home of Putnam's aunt, Mrs. James Otis Hinckley of Lake Forest. They were divorced last October.

THREE BIG TEN BASKETBALL TEAMS TRIUMPH

MANFREDO IS STOPPED IN 3D BY ARMSTRONG

12,724 Witness Title Bout in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong scored a technical knockout over Al Manfredo of San Francisco in the third round tonight to defend his world welterweight championship before 12,724 fans. Referee Tony La Branch stopped the bout at 1:45 of the third round.

Manfredo was helpless through the second and third rounds and was wobbling badly and defenseless when La Branch stepped between them. The terrific pace set by Armstrong wore Manfredo out early in the second round and the San Franciscan did not throw a punch in the third.

Manfredo, boxing nicely from long range, held Armstrong even in the first round. No seriously damaging blows were landed.

Armstrong Forces Fighting.

Armstrong forced the fighting through the second round and a right to Manfredo's head soon had Al wobbly. Armstrong, pumping piston like blows to head and body, made no effort to measure his opponent for a knockout shot.

Armstrong might have ended it in the second round but he made sure of his victory and continued pounding away and wearing down Manfredo.

Armstrong weighed 134¾ pounds and Manfredo, 146.

The bout was a feature of the 13th annual Cleveland Christmas charity boxing show.

Solly Krieger, National Boxing association champion from Brooklyn, N. Y., punched out a 10 round victory over Carmen Barth of Cleveland in an overweight bout. Krieger gained a long lead in the middle rounds when every blow he swung seemed to take effect. Krieger weighed 163½ and Barth 163¼.

Petey Sarron Wins.

Lou Ambers, ex-lightweight champion from Herkimer, N. Y., won a technical knockout over Veteran Frankie Wallace of Cleveland when Wallace failed to answer the bell for the seventh round. Wallace was forced to quit because of an injured right hand.

Petey Sarron, former featherweight king from Birmingham, Ala., gave Cleveland Golden Gloves Graduate Mike Gamiere a fancy boxing lesson in the first of the ten rounders. Sarron took six of the ten rounds, losing the first on a foul, while one was even. Sarron weighed 134, Gamiere 135½.

Tiger Jackson, 150¾, of Akron, easily outpunched Eddie Morgan, 149¼, in the opening four rounder.

ARCHIBALD KNOCKED OUT

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Pete Scalzo, young slugger from New York's west side, knocked out Joey Archibald, the New York state recognized world featherweight champion, with a series of smashing right hooks in two rounds of a ten round non-title bout in the St. Nicholas arena tonight. Scalzo weighed 127¼ pounds and Archibald 124½.

Before a near sellout crowd of 3,500, largely partisan in his favor, Scalzo fired his right early in the second session and dropped the little fellow from Pawtucket, R. I., three times before Referee Jimmy Crowley counted him out at 2:10 of the round.

They Call Him Champion.

The easy triumph for the Italian gave a boost to his campaign for a featherweight title shot.

The New York state commission named Archibald titleholder after he defeated Mike Belloise some months ago, but the National Boxing association decided to withhold recognition until after he had met the winner of a bout between Freddy Miller and Leo Rodak. These three had been designated as outstanding among the 126 pounders after Henry Armstrong relinquished the crown some months ago. Now Scalzo has become a contender with tonight's triumph.

His Name Is Bud Ryan and He Likes a Rousing Battle

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The question in the application read:

"How did you come to take up boxing?"

The answer was:

"Because I like to fight."

The candor of that reply probably expresses far more than any other sentiment the fistic attitude of Richard [Call Me Bud] Ryan, the young man who on Friday night will battle John McCusker for the welterweight novice championship in the eighth annual Christmas fund boxing tournament of the Catholic Youth Organization in the International amphitheater, 42d and Halsted streets.

It's a Stock Question.

The application in question was that which all the hopefuls in C. Y. O.'s big show fill out before they enter it. A majority of replies to the aforesaid question mention certain boxing minded individuals as the reason for their liking for the sport.

Not so Master Ryan. It's just because he likes to fight that he entered the tournament. Of course there are a couple of other factors involved, as Bud will admit. Two of them will be present when the gong for his battle sounds on the south side Friday eve. They are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ryan Sr of 3237 West Adams street, Bud's parents. It happens that Ryan père has always been a boxing fan, doubtless dating from those days when Pat Ryan, his father and Bud's grandfather, was quite some shakes as a welterweight puncher on the west side. And Mrs. Ryan is as ardent a fan as you would hope to find, seldom missing a C. Y. O. show.

The Ring Comes First.

Bud, who incidentally favors that appellation above the given name of Richard, is one of the most surprising of the finalists, for he has been boxing only a year. He is now attending St. Philip High school, where he played center on the lightweight football team for a year, and planned to go out for the varsity this year. Then boxing came along to take him away from the gridiron, and now he has only the ring for an affinity.

Title Hunter

RICHARD RYAN.

Earlier this semester Bud noticed a half dozen St. Philip lads asking Coach Tom Kenneally for C. Y. O. tournament applications. He suggested to Tom, C. Y. O. heavyweight title holder in 1934, that he would like to have a go at it.

How well that go worked out is attested by the Ryan record of four knockouts in the five fights he required to reach the championship bout. The fourth and last of these came in the semi-finals against George Kroll, who forgot to duck when the Ryan right came whistling at his left jowl.

He's a Youngster.

Out of the St. Philip delegation only two survived to the finals—Bud and Dick Blaha, who will precede him in the 118 pound novice bout on Friday. Ryan will be one of the youngest of the championship battlers, for he will not be 17 until next February.

DAVEY O'BRIEN TO RECEIVE HEISMAN AWARD TONIGHT

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Davey O'Brien, quarter back from Texas Christian university, reached New York tonight to accept the John Heisman memorial award, given by the Downtown Athletic club each year to the player voted as the year's outstanding football star. O'Brien will receive the award at a dinner tomorrow night.

O'Brien was accompanied by a party of eleven others, including his mother, Mrs. E. M. K. O'Brien, Amon Carter of Fort Worth, and T. C. U. coaches, officials, and teammates. They began the trip by air, but the plane was forced down at Washington by bad weather and the party continued by train.

Davey, who admitted he was a trifle air sick during the trip, did his best to hand the credit for T. C. U.'s unbeaten season to the linemen, especially I. B. Hale and Ki Aldrich, who accompanied him. He said his passing and running feats were made possible by the protection they gave him He said he did not think he would play professional football as he wanted to go into geology.

Notre Dame Is Rated at Top by Dickinson

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Notre Dame has the best national football record despite its defeat by Southern California, in the opinion of Prof. Frank G. Dickinson of the University of Illinois, who announced his ratings tonight.

The Irish are ranked above Duke and Tennessee because he thinks they played a much more difficult schedule and the rating system awards points for each game according to the strength of the opponents.

Prof. Dickinson paid tribute to Duke for its triumph over Pittsburgh, which he said was the greatest by a southern team during the middle weeks of the last fifteen seasons. The professor expressed regrets that his system did not give points for Duke's feat of holding all opponents scoreless. Tennessee, undefeated and untied, was a close third, with Southern California fourth. Oklahoma and Texas Christian, although undefeated, did not play strong enough schedules, according to the expert.

Notre Dame will thus be awarded the Rockne memorial trophy, which was sponsored by the Four Horsemen, James Crowley, Elmer Layden, Don Miller, and Harry Stuhldreher. Seven years ago the Irish gained permanent possession of the Rissman national trophy.

Michigan and Minnesota now have two legs on the Rockne trophy and Southern Methodist, Southern California, Pittsburgh, and Notre Dame one each.

The ratings follow:

| | W. | L. | T. | Points. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Notre Dame | 8 | 1 | 0 | 27.72 |
| Duke | 9 | 0 | 0 | 27.10 |
| Tennessee | 10 | 0 | 0 | 26.68 |
| U. S. C. | 8 | 2 | 0 | 23.71 |
| Oklahoma | 10 | 0 | 0 | 23.69 |
| Michigan | 6 | 1 | 1 | 23.02 |
| Minnesota | 6 | 2 | 0 | 22.71 |
| Texas Christian | 10 | 0 | 0 | 22.67 |
| Alabama | 7 | 1 | 1 | 22.63 |

HAWKS TO MEET BRUINS TONIGHT; THOMPSON OUT

Levinsky Reinstated for Eastern Trip.

The bewildered Blackhawks, rejoined by Alex Levinsky, but minus the services of Paul Thompson, entrained yesterday afternoon for Boston, where tonight they will play their second game in three nights against a bunch of fellows known as the Boston Bruins. After Sunday night's losing 5 to 0 debate with the Bruins in the Chicago Stadium, the Hawks are not certain that the term Bruins is a sissified tag, robust as it may seem in its own right.

The Hawks looked less like holders of the Stanley cup, world championship trophy, on Sunday night than they have at any other time this season, including their futile showing last Thursday against the Detroit Red Wings. Their defense, none too strong on its own feet, looked even more futile by comparison with the impregnable blue line wall Boston set up in front of its rookie goalie, Frank Brimsek. The Chicagoans' offense was rendered helpless to a point where they finally were reduced to trying brassie shots from mid-ice and beyond.

Thompson's Leg Is Injured.

Thompson, who led all scorers in the United States' division of the league last year, was left behind when the Hawk special headed for Boston. Thompson sustained a torn leg muscle as the result of being tripped Sunday by Jack Portland, Boston defense man. Levinsky was reinstated after his suspension for what Hawk officials termed indifferent play in the Detroit game. Alex, it was stated, was told to don his uniform, not only in the interests of assisting Earl Seibert, Art Wiebe, and Bill MacKenzie, but also to make up for the vacancy caused by Thompson's injury.

Johnny Gottselig, of the Hawks, and Tommy Anderson of the New York Americans, hold the individual scoring lead, according to figures released yesterday. Each has collected thirteen points, Gottselig on seven goals and six assists, and Anderson on six goals and seven assists. Tied for third position are Hector Blake of the Canadiens and Bill Cowley of the Bruins, with eleven points each. Nelson Stewart and Eddie Wiseman, both of the New York Americans, are tied for fifth place with ten points apiece.

What Can the Matter Be?

No explanation of the Hawks' collapse after their brilliant cup victory of last spring and their equally fancy debut this season was given by Manager Bill Stewart before yesterday's departure. Certainly, it is not a case of physical deficiency, for the only injuries Trainer Eddie Froelich can point to are those of Thompson and of Jack Shill, who was injured in Toronto a month ago.

Tonight the Hawks can do a handsome job of redeeming themselves by winning in Boston. First, they can avenge Sunday night's 5 to 0 licking by the Bruins. Second, they can do Manager Bill Stewart proud in his home town. And last and most important, they can hop right back into a first place tie with Boston, which is leading the league by a half game. The New York Rangers, who are idle tonight, are currently in second place, a half game ahead of the Hawks, who are tied for third with the New York Americans.

Following the Boston engagement, the Hawks will remain there to drill tomorrow and Thursday, after which they will go on to Toronto, to hold a final day's practice before Saturday night's battle with the Maple Leafs.

Fenger Accepts Game in Texas; Plays Dec. 26

Fenger High school's football team, city champion, will meet Waco, Tex., High school in a post season game in Municipal stadium, Waco, on the afternoon of Dec. 26. This was announced last night by Coach Charles Palmer following a long distance telephone conversation with officials of the Central Texas eleven.

Fenger, undefeated and untied in Public School league competition, scored its tenth consecutive victory by defeating Mount Carmel, 13 to 0, in Mayor Kelly's all-city championship game in Soldiers' field on Nov. 26 before 80,000. Waco won eight games this season, but lost the central Texas district title game to Temple Tech, 7 to 6, on Thanksgiving day.

Leave on Dec. 23.

Coach Palmer said the champions will begin preparations for the game today on the Fenger practice field, 112th and Wallace streets. In addition to Palmer, Assistant Coach Frank Knight and twenty-four players will make the trip. They will leave Chicago on Dec. 23 and will arrive in Waco the following day.

Palmer also said the intersectional game would not interfere with his position as one of the two coaches of the Chicago prep all-star team, which meets a group of Los Angeles High school players in California on Dec. 30. The other coach of Chicago All-Stars is Wally Fromhart of Mount Carmel who will start practice for the Pacific coast contest today in the 124th Field artillery armory.

Three outstanding players of the Fenger squad—Donald [Flash] Griffin, 16 year old quarter back; Dick Dudzik, end, and Capt. James Westwater, guard—were given places on the All-Star team. After the Waco contest the three players will accompany Coach Palmer to Los Angeles for the All-Star game.

Hold Banquet Today.

The presence of Griffin, who scored twenty-eight touchdowns this season, in the Fenger lineup will lure 15,000 to the Waco game, athletic officials of Waco said last night. Waco is coached by Paul Tyson, whose teams have won four state championships and never have been beaten in an intersectional game.

Before today's workout, Fenger's squad will be honored at a luncheon sponsored by the Kiwanis club of Roseland in the Calumet Commercial club. The principal speaker will be Bob Zuppke, University of Illinois football coach. Other speakers include Palmer, Knight, and E. F. Young, Fenger athletic director.

Representatives Aid Army-Navy Game Proposal

Illinois' representatives in congress yesterday promised to support the proposal to bring the annual Army-Navy football game to Soldiers' field next November. The move originated in Kankakee, Ill., last week, when two home town boys, Harry Stella of West Point, and Allen Bergner of Annapolis, were elected 1939 captains of their teams.

Representative Kent M. Keller of Ava announced in Washington:

"I am heartily in favor of bringing the Army-Navy game to Chicago in 1939. I shall insist upon it."

Rep. Leo E. Allen of Galena was equally emphatic. He said: "I am extremely anxious that the Army-Navy game be played in Chicago and I shall use every effort to bring it about.

Other members of congress who expressed similar sentiments were L. C. Arends of Melvin; Lewis L. Boyer of Quincy; Lewis M. Long of Sandwich; Hugh M. Rigney of Arthur; Noah M. Mason of Oglesby, and Ralph E. Church of Evanston.

BILL LEE SIGNS CUB CONTRACT AT HIGH FIGURE

Pitcher Looks Forward to Good Season.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Bill Lee, after signing a Cub contract which probably calls for more dough than any other National league pitcher will draw down in 1939, last night set out for New Orleans, a city which he regards as a suburb to his native city, Plaquemine, La.

Bill plans to attend the minor league convention which will open in New Orleans tomorrow, and there, no doubt, will be a source of envy to the battalion of free agents who customarily attend such gatherings, and an inspiration to youngsters who recall that only a few years ago he was pitching for Scottdale, wherever that is.

May Go Hunting.

After signing the paper which will fetch him a salary of more than $20,000 next season, Bill said that he might do some hunting following the visit to New Orleans. This announcement brought screams of warning from Dr. Andy Lotshaw, Cub trainer. Doc pointed to the recent Monty Stratton tragedy with the remark that "the only shooting a baseball player should do is in a 26 dice game and then only when the company is congenial."

The contract was the fifth Cub document signed by Lee since the Cubs purchased him from Columbus, St. Louis Cardinal farm, after the close of the 1933 season. The Cubs paid $40,000, finding the Cards in a receptive mood when they decided to hang on to Bill's teammate at Columbus, Paul Dean. In 1933 Bill won 21 and lost nine for Columbus and Paul won 22 and lost seven.

Lee Finds Control.

Bill had some flashy games his first year with the Cubs but wound up under .500 with 13 victories and 14 defeats. In 1935 Bill was a big pennant factor with 20 victories and six defeats, his percentage of .769 topping the league. In 1936 he won 18 and lost 11 but in 1937 had trouble with his control and though still rated a great pitcher had to accept another sub .500 percentage with 14 victories and 15 defeats.

After getting off to a shaky start last season, Lee found his control and finished with 22 victories and nine defeats in addition to performing several lifesaving feats. His victory total was one better than that of Paul Derringer, runnerup in the league tabulations, and also one more than Red Ruffing's total which topped the American league.

Collins Is Ready.

Lee, who was 29 years old Oct. 21, appeared to be in perfect shape and said he had mapped his winter plans with a view of reporting to the Catalina Island training camp on Feb. 23 virtually ready to start pitching. He says he thinks he has solved his greatest problem, wildness, and has set twenty-five victories as his goal and justification for his handsome contract and a bid for even a bigger one in 1940.

Ripper Collins, first baseman, is in town and will be here for a week. "I have had my fountain pen full of nice, permanent black ink ever since last October," said the jovial Rip, "and on the slightest hint will gallop to the Wrigley building to affix my signature to a 1939 contract."

Big Deal in Making.

The Cub delegation to the minor league pow-wow and flesh marts, Vice President Boots Weber, Front Man Clarence Rowland, Manager Gabby Hartnett, and Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis, left for New Orleans late yesterday afternoon.

Shortly before the caravan of Cub officials left town it was reported from Owner Wrigley's office that "a big player deal is in the making." Later it was said that negotiations had struck a temporary snag but that the transaction probably will be closed today.

The White Sox party to the meetings, Owner Lou Comiskey, Vice President Harry Grabiner, Coach Billy Webb, and Traveling Secretary Joe Barry will leave Chicago this morning. Manager Jim Dykes will join them at New Orleans.

BADGERS BEAT MARQUETTE IN 2D HALF, 27-26

Indiana, Minnesota Win Easily.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Wisconsin rallied in a furious second half to defeat Marquette's veteran basketball team, 27 to 26, before a crowd of 9,000 in the fieldhouse tonight. The victory was regarded as an upset since Wisconsin had lost its entire 1937-'38 first string.

The Hilltoppers, functioning smoothly, assumed an early lead and held it throughout the first half, at the end of which the score was 13 to 11.

Rundall Puts Badgers Ahead.

The Badgers first took over the lead after eight minutes of play in the second period when a basket by Johnny Rundell put them ahead, 17 to 16. From this point to the final whistle the crowd was frequently on its feet. With the score tied at 21 points, baskets by Bob Weigandt and Gene Englund and free throws by Rundell and Dupee gave Wisconsin a six point lead; but Marquette fought back with a scorching rally that almost won the game.

Ralph Amsden, substitute forward, dropped in a free throw. Bob Deneen followed with a short side shot and with 18 seconds to play David Quabius made another basket, the final score of the game. At the gun, however, another shot by Quabius rolled around and out of the rim.

Wisconsin fared poorly at the free throw line, misisng 14 out of 17 attempts. Center Byron Bell had nine chances and missed them all. Marquette made 10 of its 14 free throw attempts. Lineups:

INDIANA WINS OPENER

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 5.—[Special.] — Indiana's basketball team, making its debut under Coach Branch McCracken, opened its twenty-game schedule tonight by routing Ball State Teachers college, formerly coached by McCracken, 54 to 28.

Forty-five hundred fans saw seventeen Hoosier players, eleven of whom are sophomores, parade into the game. Indiana got off to a slow start, trailing, 6 to 1, in the first four minutes, but forged ahead at half time, 20 to 17. The Hoosiers' fast breaking attack began to click in the second period and ran up thirteen points in thirteen minutes before the visitors broke into the scoring again.

Andres High Scorer.

Capt. Ernest Andres of Jeffersonville led the Hoosiers with fourteen points on six field goals and two free throws.

The performance of several Indiana sophomore stars was outstanding. Bill Menke was runnerup to Andres for Indiana's high point honors. Menke was later relieved by his brother, Bob, who made four points in the last few minutes. Both brothers formerly starred on the Huntingburg High school team.

The clever floor work and ball handling of Paul [Curly] Armstrong, Fort Wayne sophomore, was another bright spot in the Hoosier offense.

Merrill Hole, lanky guard, led the Ball State attack with eleven points and was closely trailed by Roy Gardner, with eight points.

Indiana's first annual basketball powwow dinner preceded the game, with Coach McCracken receiving a formal welcome from 800 students.

MARQUART PUTS PERSHING AWAY IN SECOND ROUND

Knocks Foe Down for 8 Count in Opener.

Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man., lightweight, knocked out Hank Pershing of Cleveland in the second round of a scheduled eight round bout in Marigold Gardens last night. It was the twenty-fifth victory in twenty-eight starts for Marquart, who weighed 135 pounds to Pershing's 134½.

In the first round a left hook to the jaw floored Pershing for an eight count. Shortly after the second round started Marquart scored with a right to the eye, which dropped his foe for the full count. Referee Phil Collins completed his count at 1 minute 13 seconds.

Tommy Howell, the Danville 146 pounder, won a slugging match with Bob Tinsley in an eight round feature.

The crowd of 1,452 booed when Dick Kist was given a verdict in five rounds over Steve Padon. Other winners were George Nyberg, who whipped Lorenzo Robinson, and Eddie Lander, who conquered Patrick O'Brien.

Gross receipts amounted to $1,763.

A promise that the winner would be matched to meet Leo Rodak, National Boxing association featherweight title claimant, caused Frankie [Kid] Covelli and Leone Efrati to batter partners with unusual zeal in final sparring sessions yesterday for the renewal of their feud in a ten round bout in the Park Casino tomorrow.

The rival fighters, who battled ten rounds to a draw in a previous meeting Nov. 23, each went three rounds, Covelli against Jimmy Santori, and Efrati against Benny McIntosh, Indian from Pawhuska, Okla.

McIntosh is paired with Frankie Kainrath, Catholic Youth organization 121 pounder, for four rounds. An additional contest of four rounds involves Tito Taylor and Eddie Sparrow, 138 pounds. Joe Law, south side junior lightweight, has been matched with Eddie Dempsey in a six round semi-final.

◆

Efforts are being made to have Henry Armstrong appear in a boxing exhibition on the card headed by Johnny Barbara and Jackie Burke in White City Thursday. While awaiting word from Cleveland, where Armstrong appeared in a welterweight championship encounter last night, Promoter Sam Abruscato arranged a five round supporting bout concerning Jimmy Sheppard, Peoria's 155 pounder, and Verne Patterson. . . . Davey Day, lightweight challenger, resumed workouts yesterday for a ten round headliner with Cowboy Howard Scott of Washington, D. C., in Marigold Gardens next Monday. . . . The Wisconsin boxing commission will hold a meeting tomorrow to award the New Year's day date in Milwaukee to one of three promoters —Roy Brotherhood, Billy Mitchell or Al Fain. . . . Alex Kettles, South Bend heavyweight, will leave today to engage in a preliminary to the Tony Galento-Otis Thomas engagement in St. Louis Wednesday. . . . Nate Lewis, temporary matchmaker at Chicago Stadium, has gone to St. Louis to contine negotiations with Galento for a match with Max Baer in the west side building Jan. 14.

SENIOR GOLFERS ELECT SERGEANT; POSTPONE MEET

Augusta, Ga., Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Seniors association of the Professional Golfers association elected George Sergeant of Atlanta its first president today and voted to postpone its annual tournament one day, playing Wednesday and Thursday over the Augusta national course. The postponement of the $2,000 event, which is open only to professionals over 50, was decided upon after rain prevented a preliminary four ball event today. The Seniors tournament was reduced from fifty-four to thirty-six holes, although the prize money was not affected.

The four-ball best ball matches will hold the Seniors' attention tomorrow, after which the field of more than forty, grouped in three classifications, will set out in quest of titles now held by Jock Hutchison of Golf, Ill.; David Ogilvie Sr. of Augusta, and George Low of Philadelphia. Low did not return this year.

78 Nominated for $50,000 Widener Race

Miami, Fla., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Nominations for the fourth running of Hialeah Park's $50,000 Widener handicap were announced today. The seventy-eight names released by Racing Secretary Charles J. McLennan included Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit, Samuel D. Riddle's War Admiral, Maxwell Howard's Stagehand, and Herbert M. Woolf's Lawrin.

In addition to these four, which were the leading money winners of 1938, the list includes nearly every outstanding performer of the season. Edward R. Friendly's Jacola, generally recognized as the best of the 3 year old fillies, is in the field. She has a victory over Seabiscuit to her credit.

Bull Lea entered.

Warren Wright's Calumet farm star, Bull Lea, winner of five important stakes, will go after the big Widener prize. Stagehand is included among his victims. E. E. Fogelson's Dauber, the Preakness winner, and Mrs. W. Plunket Stewart's Pasteurized, victor in the Belmont stakes, are other prominent nominees.

It is understood that the handlers of War Admiral, Stagehand, and Lawrin intend to point their charges for the Widener handicap. It is generally believed, however, that Seabiscuit and Dauber are slated for campaigns at Santa Anita, with that track's $100,000 handicap as their goal. Pasteurized hasn't started since the Belmont stakes and it is problematical whether his stable will get him to the post for Hialeah's big event.

Ligaroti a Candidate.

ZERONE

BUY NO ANTI-FREEZE

—until you read these facts about Du Pont "Zerone"*

A FRIENDLY WARNING: You cannot be sure of getting the best value in anti-freeze until you know what Du Pont has to offer in "Zerone."

First of all, extraordinary anti-freeze protection. Scientific tests prove that "Zerone" would keep water from freezing solid even at 215° below zero. You'll never encounter temperatures like that, so you can be sure "Zerone" used in accordance with directions will protect your car in the coldest weather you'll ever experience.

The materials from which "Zerone" is made are so effective you need comparatively little "Zerone" to achieve protection. That's economy. Properly used, replacements of "Zerone" are little indeed—and that's economy, too.

Furthermore, scientific tests prove that the mixture of "Zerone" and water passes off engine heat better than water alone. That improves engine performance.

"Zerone" in a clean cooling system prevents formation of rust and corrosion—avoids power losses, helps save fuel and oil. Those are the facts, so ask your dealer to protect your radiator with "Zerone" today. It's only $1.00 a gallon. Du Pont, "Zerone" Division, Wilmington, Delaware.

Joe Louis to End His Short Visit in Chicago Today

Joe Louis, world's heavyweight champion, will leave Chicago today after a two day visit for Stevensville, Mich., where he will remain until Dec. 14. The colored title holder arrived in Chicago Sunday from West Baden, Ind., where he had rested for several weeks.

"After Stevensville, Joe is going to New York for the Lou Nova-Tommy Farr fight on Dec. 16 and while in the east he will sign contracts for the title fight with John Henry Lewis on Jan. 27," said John Roxborough, one of the champion's managers.

Roxborough also said Louis would spend the holidays in Michigan with his folks and then begin preparations for the championship fight in Pompton Lakes, N. J.

OFFICIALS SUMMON FARR.

New York, Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Tommy Farr, scheduled to meet Lou Nova in Madison Square Garden on Dec. 16, has been summoned to appear before the state athletic commission tomorrow for a hearing on the British board of boxing control's request that he be suspended in New York.

The British body has been seeking disciplinary action against Farr since his bout with Joe Louis last year. The matter involves Farr's alleged failure to fulfill a contract to box Max Schmeling in London. The British heavyweight is under suspension in his native land.

124th Artillery Poloists Face New York Trio

Using the lineup that carried through to Metropolitan league, western, and national indoor championships last spring, the 124th Field Artillery will oppose the Blind Brook Polo club of New York Saturday night with Lieut. Don J. Rice, Capt. Romeo E. Mura, and Lieut. Bill Fergus riding in that order.

Blind Brook and the 124th Field Artillery will open their intersectional series in the 124th armory, Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street.

Lieut. Fergus rates 4 goals and Capt. Mura and Lieut. Rice 3 each, giving the 124th trio a team strength of 10 goals. This combination went through its Metropolitan league schedule last season without a setback.

Saturday night's program will present another intercity game in the Metropolitan league senior race with the Detroit Falcons meeting the Evanston Polo club. Preceding this match on the triple-header card which starts at 7:30 o'clock, the Rangers will take the field against Fort Sheridan.

LEVINSKY AND MURPHY WORK HARD FOR BOOS

Pat Murphy and King Levinsky, a couple of Chicago wrestlers, received the boos of 1,100 spectators who watched their performance in Cicero stadium last night, but the playful pair picked up enough cash to visit night spots in case they decided to make the rounds.

Levinsky, with a few bruises here and there, was awarded the match when Murphy was disqualified by Referee Tony Hajdich after 12 minutes and 35 seconds of kicking, punching, and eye gouging. Levinsky started this bit of fun when he forgot his lines and delivered a right cross, which opened a cut above Murphy's right eye.

Pat refused to exchange pleasantries with his fellow artist and hopped out of the ring. Murphy returned, however, and tickled Levinsky with several good punts to his oversized middle and a few left hooks before Referee Hajdich decided it was unethical. There were four good supporting acts which pleased the crowd. The results were:

George Mack threw Jack Ross, 26:25.
John Evko threw Jim Jaros, 10 minutes.
Victor Soldat threw Pierre Le Marr, 18:40.
Joey Mitchell and Emanuel Cortez, drew, 20 minutes.

GIANTS BIND UP WOUNDS; AWAIT PACKER BRIGADE

Expect Capacity Throng at Title Game Sunday.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 5.—Aside from three X-ray examinations and the ordering of 60,000 tickets, preparations for the world's professional football championship game between the New York Giants and the Green Bay Packers in the Polo Grounds next Sunday were held in abeyance today while Giant players rested and their superiors held post-mortems over yesterday's 36 to 0 rout of the Washington Redskins.

Jim Lee Howell and Jim Poole, starting ends, accompanied Dale Burnett, veteran half back, to a hospital, where their leg injuries were found to be only sprains. Burnett, however, was put to bed to recover from a slight concussion. He will rejoin the squad Wednesday and will be ready Sunday when the Giants sally forth in their fourth National Football league playoff in six years. Poole and Howell will report for practice in the Polo Grounds tomorrow.

Mr. Mara Is Superstitious.

Chief interest at the Giant headquarters centered in tickets. Tim Mara, Giant owner, who, through Celtic ancestry and varied experiences in a lifetime spent around race tracks comes naturally by an active superstition, refused to permit the ordering of tickets for the playoff game until after yesterday's contest, in which New York won the eastern division championship. He released the order this morning with an announcement that there would be no advance in regular season prices. The sale will start tomorrow with delivery of tickets from the printers.

Arrangements are being made to handle another crowd such as the 57,461 which jammed almost every available inch in the spacious park. yesterday. Firemen ordered the gates closed before attendance had reached Mara's goal of 60,000 and 5,000 were turned away. The official attendance not only set a season record, surpassing the 48,279 which saw the Giants beat the Packers, 15 to 3, two weeks ago, but also eclipsed the all-time high for a scheduled National league game. The old record was found, after a recheck, to have been 55,933, who saw the Giants lose to the Redskins in the final game last year.

It's Been a Great Season.

Yesterday's throng climaxed the most successful season in National league history. It brought to 1,161,549 the number of persons who saw the fifty-five championship games, indicating professional football continued the steady growth in popularity which set in when Red Grange signed his first contract in 1925. Washington, winner of last year's league championship, led the ten member clubs, playing before 411,278 in eleven league games and the TRIBUNE's All-Star contest.

PACKERS ARE READY.

Green Bay, Wis., Dec. 5.—(AP)—For the first time in several weeks the Green Bay Packers will be at full strength when they meet the Giants in New York Sunday for the National Professional Football league championship.

"We not only will be in top shape," declared E. L. [Curly] Lambeau, coach of the western division title winners today, "we'll be hot. If ever a team looked right, we do now. We were not in top shape when we pushed the Giants all over the field a few weeks ago yet lost to them. We will be for this one."

Hutson Is Fit Again.

Don Hutson, the team's leading scorer and one of the best ends in the business, who has been out of service since Nov. 13 with a leg injury, will be in shape to play, the coach said. Bob Monnett, one of the best passers in the circuit, who has been out since Nov. 6 with a similar injury, also has recovered. The team has not played a game since Nov. 20, and several other men who were battered and bruised in the late weeks of the campaign have recovered.

The Packers, a community owned club, had their best financial season in their history in 1938, playing before some 243,000 in eleven league games. They will be seeking their fifth National league title. They won crowns in 1929, 1930, 1931, and 1936.

LAKE FOREST TO FETE ITS TITLE TEAM TOMORROW

In celebration of an undefeated and untied season, a football banquet will be held at Lake Forest college, tomorrow evening. Sweaters and blankets will be awarded to letter winners and gold footballs in token of leadership in the Illinois College conference also will be given.

The speaker will be John Schommer, director of athletics at Armour Institute of Technology and prominent athletics official.

Clarence W. Diver, alumnus and president of the board of trustees of Lake Forest college, will be toastmaster at the banquet which will be attended by students, alumni, the local Kiwanis club, and other friends of the college.

BUDGE AND VINES MEET JAN. 7 ON STADIUM COURT

Donald Budge, world's amateur tennis champion, will make his professional debut in Chicago against Ellsworth Vines on Jan. 7 in the Chicago Stadium, Promoter Jack Harris announced yesterday.

Budge will appear in three eastern cities before he reaches Chicago. He will open the tour with Vines in New York's Madison Square Garden on Jan. 3 and then will play in Boston and Philadelphia.

WRIGHT FIVE PLAYS.

The Wright Junior College basketball team will play Grand Rapids college in Grand Rapids, Mich., tonight.

MORE WORK AND MORE PAY, PLAN FOR PITT FROSH

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Freshman athletes at the University of Pittsburgh were informed tonight they would have to pay for their tuition and room and board, but that the school would arrange it so they could earn enough extra money to pay the bill.

Business Manager-Secretary John Weber explained the university's "strictly amateur" athletic policy to the youthful athletes in a conference lasting almost two hours, rejecting their demands for full four year scholarships.

The freshmen claimed they had entered the school with the understanding their tuition of $300 yearly would be free and that the signing of notes for that amount for 1938-'39 was a mere formality. The university already had agreed not to force payment of this year's tuition.

Make No Comment.

The freshmen, including William Goldberg, brother of Pittsburgh's brilliant full back, Marshal Goldberg, received the announcement with mixed emotions. None would comment.

Some of the boys had declared the football squad of more than twenty would stand together.

Many of the freshmen were in the group of 350 alumni and athletes which tonight heard Chancellor John G. Bowman of the university defend his "strictly amateur" athletic policy. Declaring that Pitt wanted "a football team above criticism," Bowman pleaded with the alumni to go ahead with him "in one direction and find the answer to the real question," which he defined as:

"Are we to do our part along with the leading colleges of the east and west to save football as a wholesome sport?"

Asked to Stay.

Before Dr. Bowman's speech Dr. Norman C. Ochenshirt, president of the Pitt Letter Men's club, begged the freshmen athletes to "stick with the ship."

"Give us time to work things out," said Ochenshirt. "Pitt football will never go on the rocks."

The freshmen have been receiving $48 a month for after class janitorial jobs, to pay for their room and board —a sum Weber admitted was insufficient for the tuition fee also.

Weber said, however, that from now on each player would be given as much extra work as he could handle in order to help him meet the required tuition and also that schedules would be arranged so the extra work could be done after the football season.

Seniors Have It Easy.

Should the freshmen accept the university's proposal, the 1939 varsity football team will be composed of a motley collection of tuition and non-tuition paying players.

The sophomores will be working for both tuition and room and board. The juniors would still receive free tuition but continue to work for room and board. The seniors, who entered Pitt before the "purity" plans started, will do no working but will have both tuition and living expenses paid.

COLISEUM BASKET GAMES TO START NEXT WEDNESDAY

The Coliseum, like many other arenas in the city, is being taken over for basketball. The first of a series of college double-headers will be played one week from tomorrow night.

Illinois Wesleyan will oppose La Salle college of Philadelphia and Wayne university will meet the University of Cincinnati on the opening program. Missouri Valley A. A. U. league games, in which the Hotel La Salle Cavaliers will be the home team, will be worked into the schedule.

The Cavaliers, coached by Sam Lifschultz, who has rounded up players from coast to coast, will open their season against Phillips 66 in Bartelsville, Okla., Thursday. Other Coliseum games scheduled are:

Dec. 21—Creighton vs. Centenary; Alabama vs. St. Johns [Brooklyn].
Dec. 27—Oregon vs. Macomb Teachers; Oklahoma City vs. Hotel La Salle Cavaliers.
Jan. 4—Southwestern [Kas.] vs. Hamline; Oklahoma City vs. Hotel La Salle Cavaliers.
Jan. 13—Manhattan vs. Detroit; St. Mary's [Winona, Minn.] vs. Macomb Teachers; Tulsa, Okla., vs. Hotel La Salle Cavaliers.

Skyline-Madison Volley Ball Continues Tomorrow

Play will continue tomorrow in the Skyline-Madison Women's Volley Ball league in the Skyline Athletic club, the No. 1 team of the American College of Physical Education, leading the league with no defeats, opposing the Madison Athletic club. The Jewish Peoples' institute, with one loss marring its record, meets the second team of the American college and the White Cap company opposes the Skyline club girls.

Rebuilt N. U. Team to Face Carleton Five

Northwestern's basketball team will open its season tomorrow night in Patten gymnasium against Carleton college, which scored a 37 to 33 victory over Iowa last Saturday night.

The Northfield, Minn., quintet, coached by Marsh Diebold, former Wisconsin star, has its strongest team in years, powered by four veterans, all of whom are over six feet tall. In Oscar Olson, captain and forward, the Carls have one of the outstanding players in the midwest. He led the assault on Iowa last Saturday night with six field goals and five free throws.

Use Rebuilt Team.

With four of last year's starting lineup lost by graduation, the Wildcats will start a rebuilt team. The lone regular of last year is Ad Vance, 6 foot 1 inch guard. Vance won a regular job as a sophomore last year and wound up the year as one of the crack guards of the Big Ten.

Sharing the back court with Vance is Bernie Davis, a letterman who became ineligible in midseason last year. Davis has played both forward and guard in his two years on the squad. Other guards who will no doubt see action are Bob Voigts, also a letterman, and Bob Shepard, promising sophomore from Oak Park.

New Front Line.

Biggest problem confronting Coach Dutch Lonborg, who launches his 12th season tomorrow, is reconstructing the front line which was swept away by graduation last spring. Key men lost were Mike McMichael, Jean Smith, and Fred Trenkle, forwards, and Jake Nagode, center.

The starting forwards tomorrow will be Les Harman, a junior who saw some action last season, and Dick Peil, rangy sophomore from South Bend. Jim Currie, a letterman who has been shifted from guard to forward will also play although he has been handicapped by a leg injury. Others who may see action are Chuck Melchoir and Walter Kowalski, reserves last year.

Worry About Center.

The center position is causing Coach Lonborg considerable anxiety. Bob Koble, a senior, will start against the Carls. Koble has been knocking at the door for two years, but has been kept inactive because of the presence of Nagode and Jean Smith.

Another strong candidate for the pivot position is Don McCarnes, 6 foot 3 inch sophomore from Logansport, Ind., a brother of Bob McCarnes, captain of the 1932 team.

DE PAUL VS. MAROONS.

De Paul university will play the University of Chicago tomorrow night in the Midway fieldhouse.

Coach Tom Haggerty will start Ted and Jim Skrodszi, forwards; Elmer Gainer, center, and Stan Szukala and Capt. Bob Neu at guards. This group trounced Valparaiso university, 55 to 32, in the season opener Saturday. Carl Tollstam, last year's regular center, turned in a good performance Saturday and probably will share center with Gainer.

The Demons have yet to drop a decision to the Maroons, but Coach Nels Norgren has an improved squad this season.

Gorman Signs Contract for Year at Creighton

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Tommy Gorman, Creighton university line coach, who went home to Chicago recently without signing a contract, today signed for one year at an increase in pay.

Michigan Adds Two, Illinois One to East Eleven

Three additions to the East football team which will play the West in the All-Star game in San Francisco, Jan. 2, were announced yesterday by Coach Bernie Bierman of Minnesota. The new players are Ralph Heikkinen, guard, and Don Siegel, tackle, of Michigan and James McDonald, center, of Illinois.

Other players who have accepted invitations are Joe Mihal, tackle, Purdue; John Pingel, half back, Michigan State; Larry Buhler, full back, Minnesota, and Howard Weiss, full back, Wisconsin.

The complete squad of twenty-two players will report at Dyche stadium for their first workout, Dec. 19. The team is to be coached by Bierman and Andy Kerr of Colgate.

EXPLAINS VOTE TO TAKE ZUPPKE RESIGNATION

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Homer [Mat] Adams, assistant state finance director and member of the University of Illinois board of trustees, today issued a statement explaining his vote to accept the resignation of Football Coach Bob Zuppke. Adams, a member of the board since March, 1937, said:

"The board of trustees appointed the athletic board of control. It has been a practice of years, and rightfully so, for the trustees to place great credence in the reccommendation of various boards and committees of the university whom we charge with responsibility of developing and recommending various policies for the board of trustees to follow.

"I do not feel that I, or any other member of the board of trustees, is qualified to judge expertly the efficiencies or deficiencies of an athletic coach.

"The trustees were informed that the athletic board unanimously felt that this contract [of resignation] was the solution to the athletic problem. My vote was a vote of confidence in the judgment of that board.

"I felt that and still feel that the athletic board placed the best interest of the university first in their decisions."

Carnegie Tech Awarded Eastern Football Trophy

New York, Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Carnegie Tech's football team today was awarded the 1938 August V. Lambert Memorial trophy, presented annually to the leading eleven in the east. Carnegie Tech, beaten only by Notre Dame, received a 4 to 1 margin over its nearest rival, Holy Cross.

U. S. Accepts Olympic Bid of Finland

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The American Olympic committee, after having spent five hours discussing the specific problems of its various sports teams, late tonight voted its official acceptance of Finland's invitation to the games of the twelfth Olympiad, to be staged in Helsingfors from July 20 to Aug. 4, 1940.

The committee also lent its indorsement to a bid by the city of Detroit for the 1944 games. This bid, which has the support of Mayor Reading and all of the city's major industrial concerns, now will be submitted to the international Olympic committee.

Over Sixteen Sports Listed.

It also was announced that the Helsingfors program would include competition in sixteen sports—track and field, wrestling, fencing, modern pentathlon, yachting, shooting, weight lifting, cycling, canoeing, swimming, gymnastics, boxing, rowing, equestrian sports, soccer, and gliding, which appears on the competitive roster for the first time.

The program further will include two demonstration sports, one of which will be pesapallo, Finland's native game which is said to be similar to baseball. Three sports which were contested in the 1936 games in Berlin—basketball, field hockey, and field handball—have been dropped for the Helsingfors meeting.

Budgets Are Reduced.

Tonight's business meeting, first since Japan decided to relinquish the games, included reports from twenty-one sports committees, almost all of which emphasized the fact that because of the reassignment of the games to Finland they had been able to effect downward revisions in their budgets. A typical example was the fencing committee, which announced it had been able to cut its budget from $14,000 to $9,000.

Speakers will include Paul S. Russell, star back of twenty-five years ago and now a member of the university's board of trustees; John Schommer, football official and Maroon alumnus; Capt. # BASEBALL BOYS TALK A LOT OF MAJOR TRADES

And Then Send a Pitcher to the Minors.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 5.—(AP)—A tumult of baseball conversation echoed through jammed hotel lobbies today but little news developed.

While one of the greatest advance influxes of baseball leaders invaded the city for the thirty-seventh annual sessions of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, several circuits moved into private rooms for their annual meetings.

Many big major league deals have been rumored since the 1938 season closed, but only a sprinkling of changes reached news stages after day-long huddles.

Reds Sell Cascarella.

The first deal of the sessions found the Cincinnati Reds selling Pitcher Joe Cascarella to Buffalo. The announcement of that deal came almost simultaneously with the signing of Burleigh Grimes, former Brooklyn manager, as pilot of the Montreal club on a two year contract.

Out of the rumor section came one that Pinkey Whitney, third baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies and a ten year man, likely would sign as manager of the Oklahoma City team. Whitney, Philadelphia officials disclosed, would be given his unconditional release should he find a managerial post desirable.

Rumors continued that the New York Giants are highly interested in obtaining either Johnny Mize for Joe Medwick from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Scott Is Reëlected.

Maj. Trammell Scott, Atlanta sportsman, was reëlected president of the Southern association for a three year term and the Texas league voted to continue awarding its pennant to the winner of the post season Shaughnessy playoff.

The opening business session of the minor leagues is set for Wednesday, with Judge W. G. Bramham making his annual presidential report. It will strike a keynote of uniformity that will include a recommendation that all championships be awarded on the basis of games won and lost.

The recommendation would force all minor league clubs to drop the Shaughnessy playoff as a pennant determining medium. Other proposed rule changes would place all leagues on a uniform basis as regards class players and official scoring.

Would Protect Sandlotters.

Thirty-five amendments will be considered by the National association at its chief business session on Thursday. One of the most important is one that would prevent major league clubs from entering into schemes for the acquisition, transfer, and retention of players such as promising sandlotters.

AUTO EQUIPMENT SHOW OPENING ATTRACTS 10,000

Newest Accessories Are Shown at Navy Pier.

Wilson S. Isherwood reports stocks lowest in years.

More than 10,000 persons in the nation's automotive parts business yesterday attended the annual automotive services show which opened at the Navy Pier. The show is sponsored by the Motor and Equipment Manufacturers association, the National Standard Parts association and the Equipment Wholesalers' association. It is said to be the world's largest trade show.

Some 350 manufacturers of parts, assecories, tools, equipment, supplies and materials are showing their products in 935 booths, which occupy 102,344 square feet of space. The value of the business done in 1937 by the industry was estimated at $1,061,860,055. This does not include the wholesale value of tires, tubes and tire repair equipment, estimated at $344,940,000 for 1937.

Efficiency Devices Shown.

Besides the hundreds of items of standard equipment and servicing devices and machines, numerous items for improving the appearance of the car and making it more efficient are shown.

There are devices that indicate whether the wheels are in balance. The modern car has been refined to such a point, say manufacturers of the equipment, that even a few ounces difference in weight at one point on a wheel may cause trouble. Included in the bad effects are wear on a tire or an uncomfortable ride.

There is a new type of windshield wiper which cleans the windows without the driver having to get out of the car. A tiny stream of water is forced through a hole at the base of the wiper onto the glass. The wiper does the cleaning.

Lights Are Emphasized.

Lights are given a great deal of attention by the parts makers. One device shown is designed to get the maximum light on the bright lights without adding to the voltage. In effect it delivers the full voltage to the light from the battery, overcoming the effect of resistance set up by the large amount of wiring in a car.

There is a new type of dimmer switch for the bright lights. Hermetically sealed, it prevents the possibility of damage as a result of water leakage.

Wilson S. Isherwood, general sales manager of the AC Spark Plug division of the General Motors corporation, said that dealer and wholesalers stocks of the more important replacement parts are lower than they have been at any other time in many years.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

New Leaves Sprout

December 5, 1938.

UNSEASONABLY high temperatures and sunny days during the late fall months have prevented many plants from becoming dormant and in a few cases new crops of leaves have come out at the Du Page county farm.

Last week everbearing strawberry plants in the experimental small fruit plantation still were green. Under heavily matted coverings of green leaves there were flowers, green berries of various sizes, and a few half ripened strawberries. The ripe berries became soft after the heavy freeze when temperatures went down to 12 degrees above zero about two weeks ago. Even after the hard freeze flowers on a few strawberry plants opened their petals and the green fruits continued to develop.

Lilac Buds Open.

Leaf buds on protected lilac bushes were opening at the farm last Friday. Some of the leaves, especially on the new sprouts that have grown up in the center of the bushes, are three-quarters of an inch long. Many leaves still are quite green.

Horticulturists say that this late growth of strawberries will not seriously handicap next year's crop. New flowers and leaves will come from the old crowns next spring. Few lilac bushes have developed this fall to the point of being exposed to injury from winter kill. However, some of them may be slightly weakened so that they will be exposed to injury from shocks of alternate freezing and thawing in early spring.

Rains during the latter part of last week caused bluegrass to start new growth in the pastures and on the lawns at the farm. There still is fair grazing for live stock, especially in the openings in woodland pastures.

Odd Jobs Started.

Workers are starting the odd jobs of winter. One crew is building fence. The ground has not been frozen hard; fence post holes can be dug easily.

The hum of the old sawmill soon will be heard. The manager expects to start sawing rails before Christmas. A few logs cut down last winter are ready to be snaked up to the mill and made into rails. The logs will be sawed into rails 4 by 4 inches, 12 and 14 feet long. Only the dead trees are cut. Most of them are oaks.

'BENEFICIAL' USE OF AUTO PATENT RIGHTS LAUDED

Ford, Other Makers, Praised at Quiz.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—Two presidents of companies widely known in the motor industry, Edsel Ford of the Ford Motor company, and Alvan Macauley of Packard Motor company, testified today before the joint committee investigating monopolies. The testimony concerned use of patents obtained by the companies on automotive devices.

Ford said it was the policy of his company to permit other manufacturers to make Ford patented devices without restriction or payment of royalties. Macauley said his company charged royalties but that the average yearly income from these royalties, about $125,000, was a comparatively insignificant item.

Edsel Ford (left), president of Ford Motor company, and Alvan Macauley, president of Packard Motor company, were in high good humor at the monopoly hearing.

Don't Join in Cross Licensing.

The Ford and Packard companies are the two main companies which do not participate in the so-called "cross licensing agreement" signed by the thirty-four manufacturers who make up the Automobile Manufacturers association. The thirty-four companies have had an agreement since 1915 to share with each other all patents obtained by them. The agreement was last renewed in 1935 for a five year term. It does not now include the pooling of new patents as it did formerly, but applies only to those patents obtained prior to 1930.

Comment on the three systems of dealing with patents—the Ford, Packard, and Automobile Manufacturers association plans—was made by Committee Chairman Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.].

All Three Plans Lauded.

"The Ford system seems the most generous," he said, "but it appears from the evidence that all three systems have worked for the improvemnt of trade and there has been no restraint of competition. The patent policies of the motor manufacturers have been beneficially used."

It is reported to be the intention of the committee to present the automobile industry as a shining example of how a business may prosper through the exchange of patented processes and to contrast it with other industries in which patents have been closely guarded to provide a monopoly of the business by a few.

Tells What Might Have Been.

But Henry Ford, Edsel's father and founded of the company, might have been a victim of a patent monopoly, the younger Ford told the committee.

The elder Ford was barred from the association of manufacturers in 1903, Edsel Ford told the committee, when he applied for membership.

"My father applied for membership in the association in 1903," Ford testified. "That was the year his business was founded. He was told to go out and establish a reputation as a builder of automobiles before he sought membership; to prove he wasn't a fly-by-night manufacturer."

Selden Patent Issue Told.

The motor group then controled the Selden patent on internal combustion motors. Ford went ahead anyway and was then sued by the group for infringement of the patent. The suit required eight years to settle and Ford finally got a ruling that, although the patent was vadid, it had not been infringed because it was on a two-cycle engine whereas motor car engines were four-cycle.

"If patent infringement had been found, it would have been difficult for your father to do any manufacturing of automobiles?" inquired Hugh Cox, special assistant to the attorney general.

"The company would have been forced out of business," replied Ford, who paid close attention to a mechanical stenographic device used in taking a report of his testimony.

"Dedicated to Public."

Inventions developed and patented by the Ford company are "dedicated to public service" without fee or restriction, Ford told the committee. Permission for use of such patented processes is freely given to anybody desiring to make actual use of them, he added. "Our purpose in taking out patents is to protect ourselves," he said.

Macauley testified that the Packard company did not join the manufacturers' association and its crosslicensing agreement because the company owned patents of considerable value at the time.

Eastern Rails May Restore Low Fares to Gain Revenue

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Railroad circles heard today that managements of eastern roads have considered a voluntary cut in passenger fares, now 2½ cents a mile in coaches, and may establish a new tarif early in 1939.

Sentiment in favor of a permanent slash in passenger rates was reported to have manifested itself when trafic executives of the major systems took up the question of reduced rates for the New York World's Fair opening next spring. It also expressed itself, according to some rail executives, when the roads more recently decided to reduce fares to 2 cents a mile on round trip tickets for Christmas holiday travelers.

Roads Study Lower Fares.

That the roads have given some thought to a cheaper fare was confirmed by an official of a leading eastern trunk line, who said: "It is in the wind, but nothing has been decided yet and probably will not be until after the first of the year, or possibly until after the World's Fair is in progress."

Informed sources expressed the opinion that if anything came of the discussion it probably would mean reestablishment of the 2 cent a mile tarif in effect prior to July 25. On that date the fare was boosted to 2½ cents under authority granted by the interstate commerce commission. With the increase passenger travel in eastern railroads suffered a slump, while bus travel was reported to have shown corresponding expansion.

November Revenue Slumps.

Both railroad passenger travel and revenue for November revealed one of the sharpest decreases of any recent month.

Two years ago the commerce commission ordered the railroads to cut the passenger coach rate to 2 cents a mile from the 3.6 cents a mile rate which the roads were allowed by law after the end of war time control.

Only eastern carriers were affected by this ruling, however, inasmuch as roads in western and southwestern territory early in the 1930's had voluntarily reduced rates to levels within the commerce commission requirement and even lower in some cases.

Bell System Calls Federal Report Untrue

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—(AP)—The communications commission received a protest from the Bell System Telephone companies today that the commission's proposed report to congress on the industry was "incorrect and incomplete."

The proposed report was written by Commissioner Paul A. Walker after fifteen months of hearings.

The telephone companies, affiliated with the American Telephone and Telegraph company, declared their requests to cross-examine commission witnesses and to submit their own witnesses had been denied.

Walker contended, among other things, that inventions had been suppressed and installation of improved equipment delayed.

Charge Is Denied.

"Useful inventions are not 'suppressed,'" the companies replied. "Selfish interests induce the patent owner to put the device on the market. In the very nature of things, unused inventions are for the most part the discards—the outmoded or second rate things."

Defending its purchases of equipment from Western Electric company, an affiliate, a policy which was criticized in the proposed report, the Bell system said:

"Western Electric assumes the responsibility of meeting the maximum demands for equipment required in periods of rapid plant expansion of the telephone system. No monetary value can be set upon the service Western renders to the telephone companies when great emergencies make it necessary immediately to rush vast supplies of material to stricken areas."

Tells Stand on Legislation.

Replying to charges of lobbying and of employing some legislators as its attorneys, the system said it had no objection to legislation requiring that all legislative agents be registered.

"The investigators [for the commission] found, during years past, instances in which lawyers had been retained who, during part or all of the period of their retainers, occupied legislative positions," the statement said. "These instances were of insignificant number and all occurred in sections of the country in which the leading members of the bar are frequently, indeed normally, found in public service."

The companies' brief said Walker's contention that telephone rates could be reduced 20 to 25 per cent by elimination of "unnecessarily high costs" was "merely absurd."

CHICAGO BUTTER PRICE DIPS WHEN FEDERAL AGENCY BEGINS SALES

Butter prices in the Chicago cash wholesale market declined ½ cent a pound yesterday. The drop occurred after word had been received that the government financed Dairy Products Marketing association had unloaded the first batch of its stock of nearly 100 million pounds of butter into commercial channels on the west coast.

The DPMA over the week-end sold one car [19,200 pounds] in Portland, Ore., and two cars in San Francisco, Cal. The butter sold was of mixed grades, at base quotations of 31 cents a pound for 92 score [top grade] in San Francisco and 30 cents a pound in Portland. Prices on the west coast are somewhat above those in Chicago, where 92 score butter sold yesterday at 28¾ cents, off ½ cent for the day.

Although the shortage of commercially held butter in Chicago has not yet become acute enough to bring prices up to the DPMA asking levels here, these levels place a ceiling over the butter market. The association, which has spent more than $30,000,000 of government money since last June to peg butter prices, now holds 54,000,000 pounds of butter in Chicago. This is almost one-third of all the butter in storage in the country.

POLITICAL USE OF STEEL WAGE RULE CHARGED

New York, Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Charges that the administration at Washington "played politics" with the public contract board's recent report setting minimum wages for the steel industry were made today. Robert B. Thomas, counsel for a group of small steel producing companies, made the charge. He said the small companies may be ruined by enforcement of the order. The wage rates involved apply to steel which is made under government contract.

"Circumstances support the suspicion that political considerations have played a part in this matter," said Thomas. "A summary of the report was released just before the recent election. Nothing but a press release was available to the companies affected by the report."

1,885 Get Loans from U. S. in Year to Buy Own Farms

PROFIT SHARING WITNESSES HIT U. S. TAX POLICY

Levies on 'Striking' Are Advocated.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—(AP)—The government's tax policies drew fire from two witnesses who appeared today before the senate committee which is studying industrial profit sharing.

C. W. Hazelett, president of the Hazelett Metal company of New York, said "unsound tax laws" had been enacted in recent years. He called for a novel system under which high levies would be assessed against persons responsible for strikes by labor or by capital. This, he said, would lead to a high rate of production and of reëmployment.

L. M. Giannini, president of the Bank of America, San Francisco, Cal., appeared before the committee to tell of a profit sharing plan operating in his institution. He told reporters after the hearing that federal tax policies offered a "psychological handicap" to the expansion of business. He urged revision of the tax structure to promote individual initiative.

Urges Lower Tax Rates.

Hazelett urged that tax rates be reduced on all firms which maintain a high rate of employment of their productive facilities. He advised the government to tax in such a way as "to discourage withholding from the people the fruits of production and the stoppage by anybody or any class of the machinery of production." The idea, he said, was to make it "too expensive" for business to remain idle.

"All of the productive facilities of the country then will be made available," he contended. "Jobs will be immediately available to all and relief for the competent can be entirely abandoned.

"If labor is made idle by a strike, those responsible for the strike would have to support those made idle. In any case the responsibility for supporting idle people is upon those who make them idle, and labor would have no fear of the lack of a job or support. It would be too expensive for either labor or capital to strike."

Doubts Tax Cuts Soon.

Giannini told reporters he saw little chance of early tax reduction.

"We've got to have enough taxes to balance the budget," he declared. "There is no use talking about reducing taxes with the present problems of government financing confronting us."

Giannini said he believed some tax credit should be given to business firms which share their profits with employés or set aside a portion of them for plant expansion. He said he believed that present high tax rates killed individual initiative, particularly in the high income brackets.

Earlier, Joseph M. Friedlander, Chicago, treasurer of the Jewel Tea company, told the committee his firm had turned a loss ranging as high as $2,000,000 a year into profits averaging about $1,000,000 a year after it began sharing profits.

Good Investment, He Says.

Friedlander said he believed his company's payment of $2,179,000 in profit sharing and $459,125 in extra wages during the last ten years had been "a good business investment."

On the other hand, Henry S. Dennison, president of the Dennison Manufacturing company, Framingham, Mass., testified his company had had a form of profit sharing since 1911, but that the system "discontinued itself" in 1930 because the company went "into the red."

Dennison warned against generalization about the benefits of profit sharing, saying a plan which worked for one company might fail for another.

ASSERTS PUBLIC WILL INSIST GOVERNMENT BE MORE EFFICIENT

New York, Dec. 5.—[Special.]—A public demand for more efficiency in government was heralded today by Charles R. Hook, chairman of the National Industrial council and president of the National Association of Manufacturers. He spoke at a "prelude" to the opening of the Congress of American Industry.

Hook reported a "very definite trend" toward sounder thinking on the part of the public.

"We find an indication that the public is beginning to realize the problems of business and to sympathize with business," Hook said. "This may well be the beginning of a public demand for a change in attitude and more efficiency on the part of government."

Recognition of the transportation problems of the nation's railroads and other carriers as being of vital importance to businesses and shippers as well as to the managements of the carriers was emphasized by F. N. Bard of Chicago.

"The railroad's baby—the transportation problem—has now become the nation's orphan," Bard said. "The effect upon industry and commerce of the policies they may establish or may be forced to accept is so great that the business men of the country must help form these policies."

FULL DEDUCTION ON LIQUIDATION LOSS OVERRULED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—The Supreme court today upheld a ruling of the internal revenue bureau applying to cases in which corporations dissolve, paying a small liquidating dividend to preferred stockholders. The court held that in such cases losses on preferred stock must be treated as capital net losses deductible to the extent of only 12½ per cent under the revenue act of 1928. Justices McReynolds, Butler, and Roberts dissented.

The estate of William A. and Alexander M. White of New York and Oyster Bay, N. Y., argued that losses on preferred were deductible in full.

The Armstrong Paint and Varnish works of Chicago lost in Supreme court the right to use the trade phrase "Nu-Beauty Enamel" for its product. The Nu-Enamel corporation of Chicago was the complainant.

New Roosevelt Monetary Committee Holds Meeting

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Members of President Roosevelt's new fiscal and monetary committee met today, but declined afterward to say what was considered. The committee includes Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., Chairman Marriner Eccles of the federal reserve board, and Chairman Frederic A. Delano of the national resources committee.

UTILITY ASKS TO SELL PROPERTY TO PUBLIC UNITS IN NEBRASKA

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Nebraska's second largest utility, the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company of Lincoln, Neb., today asked the federal power commission to approve the sale of its Nebraska power properties. It proposes to sell the properties for $20,195,991 to the Loup River and Central Nebraska Public Power districts. These districts are two of Nebraska's three big hydro-electric projects. They propose to buy up private utilities in the state and form them into a state-wide publicly owned power system.

Under terms of a contract filed in Washington, D. C., with the application, the Loup River district would pay $2,825,879 for the company's electric properties north of the Platte river. The Central Nebraska district would pay $17,370,112 for the properties south of the Platte. Included are two steam generating stations at Lincoln and one at Norfolk, 1,344 miles of transmission lines, substations and distribution systems serving 43,000 customers in 108 eastern Nebraska communities.

The application said the company has $12,000,000 of bonds outstanding and that all its common stock is owned by the Continental Gas and Electric corporation. The purchase will be for cash, with the price based "principally on the earning power of the facilities."

ASSAILS HIDDEN SUBSIDIES, RATE METHOD OF TVA

Dr. Morgan Says Unit Runs at Deficit.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority, combined criticism of the TVA today with an appeal that it be saved by adoption of "open and above board methods."

Dr. A. E. Morgan.

After criticising rate-making methods and asserting the authority had benefitted from many concealed subsidies, Dr. Morgan told a congressional investigating committee that he regards the TVA an important adventure in government.

Some of Morgan's Criticisms.

Among his critical contentions were these:

1. That the TVA will operate at an annual deficit of $3,156,852, if present power rates are maintained, when all seven existing and proposed power dams are in service.

2. Instead of a reported profit of $300,000 on operations in Mississippi for the three years ended June 30, 1938, 11 communities of that state which are buying TVA power suffered a loss of $167,237.

3. That by "pressure salesmanship" which had "gone beyond propriety," the TVA had sold farmers in the area more power and electrical appliances than they could afford.

Actual Rates Are Raised.

4. That special charges for electricity raised the actual rate to consumers beyond the TVA's published rate. These he listed as a development surchargeto industrial and commercial users and an amortization charge of 1 cent a kilowatt hour. The development surcharge amounted to a "subsidy" to residential consumers, he said.

5. That whereas the TVA officials has testified that the authority paid prevailing wages, actually wages in certain communities of the area were

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 5.—Stocks closed lower today in one of the slowest sessions in nearly three months. Moderate support in late dealings enabled many key issues to rally from their lowest levels, and few closed with small gains. Of 770 issues traded, 423 declined, 159 advanced, and 188 closed unchanged.

Selling for income tax purposes was said to have accounted largely for the easier trend. Observers said neither foreign news nor the forecast of a decline in steel operations had any important influence on price movements.

Among the leading steel shares joining in the late rally were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Crucible, and National. They converted early losses to gains ranging from fractions to 1¼ points in Bethlehem.

Most motors closed lower. Chrysler, General Motors, Greyhound, and Yellow Truck slipped fractionally. Continental, ⅛ lower, at 2⅞, was the most active issue of the board.

Aviations were among the leaders in the late upturn.

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—United States government obligations tilted upward in the bond market today as the treasury made public the detailed terms of its December financing. Currently outstanding treasury obligations closed 6-32ds of a point higher to 6-32ds lower today, but gains were in the majority.

Corporate issues, however, failed to follow the lead of the federals. Rail and utility bonds, as groups, tended lower, with trading favorites down fractions to 1 or more. Industrials held about even, as did foreign dollar loans.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks closed irregular yesterday on a turnover of 24,000 shares, compared with 28,000 last Friday. In addition, 57,000 Commonwealth Edison rights were sold. The rights closed off 1 cent at 14 cents.

Most volume leaders closed lower. Commonwealth Edison stock slipped ⅛ to 26¼, and Borg-Warner closed off ⅜ at 29⅞. Marshall Field finished at 12, off ¼. Central and South West was off ⅛ at 1⅝.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago Title and Trust shares lost $3 on the bid price yesterday in light trading, dealers reported. Leading bank stocks dropped from $1 to $2. City National shares closed $1 lower at $105 bid, $109 asked; American National stock was $2 lower at $208 bid, $215 asked.

COTTON

General liquidation developed in American cotton markets early yesterday. October sold at new seasonal low levels. Weakness in Liverpool affected sentiment. Houses with Bombay connections were aggressive on the selling side. Brokers said these sales represented closing of spreads between the New York and Indian markets.

Spot cotton closed .08 cent higher to .02 cent lower with New York, 8.60 cents; New Orleans, 8.35 cents; Houston, 8.21 cents, and Galveston 8.17 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Commodities

Commodities futures prices slumped yesterday in most lines. Closing at losses were copper, tin, zinc, rubber, coffee, cocoa, and silk contracts. Lead and wool tops wavered irregularly and hides made a small gain against the trend.

Composite indices for futures and cash staples prices indicated the extent of the drop. The Dow-Jones index of eleven commodity futures dipped 0.74, the largest decline in weeks, to finish at 47.15. [1924-'26 average is 100.]

A drop of 0.10 cent a pound in the spot price of export copper to 10.22 cents sent copper futures 0.12 cent lower. Domestic copper in the cash market held unchanged at 11.25 cents, or more than 1 cent higher than the export quotation. Many traders predicted a markdown in the domestic price soon.

Other nonferrous metals were unchanged in spot markets. Zinc futures dipped 0.05 to 0.09 cent a pound, however, and tin contracts lost up to 0.35 cent. Final prices for lead were 0.02 cent higher to 0.01 cent lower.

Rubber futures finished off 0.05 to 0.10 cent a pound. The spot price of smoked ribbed rubber sheets slipped 0.07 to 16.80 cents a pound.

Coffee futures dipped under active selling from European interests. Some Brazilian buying late in the day reduced early losses.

SUGAR SLUMPS WHEN WALLACE BOOSTS QUOTA

Prices Decline Maximum Permitted for Day.

New York, Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Domestic sugar futures slumped 25 points [¼ cent] a pound, the maximum decline allowed in one day's trading, at the opening on the New York Coffee and Sugar exchange today. The break was attributed to the 6,832,157 short ton sugar production quota for 1939 announced by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace over the week-end.

The limit drop, the first since Sept. 2, 1937, when the new sugar act was signed by President Roosevelt and a quota of more than 7,000,000 tons was announced by Secretary Wallace, was attended by the heaviest trading in a long period.

The wave of liquidation was led by producing houses, banking interests, and operators. Stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down. Refiners, Cuban interests, and trade houses covered as prices declined.

Active Futures Break Sharply.

The ¼ cent break in the active positions—January and March—carried the distant positions down 15 to 20 points at the start. The covering movement continued after the call, and the near positions recovered about 10 points of their maximum loss.

Average forecasts were for a quota of about 6,650,000 tons, with the low guess 6,338,000 and the high 6,755,000. The 1939 total is slightly less than the initial 1938 quota of 6,861,761 tons, but compares with the revised figure of 6,780,566.

Because of the revision made by Secretary Wallace in this year's quota, the sugar trade had believed that the administration was adopting a more friendly attitude toward the industry and would set the figure somewhere around the indicated consumption total. This for 1938 will not greatly exceed 6,500,000 tons.

Regard Quota Too High.

Allowing even for an improvement in consumption, the trade believes the new figure is at least 150,000 tons larger than expected distribution without allowance for the situation in the beet producing areas, where quotas are established at about 350,000 tons more than the best distribution on record for those areas.

Observers expect Washington to be flooded with protests seeking changes in the sugar act.

NEW FINANCING BY TREASURY IS OVERSUBSCRIBED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said tonight that the treasury's Dec. 15 borrowing operation was "well received" by investors, who quickly oversubscribed the issue on its first day.

Morgenthau said subscriptions were sufficient to permit him to close at midnight the offering of $400,000,000 of twenty-two to twenty-seven year 2¾ treasury bonds and $300,000,000 of five year 1⅛ treasury notes.

The secretary also announced the cost of short term borrowing dropped slightly in today's weekly sale of $100,000,000 of ninety-one day treasury bills. The average price on accepted bids was 99.996, equivalent to borrowing at 0.017 per cent, compared with last week's average of 99.995, which was equal to 0.021 per cent.

Morgenthau told reporters he had received a confidential memorandum from Chairman Eccles of the reserve board relating to banking legislation. The secretary said any action will await the return of President Roosevelt. He told questioners no progress has been made by the treasury on a final tax program.

COAL COMPANIES ASSAIL ILLINOIS PRICE SCHEDULE

Renewed attacks were made yesterday on the Illinois coal price schedule set up by district board No. 10 [Illinois] under the Guffey-Vinson coal act. The protests are being heard by the full membership of the national bituminous coal commission, which administers the act, at the Morrison hotel.

Representatives and attorneys for several Illinois coal companies yesterday indicated that they would ask that the present price schedule, which sets up minimum prices at the mines, be thrown out and a new schedule drawn. Included among these were W. Y. Wildman, representing the deep shaft mines in the southern part of the state, and Attorneys George T. Evans, William H. Cooke, and Hubert E. Howard, representing mines in the Peoria-Fulton district.

The minimum prices set up under the schedule are supposed to represent the minimum amount which the coal can be reduced without loss.

J. A. HILL NAMED NEW PRESIDENT OF ILLINOIS ZINC

James A. Hill, New York, yesterday was elected president of the Illinois Zinc company by the directors following a meeting of stockholders earlier. He succeeds L. E. Wemple, who was president for about fifteen years. Hill has had long experience in mining.

The stockholders elected several new directors, including J. Ford Johnson, New York, with Smith, Barney & Co., Francis M. Barker, Baltimore, and LeRoy E. Nelson, a vice president, Chicago. W. B. Porter, who also was elected a director, joined the company recently as vice president and general manager.

Associated Gas & Electric Data Is Ordered by SEC

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission today ordered the Associated Gas and Electric company to submit detailed information about its investments and those of its subsidiaries.

Old 'El,' New York Landmark, Sold to Wrecker for $80,000

New York, Dec. 5.—[Special.]—The 6th avenue elevated line, for sixty years a New York landmark, today was sold at auction to a wrecking company. At midnight last night the last train passed over the system.

Long a center of contention, the old line was auctioned off in a picturesque transaction on the steps of the city hall. The buyer, who bid $80,000, was George L. Weissbaum of the Portland Mill Wrecking company, San Francisco, Cal. The sale is subject to final approval of the city board of estimate.

The history of the 6th avenue "el" begins in post-civil war times. Then the line, with its smoking, wood burning locomotives, was a wonder of the city.

This is the type of steam engine used by Chicago elevated lines before they were electrified.

Work Begun in 1876.

The plan for the line was originated by Dr. Rufus H. Gilbert, an inventor. He obtained a charter from the legislature in 1872, but in the panic of 1873 he was shunted out of the venture. Work on the project started in 1876, but was soon halted, for months, by injunctions obtained by incensed 6th avenue property owners. They feared their homes would be crushed under locomotives and cars which they thought would tumble from the high structure.

Lurid posters, prepared by the line's opponents, fostered this belief. In violent colors they portrayed trains plunging to the streets, locomotives belching smoke into windows, and pedestrians being showered with sparks and ashes.

However, by 1878, as the Metropolitan Elevated Railway company, the line was in operation.

Court Approves Condemnation.

Property owners never were reconciled to the overhead structure. Agitation against it began again when subway construction started. Last Wednesday the state Supreme court approved an application by the city for authority to condemn the line. The buyer must tear down the line within ninety days. Its scrap value is estimated at $300,000.

Today employés of the line protested the loss of jobs from the line's demolition. They announced that they will picket the city hall in an effort to force the board of estimate to take some action in their behalf. About 600 workers were affected.

Unemployment Taxes.

The relationship between the federal unemployment compensation pay roll tax and the state unemployment compensation tax is as follows:

The federal tax, like the state contribution, is collected from employers of eight or more persons. However, it is levied without regard to state lines. If they also pay into a state fund, employers liable will receive a credit up to 90 per cent of their federal tax. Employers must pay the state taxes prior to the Jan. 31 due date for filing the federal return.

The contribution to the Illinois state fund equals 90 per cent of the federal tax. All employers who make their 1938 payments to the state by Jan. 1, 1939, will receive a credit up to 90 per cent of the federal tax.

Under this arrangement the actual federal tax will be one-tenth of the nominal federal tax, or three-tenths of 1 per cent of wages paid. The contribution levied by the state is 2.7 per cent. Thus the total unemployment tax contribution will be 3 per cent of total wages payable in a quarter.

This is the same amount that employers of eight or more persons would have to pay to the federal government if there were no state unemployment compensation program.

PRICES OF LIVE STOCK SLUMP AS STRIKE IS ENDED

Prices of meat animals at the Chicago stockyards slumped yesterday as the strike of live stock handlers ended. Receipts in the open market were light for a Monday. However, packers received large numbers of direct shipments that had been contracted for late last week, and they were in no position to buy normally. Consequently demand was light.

There was a deluge of fresh cuts of meat from outside packing centers, especially from smaller country packing houses. The latter during the strike at Chicago received an overflow of stock that their storage plants could not handle. This surplus meat was dumped on the markets here.

Hog prices dipped unevenly 10 to 35 cents below the quotations of Wednesday of last week, the last time that sufficient sales were made in the open market to justify quotations.

STEEL OUTPUT SAGS TO 59.9 PCT. FOR THIS WEEK

Steel ingot production this week will decline slightly from last week's output, it was estimated yesterday by the American Iron and Steel institute.

The nation's ingot mills will operate at 59.9 per cent of their theoretical capacity, according to the institute's estimate. This is a decline of 0.8 per cent from last week's schedule of 60.7 per cent.

A month ago the estimated rate was 60 per cent. A year ago the rate was 27.5 per cent.

ASKS INSURANCE OFFICIALS FREE FROM POLITICS

Van Schaick Addresses State Commissioners.

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—Removal of state insurance commissioners from politics was advocated here today by George S. Van Schaick, former New York insurance commissioner. He addressed the opening session of the winter meeting of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

Van Schaick, now vice president of the New York Life Insurance company, pointed out that since he resigned as New York commissioner three years ago the commissioners of thirty-one states have been changed.

"It is high time that this situation should be called to the appointing powers of the state," he said. "No commissioner can work at his highest efficiency as long as there is the present shifting tenure."

Urges Retaining Competent Men.

"Competent men should be retained in office," Van Schaick told the approximately 450 commissioners and insurance executives present. "The position is one which requires great ability and technical knowledge, and this continual changing of commissioners is a hindrance to proper handling of the work."

The New York executive advised all insurance companies to practice self-regulation and self-supervision "if they wish to avoid" further supervision by the federal government.

The only other speaker on the morning program was Frank N. Julian, president of the national association.

"The basis principle of American democracy is local self-government," he said in discussing the comparative value of local and national government.

Raps Government Competition.

"In the analysis of the crushing of all competition by centralized government dictation it seems there are what we might call the disastrous five C's—cut rates, confiscation, coercion, corruption, and collapse.

"Without the principle of competition and profit in our republic we all would be reduced to a common level and denied incentive or opportunity for doing our best. If the system of profit and competition be not allowed workmen will be without opportunities that have always been open to them, and government itself would not have the necessary tax funds to carry on its legislative functions."

CELLULOSE FILM PRICE IS REDUCED BY DU PONT UNIT

The cellophane division of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., yesterday announced a price reduction on cellophane cellulose film. Company officials said this was the nineteenth such reduction made since domestic manufacture was started in 1924. They said it was made possible by economies arising from increased usage of cellophane in several new channels, including wrappings for biscuits, frozen foods, and cheese.

Several companies announced the price of cellulose acetate, an important material for plastics, has been reduced 4 cents a pound to 36 cents. The tri-acetate price has been cut 8 cents a pound to 42 cents. Important producers of cellulose acetate are the Tennessee Eastman corporation, the Celanese corporation, and the Hercules Powder company.

Reorganization of Pacific Mutual Life Is Held Legal

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—The reorganization of the $200,000,000 Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company of California was upheld today by the United States Supreme court. The decision was on an appeal of William H. Neblett, Los Angeles attorney, and three other policy holders, who had contended their contractual rights were impaired.

BEG YOUR PARDON

A note which appeared in yesterday's stock price chart said that the "Closing average on Nov. 28, 1938, was the lowest since Oct. 8, 1937." It should have said that it was the lowest since Oct. 4, 1938.

ASSAILS HIDDEN SUBSIDIES, RATE METHOD OF TVA

Dr. Morgan Says Unit Runs at Deficit.

"about the lowest in America in that field."

6. That while contending it lost large sums in litigation, the TVA showed a preference for "disruption and conflict."

7. That in fixing its rates, TVA did not charge to operating expense an adequate amount of administrative expense, expense of water control operations, contributions of other federal agencies such as PWA loans and allotments from the rural electrification administration, or interest on its working capital fund.

8. That the TVA donated a variety of "nursing services" to the so-called "yardstick" communities while the public was being told that the electrical distribution plants of these communities were paying their own way. Among these he listed valuation and appraisal estimates for building distribution systems, house-to-house canvasses to stimulate sales of energy, and various services by the legal division to local distribution associations.

Tells Faulty Estimate.

After Dr. Morgan completed his testimony the committee heard from one of the TVA's engineers that it would cost $100,000,000 more than it is contemplated to spend on the TVA development to insure complete flood protection for the Tennessee valley.

The estimate was made by Sherman M. Woodward, chief of the TVA water control division, during questioning by Representative Charles A. Wolverton [R., N. J]. Woodward previously had testified that approximately $99,000,000 of the $407,000,000 which the TVA development is expected to cost had been allocated to flood control.

"So congress has not been apprised within $100,000,000 of the ultimate cost of flood control in the valley," commented Wolverton.

Sales to TVA Approved.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—[Special.]—The federal power commission today issued an order authorizing the sale to the Tennessee Valley authority of Kentucky-Tennessee Light and Power company at Bowling Green, Ky., and certain of its electric facilities in Lake, Obion, Dyer, Weakley, Gibson, and Henry counties.

Part of the company's application relating to the sale of certain facilities to the city of Paris and the county of Weakley, Tenn., was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction on a finding that the facilities involved are solely local distribution facilities.

The company's estimate of the actual original cost of the electric facilities to be sold to TVA, Paris and Weakley county is $1,448,342.95. The Tennessee Valley authority is to pay $540,200 in cash, plus other considerations; the city of Paris is to pay $142,000 in cash, plus other considerations, and reassume the obligations of the company on bonds in the principal amount of $375,000; and Weakley county is to pay $199,800 in cash.

GRAINS HIGHER; TRADERS FEAR EVENTS ABROAD

Covering by Shorts Also Is Price Influence.

Grain prices in North American markets turned upward yesterday. Short covering induced by lack of pressure on cash grain and uneasiness regarding the European political situation were responsible for the advance. Closing trades on wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at gains of ¾ to 1⅛ cents. Corn was ⅝ to 1 cent a bushel higher.

A downward revision in estimates on the prospective Argentine wheat crop had some effect on the market. Thomson & McKinnon received a Buenos Aires report placing the yield at 255,000,000 bushels. This was 45,000,000 bushels less than previous estimates. Last year's crop aggregated 185,000,000 bushels.

Argentine Exports Estimated.

The Argentine information bureau reported that it had been advised by cable that Argentina will have an exportable surplus of 5,500,000 tons of wheat this season as compared to the 2,000,000 tons of old wheat exported during 1938 without a carryover.

Reports of dry weather continue to be received from a large part of the American winter wheat belt east of the Rocky mountains. The winter wheat acreage for the crop to be harvested next summer is estimated by James E. Bennett & Co., at 46,942,000 acres, or 81.9 per cent of the 57,316,000 acres seeded in the fall of 1937 for the harvest in 1938. The report said the winter wheat crop is seriously threatened by the prolonged drouth, which has prevailed since early in September.

Corn Has Strong Undertone.

The corn market showed a strong undertone yesterday. Reports of a fairly active export demand and limited receipts had much influence on sentiment. Chicago handlers reported numerous inquiries in the market for cash corn for all rail shipment to Atlantic ports. Some grain also was sold for rail shipment from Canadian Lake Erie ports.

Receipts of cash corn at Chicago yesterday were 140,000 bushels, or less than 25 per cent of normal for the season. Farmers sold only 10,000 bushels for deferred shipment from the country.

GROUP ATTACKS PATHE FILM PLAN OF DISSOLUTION

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Officers and directors of the Pathe Film corporation were charged with "malice, avarice and greed" today by counsel for fifteen stockholders attempting to prevent a stockholders' meeting on Dec. 15 to dissolve the company.

Supreme Court Justice Philip J. McCook reserved decision on the application of the fifteen stockholders for a restraining order against the officials and others. Louis Nizer, defense lawyer, pointed out that the suing stockholders own only 2,445 shares of Pathe stock, whereas more than 90 per cent of the stockholders have agreed to the proposed plan of dissolution.

When Edward C. Weinrib, counsel for the plaintifs, argued that the majority stockholders did not understand the plan for which they had given proxies, Justice McCook asked, "what can this court do for morons and dummies?" The plaintifs charged that the defendants intended forming a new corporation, taking the Pathe assets at an unduly low price and making no cash distribution to common stockholders.

Photographs from talking picture that is part of accident prevention training at Northwestern university trafic institute. They show four types of driving errors responsible for large portion of street fatalities and therefore worthy of special attention by police officers. 1. Failure to give right of way to vehicle approaching an intersection from the offender's right. 2. Riding astride a lane marker or crossing center lane of broad pavement. 3. Turning from wrong lane, or right turn from center of street or left turn from near the curb. 4. Turning without a preliminary warning signal to driver close behind.
